Univ.
H

Harvard College

Class of 1887

Secretary's Report No. 6

Digitized by the Internet Archive in 2008 with funding from Microsoft Corporation

http://www.archive.org/details/n6secretarysre1887harvuoft

1887 AND 1888 GATES.

Harvard College

Class of 1887

Secretary's Report No. 6

1907

3488 36
5. 4. 38.

BURLINGTON:
FREE PRESS PRINTING CO.,
PRINTERS, BINDERS, STATIONERS.
1907

Class Committee

EDGAR JUDSON RICH,
WILLIAM ENDICOTT, JR.
FRED SUMNER MEAD,
WALTER ALEXANDER,
*JOHN LINZEE SNELLING,
(Died January 11, 1907).
CARL AUGUST de GERSDORFF,
(Elected April 24, 1907).

Class Secretary

GEORGE POPE FURBER.

CONTENTS

Points Suggested for this Report 5
Class Fund 6
Trial Balance 7
Class of 1887 8
Record of the Class 13
Temporary Members 131
Marriages, Births and Deaths:—
Marriages 147
Births 152
Deaths 160
Occupations 162
Geographical Distribution 164
Class Meetings 166
Class Meeting and Dinner 167
Class Dinner of '87 172
Quindecennial 173
Addresses 178

PREFACE

CLASSMATES:—

I submit herewith my sixth report. I have endeavored to make it in the main a record of the past five years and so far as possible, to put it in your own words. Not only has it been much easier for me to follow this course, but I am more firmly convinced than ever that in this form the report is far more interesting to all. Let me thank each and all of you who followed my request in this matter, for the great assistance you have rendered me in preparing this report.

I regret that I have been wholly unable to get any word from several of the class. In some cases I have no address at all, in others I am afraid my addresses are incorrect. If any of the class can supply a better address in any case or give me any information to fill the gaps in the report, I shall be greatly obliged.

One of the greatest pleasures that the Secretary has in the preparation of these reports comes from the expressions of good will and personal interest which so many have added to their communications. I wish that my time would permit a personal acknowledgment to each of you. The pleasure you have given me much more than compensates for the labor involved.

It has been my painful duty to report to you with sad frequency losses from our number. Eighty-seven seems to have been unusually unfortunate in the past five years, not only in the number but also in the prominence of the men we have lost. Carmalt, Davis, J. W. Dudley, Heckscher, Hervey, Kestner, Linn, Pearl, Snelling, Whistler, will never again gather with us at our reunions. Their loss is deeply felt by all.

Fraternally yours,

GEO. P. FURBER,
Class Secretary.

Concord, Mass., June 3, 1907.

POINTS SUGGESTED FOR THIS REPORT.

1. Residence and occupation since last reported, giving the dates and places of entering business, name of firms or partners, etc.
2. If married, date of marriage and place, together with maiden name of wife in full, her residence, and the names of her parents in full.
3. Names of children, if any, in full, with the dates and places of birth.
4. Death of wife or children, with dates.
5. Membership in clubs or societies.
6. What part, if any, taken in politics.
7. Offices of profit, honor or trust, you have filled, with the times of appointments and continuance.
8. Degrees attained, and from what institutions.
9. Books, pamphlets or articles published, with the exact titles and dates, and the places of publication.
10. Addresses before public meetings.
11. Journeys in this or other countries.
12. Your permanent address, i. e., the address to which communications may be sent with the certainty of being forwarded in case of unexpected change in residence.
13. Any other circumstances or experiences which would interest the class.

CLASS FUND.

Nominally the Class Fund is about $7,000, but $1,218 has never been paid in. The Fund is therefore in round numbers $5,800. The Secretary is pleased to report that the American Loan & Trust Co. Debentures have been disposed of and that account settled with no loss to the class except in interest. Two thousand dollars of the Fund is in Lake Shore & Michigan Southern Ry. 4 per cent. Debentures; the balance is deposited in Boston Savings Banks. The income for the five years is $961.57, to which can be added $299.71, the balance of income of previous years after paying for the Fifth Report. The expenses for commencement, printing, postage, etc., have been $499.88. The balance of income, therefore, available for the Twentieth Anniversary is $761.40.

The following is the trial balance:

TRIAL BALANCE.

May 31, 1907.

		Dr.	Cr.
Class Fund			$7009.07
College Fund			75.00
Income			1496.06
Unpaid subscriptions to Class Fund		$1218.00
Unpaid subscriptions to College Fund		45.00
Class Report V.		170.99
Class Report VI.		38.84
Commencement Expenses 1903		48.76
Commencement Expenses 1904		40.43
Commencement Expenses 1905		89.72
Commencement Expenses 1906		91.19
Expense:
	Postage Class Photo. 1902	$ 14.25
	Band Yale Game	6.00
	87's share Yard Fence	5.00
	Telegrams	2.88
	Postage, Printing, etc.	162.81	190.94
Franklin Savings Bank		631.34
Roxbury Inst'n for Savings		1360.69
L. S. & M. S. 4's		2000.00
Suffolk Sav'gs. Bank		1378.82
Five Cents Sav'gs Bank		1225.33
Cash		50.08
		$8580.13	$8580.13

CLASS OF 1887.

An asterisk * is used to indicate deceased members.

Abbot, Edward Stanley
Alexander, Walter
Allison, James Ekin
Ames, John Lincoln
Appleton, Randolph Morgan
Appleton, William Channing
Austin, Walter
Ayer, Charles Fanning
Bacon, Edward
Bailey, Frederick Harold Baker, George Pierce
Baker, Wakefield
Balcombe, Charles Sumner
Barber, Harry Blanchard
Barrett, Nelson Macy
Barrow, Charles Edmund
Bartol, John Marshall Washburn
Bean, Henry Willard
Bemis, Harry Haskell
Berenson, Bernhard
Bingham, Howard Henry Charles
Bisbee, Eldon
Black, William Holmes
Blake, John Bapst
Blodgett, Edward Everett
Bourne, Herbert Clifton
Bowen, William Jackson
Bowles, Dwight Whitney
Boyden, Walter Lincoln
Brainard, Homer Worthington
Brengle, Henry Gaw
Briggs, Richard
Bright, Elliott
Brodeur, Clarence Arthur
Brooks, William Allen
Browne, George Morgan
Buck, George Faunce
Buck, Henry Augustus
Buckingham, Edgar Buckley, Julian Gerard
Burbank, Walter Channing
Burgess, Theodore Phillips
Cameron, James McCormick
*Carmalt, Charles Churchill *1905
*Chollett, Charles *1903
Clark, Bertram Fiske
Clark, Herbert Lincoln
Coolidge, Archibald Cary
Coolidge, Frederick Shurtleff
*Coolidge, Herman Timothy *1889
Costello, Daniel Thomas
Cotter, John Jerome
*Cox, Benjamin Francis *1892
Craig, Timothy Currier
Cummings, Arthur Mark
Cunningham, Guy
Currier, Charles Francis Adams
Currier, Wilton Lincoln
*Cushing, John Newmarch *1890
Cushman, Charles Allerton
Daly, Eugene Vincent
Dean, Frederic Alva
Delone, Charles Joseph
*Denny, Daniel *1896
De Veau, Frederic Clinton
Dexter, Gordon
Dresel, Ellis Loring
Droppers, Garrett
Dudley, Albertus True
*Dudley, James Willard *1906
Edgar, Herman LeRoy
Elgutter, Charles Stanford
Emery, Edward Stanley
Endicott, William

Faulkner, William Edward Fiske, Edward
*Fiske, Robert Francis *1901
Flagg, Elisha
Fletcher, Jefferson Butler
Forchheimer, Walter
Foster, Chauncey Charles
Foster, George Waldo
Frederiksen, Ditley Gothard Monrad
Frost, Robert Warner
Fuller, Albert
Furber, George Pope
Ganong, William Francis
Gardner, Alfred Augustus
Garnett, Edgar Malcolm
Gersdorff, Carl August de
*Giddings, Charles Ingalls *1893
Goodwin, Bancroft Lane
Gray, John Henry
Gray, William Travers
Hale, Harris Grafton
Hamilton, Franklin Elmer Ellsworth
Hanly, Alpheus Sumner
Haskell, Augustus Story
*Heckscher, Maurice *1905
Herron, William Collins
*Hervey, William Andrew *1906
Hicks, Louis
Higginson, George
Hileman, Joseph Baker
*Hillebrand, William Charles *1899
Hoover, Charles Frank
Houghton, Silas Arnold
Howe, Mark Antony de Wolfe
Howe, Willard Bean
Hubbard, Gorham
Hudson, Charles
Hughes, Frederick Everett
Hunt, Atherton Nash
Hunt, Thomas
Huntington, Francis Cleaveland
Hurlbut, Byron Satterlee
Hyde, Louis Fiske
Jackson, James Marsh
Johnson, Lesly Augustin
Johnson, Lewis Jerome
Jones, Francis Richard
Jones, Lombard Carter
Kavanagh, Frank Edge
Keays, Hiram Gillett
*Keep, Roger Wolcott *1897
*Kestner, Christian *1906
Keyes, Henry Wilder
Kimball, George Washington
Knapp, George Perkins
Knapp, John Holly
Knight, Augustus Smith
Knowles, John Webster
*Kuhn, Hamilton *1902
Ladd, George Edgar
*Linn, William Walton *1904
Litchfield, Everett Starr
Livermore, Henry Jarvis
Lochman, Myron Augustus
Lothrop, Howard Augustus
Loud, Charles Eliot
*Luce, Linn *1903
Manley, Edward Irving
Marvin, Frederic Hubbell
Mead, Fred Sumner
*Meeks, Edwin Joseph *1895
Michael, Francis
Mitchell, Morton Davis
Morrison, George Austin
Morse, John Lovett
Mumford, George Saltonstall
Nay, Frank Nelson
Nicolson, Frank Walter
Oakes, Walter
Oakman, Otis Briggs
Osgood, Arthur Henry
Osgood, Robert Treadwell
Palmer, Edward Christopher Palmer, Francis Sterne
Parmenter, Frank Claflin
Pastorius, Charles Sharpless
Peabody, Harry Ernest
Peabody, Lincoln Rea

*Pearl, Joseph Hall *1906
Perkins, Albert Thompson
Perkins, Henry Graver
*Perkins, Samuel Welsh *1898
Pinkham, Walter Samuel
Poey, Alfred Arthur
Poppleton, William Sears
Potter, Albert Bailey
Power, Milford Seward
Preston, Whilmore
Proctor, Charles Seward
Proctor, Frank Ingersoll
Putnam, George Jacob
*Quimby, George Totten
Rantoul, Augustus Neal
Rantoul, Charles William Remington, Franklin
Reynolds, Paul Revere
Rhinelander, Thomas Newbold
Rice, Fred Ball
Rich, Edgar Judson
Riddle, John Wallace
Robbins, Royal
Robinson, Alfred Brookes
Robinson, Benjamin Lincoln
Robinson, James Harvey
Robinson, Thomas Johns
*Robinson, William Sanford *1902
Rogers, Emery Herman
Russell, James Savage
Rust, Philip Sidney
*Sampson, Robert de Wolfe *1895
Saulsbury, William
Schofield, Henry
Seeley, George Martin
Shattuck, Charles Edward Shippen, Eugene Redman
Smith, Arthur Crittenden
Smith, Charles Gasson
Smith, Horace Eugene
*Smith, Samuel Herbert *1902
Smith, William Kanan
*Snelling, John Lauzee *1907
Southworth, Frank Chester
Spalding, Walter Raymond
Stanton, Stephen Berrien
Stedman, Livingston Boyd
*Sternbergh, Pearl Lambert *1892
Sterne, Albert Eugene
Storrow, Samuel
Stowell, Frank Caleb
Sumner, John Osborne
Talbot, Winthrop Tisdale
Tewksbury, Elwood Gardner
Thayer, Aaron Claflin
Thayer, Henry Adams
Thompson, Charles Sproull
Thomson, Ernest Alexander
Tilton, Barclay
Truslow, Robert
Tuthill, Joseph Browne Thomas
Tuttle, George Herman
Tyler, Alfred Lee
Vogel, Frank
Von Storch, Theodore Cramer
Walker, Frank Lawson
Walker, Joseph Eugene
Webster, Eugene Carroll
Weed, Alonzo Rogers
Wetherbee, Winthrop
Wheelwright, Arthur William
White, Sumner Wheeler
Whitelaw, George Gill
Whitney, Benjamin
Wiestling, Frank Beecher
Willard, Waldo Wickham
Wood, Harry Johnson
Woods, James Haughton
Zerega, Richard Augustus Zinkeisen, Oscar Theodore

—242

The following received the Degree of S. B.:

Bigelow, Robert Payne
Parker, George Howard
Sellers, Frank Harold —3

Abbott, Samuel
Adams, John Coit
Allen, Elisha Hunt
Allen, Paul
Allen, William Sylvester
Ashe, Gaston Mears
Atwood, Winthrop Forrest
Baum, Alexander Robert
Bird, Oliver William
Börse, Christian Bayard
Bailey, Thomas Jennings
Bradford, George Gardner
Brown, Conway Rathbone* 1883*
Bruce, Henry Goodnow
Bulkley, Edward Addison
Cabot, Thomas Handasyde
Carroll, Charles
Cavanagh, Leander Joseph
Cheseborough, Robert Maxwell
Choate, Ruluff Sterling* 1884*
Cochrane, Arthur* 1889*
Coolidge, Sidney
Cowling, John Valadon
Davenport, Albert Dudley
Davis, William Edward* 1906*
Dawson, Thomas Cleland
Drake, Harrie Beekman* 1894*
Eldredge, William Skinner
Fechheimer, Samuel Marcus
Felton, Cornelius Conway
Fessenden, Edward Fox* 1887*
Fisk, Frederic Daniel
Fox, William Yale
Goepp, Max
Griswold, Daniel Paine
Gushee, Richard Hodges
Hall, Charles Frederic Hall, James Winslow
Hoffman, Benjamin Byron
Holt, Henry Cutter
Kaminski, Edward Lothrop, John Howland
Luria, Arthur Sylvester [Moses]
Lynch, William Dominick* 1889*
Meredith, Irving Samuel* 1894*
Nutting, Wallace
Ordway, Edward Warren
Pear, William Hesseltine
Penrose, Francis Boies
Peterson, Seth Clark
Pond, Wilbur Sanford
Richardson, Lester
Roberts, John Jones
Scofield, William Bacon
Scott, Thomas Blythe
Sherman, Frank Dempster
Sinnott, Joseph Edward Snow, Robert Keith
Spaulding, Edward Samuel
Stanyan, Frank Henry Stevens, Hermon Weed
Thaxter, Eben Blanchard
Thoron, Joseph Samuel Ward
Todd, Stanley Major* 1896*
Varick, Thomas Rice
Wells, Edward Ingersoll
Whistler, Joseph Swift* 1905*
Whitman, Crosby Church
Wilson, Calvert
Wilson, Charles Abbot* 1888*

Brown, John Dean
Brown, Thomas Marshall
Grinstead, William Wade
Henning, Samuel Cowan
Nagle, William Henry
Oglesby, Robert James
Stewart, Edward Bixby
Strong, Charles Howard
Whittle, Charles Livy

9 + 71 + 3 + 242 = 325

NOTE.—The first list includes those who received degrees, the second all others who at any time were members of the Class, the third those whose social relations have been especially with the Class.

RECORD OF THE CLASS.

1902-1907.

EDWARD STANLEY ABBOT.

At the time of the last report I was assistant superintendent of the Boston City Hospital. In January, 1904, I left there to become first assistant physician here at the McLean Hospital, taking up again a work that is much more congenial than the purely executive work of the B. C. H.

I have not read or published many papers. The most important thing I have done outside of my purely professional work is the editing and publishing of a posthumous work of my father's (Francis Ellingwood Abbot, '59), "The Syllogistic Philosophy," which came out last fall, published by Little, Brown & Co. I am a member of the American Association for the Advancement of Science since December, 1905. Also, believing it to be part of the duty of a citizen of a republic to do something towards bettering the administration of public affairs, I have become a member of the National Municipal League and of the American Academy of Political and Social Science. I have, however, taken no active part in the work of these organizations.

Address: McLean Hospital, Waverley.

WALTER ALEXANDER.

Since my last report I have been married; on October 18, 1904, I was married at Tenafly to Grace Harper Coppell, daughter of the late George Coppell and Helen G. Coppell of New York; for two years after our marriage we lived at 981 Madison Ave., but removed last September to 133 East 54th Street, where we now reside, which will doubtless be our permanent home.

My club membership has not changed. I am still a member of the Harvard Club, University Club, Metropolitan Club, Down Town Association and Bar Association of the City of New York. I am a member of the Committee on Admissions of each of the following clubs viz.: Harvard Club, University Club and Bar Association.

I have taken no part in politics except to vote regularly, nor have I received any additional degrees.

As for journeys—I made a business trip of a month to Cuba in January and February, 1905, and a trip of equal length to Mexico and Colorado in May and June, 1906. I spent six weeks in England in June and July, 1904; and made a six weeks' trip to the Mediterranean in December, 1905 and January, 1906.

Address: 32 Nassau, New York.

JAMES EKIN ALLISON

Has not replied.

JOHN LINCOLN AMES.

During the time since the last report I have continued to reside in Boston and have been engaged in the practice of medicine. Have held the positions of assistant visiting physician to the Boston City Hospital, and assistant professor of Clinical Medicine in the Tufts College Medical School. Have become a member of the New Hampshire Club, and of the Harvard Musical Association.

Address: 70 Chestnut, Boston.

RANDOLPH MORGAN APPLETON.

Is for all practical purposes a member of the Class of '84, and the reader is referred to the reports of that class for information about him.

WILLIAM CHANNING APPLETON.

I fear I have nothing of general interest to report. At present I am not in business. You already have all facts in regard to my family. I have only one child, W. C. A., Jr., ten years old.

Address: 42 Eliot, Jamaica Plain.

WALTER AUSTIN.

1. Official residence, Yokohama, Japan. Engaged in business with my brother-in-law.

2. Wife's name, Mabel Frazar Austin.

3. Lindsley Austin, John Frazar Austin.

4. Union Club of Boston and Country Club of Brookline, and Harvard Club of Tokio.

11. Past four years have travelled somewhat extensively in the Orient and about three years ago located in Yokohama, Japan. Last fall returned to Boston and in November went to Panama for six weeks and then toured South America for about five months. Expect to return to Japan in the fall.

12. Address: 9 Arlington, Boston, or Yokohama, Japan.

CHARLES FANNING AYER.

Question 1. My residence has been in Boston since the last report. My occupation has been the same as before—assistant to my father.

2. In June, 1904, I was married to Miss Sara Theodora Ilsley of Newark, N. J., the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Grenville Ilsley, both of whom have been dead for many years.

3. We have one daughter, Theodora, born September 27, 1905, at Beverly Farms, Mass.

4. ———————

5. Puritan, Country, Union Boat, Eastern Yacht, Myopia Hunt, Middlesex Hunt, of Boston; University and Harvard, N. Y.; Canaveral of Florida.

6. None.

7. None but a few directorships as follows: State Street Trust Co., New Eng. Tel. & Tel. Co., Merrimack Manf'g Co., Tremont & Suffolk Mills, Boott Cotton Mills, Cripple Creek Cent. Ry. Co., Old Colony Trust Co.

8. None.

9. None.

10. None.

11. In February and March of 1903, I had an extremely interesting trip in Mexico, going with a camping outfit and an Indian guide from Rio Balsas (then the Southern terminus of the Mexican Central Ry.) over the mountains to Acapulco, and returning by another route to Rio Balsas, a trip of about 30 days of very rough travel through a wonderfully picturesque and beautiful country, most of which was very wild and quite out of the beaten track.

Address: Room 1004, 141 Milk, Boston.

EDWARD BACON.

Has not replied.

FREDERICK HAROLD BAILEY.

I am still at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, where I have been Associate Professor of Mathematics since September, 1904.

Since the last "report" I have joined the American Mathematical Society in 1903 and the Brae-Burn Country Club in 1904.

Address: Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

GEORGE PIERCE BAKER.

1. Assistant Professor of English, Harvard University 1895-1905. Professor of English, 1905.

2. Married to Christina Hopkinson, August 16, 1893. Her home, 22 Craigie St., Cambridge. John Prentiss Hopkinson, Mary Elizabeth Hopkinson.

3. John Hopkinson Baker, June 30, 1894, Cambridge, Mass.; Edwin Osborne Baker, February 21, 1896, Cambridge, Mass.; Myles Pierce Baker, Broadway, Worcestershire, England, August 18, 1901; George Pierce Baker, Jr., Cambridge, November 1, 1903.

5. Tavern Club, Boston.

9. General editor of Section III of The Belles Lettres Series, The Drama, D. C. Heath & Co. Vols. already published, Ben Johnson, Chapman, Goldsmith, Browning, Lillo, Swinburne, Webster, Rowe, Beaumont and Fletcher, etc. New books: Forms of Public Address, H. Holt & Co., 1905; The Principles of Argumentation (Revised with H. B. Huntington, '97), Ginn & Co., 1906; The Development of Shakespeare as a Dramatist, The Macmillan Co., 1907; Some Unpublished Correspondence of David Garrick, Houghton, Mifflin & Co., 1907.

10. Lectures at various colleges and before literary societies on topics connected with the drama and with the teaching of English; a series of eight lectures in January and February, 1906, before the Lowell Institute on The Development of Shakespeare as a Dramatist. Phi Beta Kappa address at Northwestern University, June 18, 1907.

11. Abroad for a sabbatical year in 1901-02 with family. Various lecturing trips through the Central West. Southern trip in April, 1905, with Mr. R. C. Ogden for the Southern Educational Conference.

Address: 195 Brattle, Cambridge.

WAKEFIELD BAKER.

Family record, including children, is the same as heretofore. I am very sorry that the strenuous times resulting from the disaster of April 18th last will prevent my attending our twentieth anniversary. While the reorganization work is going forward with great rapidity, and to the reasonable satisfaction of every one here, still it requires of some of us close attention to our duties. Therefore I do not expect to be with you, other than in the spirit, at our twenty year anniversary.

I am still engaged in the hardware business, with the official title of President of Baker & Hamilton; was for a term President of the Pacific Union Club in this city; have added some bank directorships to my labors; all of which is perhaps only of local and not of general interest to the class at large. I shall make one final effort to go East in time to be with you all, but doubt very much if I can accomplish it.

With personal regards to you and all others of the class who are kind enough to remember me.

Address: Baker & Hamilton, San Francisco, Cal.

CHARLES SUMNER BALCOMBE.

Has not replied.

Married November 12, 1902, to Annie Isabelle Wheeler. A son, Henry Balcombe, 3rd, born May 7, 1904.

Address: 13 Rockland, Lynn.

HARRY BLANCHARD BARBER.

Has not replied.

NELSON MACY BARRETT.

Beginning where I left off in the report before the last, I may say that I remained at the Custom House in Boston up to March 1905. The ordinary routine of life was not disturbed by marriage or the birth of children and my foreign travelling was confined to winter trips to Cuba, Jamaica, Porto Rico and the Bermudas.

In March, 1905, I made my escape from the Custom House and the fossilization I felt was impending there, by going to Panama in the service of the Isthmian Canal Commission. I had a warm reception, coming down with a severe case of yellow-fever before I had been there three weeks. I achieved the entirely unsought distinction of being the sickest man that ever came out of the hospital alive. The price exacted was not one but twenty-nine pounds of flesh. However, I completely recovered my health and strength and can now pass any quarantine by exhibiting my immune certificate to the health officers.

I have no club affiliations, except that I am a member of the University Club of Panama, of which I was the first treasurer. I have found time to make flying trips to the neighboring republics of Venezuela, Colombia, and Costa Rica.

After living a year in the city of Panama, my department moved to Culebra, Canal Zone, which is my present address. As my relatives will always forward mail, Concord, Massachusetts, may be considered my permanent address.

CHARLES EDMUND BARROW.

I have nothing of interest to tell the class and no answers to any of your questions. There has been no change in any respect.

Address: 111 Broadway, New York, or Skaneateles, Onondaga Co., N. Y.

JOHN MARSHALL WASHBURN BARTOL.

Continues the practice of medicine with home and office at 1 Chestnut St., Boston. Three children: Janet, born July 13, 1902; Dorothy, born December 15, 1903; Ann, born December 21, 1905. Is still on the staff of the Boston City Hospital and holds a minor position in the teaching force of the Harvard Medical School.

Member of the corporation of Simmons College. Member State Board of Health.

Address: 1 Chestnut, Boston.

HENRY WILLARD BEAN.

Continues to practice law in New York.

Address: 11 William, New York.

HARRY HASKELL BEMIS.

Since graduation I have been in the banking business in Boston, for the past ten years as a member of the firm of Adams & Co.

October 11, 1898, was married to Miss Esther Glenny of Buffalo, and have two children, a daughter, Ruth, born December 2, 1899, and a son, Grosvenor, born March 17, 1902. Have always resided in Boston or vicinity and now live in Chestnut Hill, where both children were born.

Am a member of the Harvard Club of New York and of the Country and Exchange Clubs of Boston.

Address: 7 Congress, Boston.

BERNHARD BERENSON.

Since the appearance of the last report I have published "The Drawings of the Florentine Painters." Unfortunately the work which this book entailed was all but too much for me, and it broke down my health. It has taken me several years to recover and I cannot say yet that I am in good working trim. I have, however, not been altogether idle and have been able to write, although under great difficulties, various articles on Italian art which have appeared in English, French and Italian magazines, and I have ready for the press a volume on the North Italian Painters of the Renaissance. It completes a series begun over fifteen years ago.

Three years ago I spent six months at home and I shall never forget the hearty welcome I got from friends old and new. It almost repaid one for a life of exile, for exile it is to live away from the people who understand one as only they do who have been brought up in pretty much the same way, having the same gods and the same ideals. Yet it would be hypocrisy to deny that my exile has its pleasant sides.

Address: 1 Tatti, Setignano, Florence, Italy, or care Baring Bros., London.

ROBERT PAYNE BIGELOW.

There has been no change in my fortune or station since the last report, except a change of residence from Pinckney Street to more comfortable quarters at No. 3 Spruce Street.

In 1904 I completed a somewhat elaborate article on "Variation," which was the twenty-third and last one of the series mentioned in the previous report as appearing in Buck's "Reference Handbook of the Medical Sciences."

In June, 1904, I sailed in the "Cestrian" for Liverpool in company with Dr. Arthur L. Chute. We visited Chester and then spent two weeks in London and made excursions to Cambridge, Windsor, and Hampton Court. From London we went to Boulogne and visited the marine biological station at Wimereux. We then proceeded to Paris and spent two happy weeks there, after which Dr. Chute returned to London and I continued alone to Berne, stopping on the way at Dijon and Neuchatel. I stayed ten days in Berne attending the meetings of the International Zoological Congress. After the Congress adjourned I spent a week traveling in Switzerland, and then returned by train down the valley of the Rhine and crossed to England via the Hook of Holland. I was a few days in Oxford and Stratford-on-Avon, where I joined Dr. Clute, and then we boarded the "Winifredian," September 3, for home.

Subsequent summers have been spent chiefly at Woods Hole. While there, and during such time in Boston as could be spared from teaching and administrative duties, I have been pegging away at a report on a small group of small animals called Stomatopoda, the specimens having been collected in the Pacific Ocean by various expeditions, chiefly under the direction of Mr. Alexander Agassiz.

Address: Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Boston.

HOWARD HENRY CHARLES BINGHAM.

During the past five years my life has been uneventful. The only change being that of address. Last June I resigned my position as Principal of the Lawrence Academy at Groton, (Mass.) and began my duties here as master last September.

Address: St. Paul's School, Concord, N. H.

ELDON BISBEE.

I have continued to reside in New York City and to practice law there. In February, 1906, I became a member of the firm of Stern & Rushmore, with offices at 40 Wall Street. This firm was dissolved by the death of our senior member in October last, and on January 1st, 1907, I became a member of the firm of Rushmore, Bisbee, Rogers & Stern, the successor of Stern & Rushmore, and we have continued our offices at the same place. My present partners are, Charles E. Rushmore, John S. Rogers and Henry R. Stern, the two latter being Yale men.

I must have reported since my marriage, and probably since the birth of my child. She was born in this city, April 3rd, 1897, and there are no others.

My club and society membership is as follows: Harvard Club, University Club, Metropolitan Club, Association of the Bar, Alumni Association of Columbia Law School, West Side Republican Club.

I have taken little active part in politics and have held no offices, either of profit or honor.

With my family, I took a short trip to Europe in 1901. My journeyings in this country have not been of any special importance to others, although of late years, I have annually enjoyed a trip to the woods of Maine for a few weeks.

Address: 40 Wall Street.

WILLIAM HOLMES BLACK.

Concerning my life during the past five years, there is little to report of interest. They have undoubtedly been the busiest I have yet experienced, and during them I have been called upon to assume great business responsibilities in founding what I have yet every reason to believe will be a great business and one well worthy the life work of any average man. I am still Secretary of The Standard Scale and Supply Co. of this city, and we are manufacturing and shipping all over the world scales and weighing machinery, generally in competition with two of the leading New England industrial concerns, the E. & T. Fairbanks Co., of St. Johnsbury, Vt., and the Howe Scale Co. of Rutland, Vt., who have for years been closely connected, we being independent manufacturers. We have had our full share of hard knocks. I have been closely confined to my work, and have been lucky to get even the usual summer vacation, and last year I had to forgo even that, so I have not had any trips abroad. There has been no change whatever in my family relations. My health has been excellent.

Address: 243 Water, Pittsburg, Pa.

JOHN BAPST BLAKE.

Am doing surgery; Instructor in Surgery, Harvard Medical School, Assistant Surgeon, the Boston City Hospital, visiting surgeon, Long Island Hospital, visiting surgeon, St. Elizabeth Hospital, consulting surgeon, the Boston Insane Hospital; am on faculty of the Medical School. Was elected last year to the American Surgical Association. Published three years ago with Dr. H. L. Burrell, "Case Teaching in Surgery." Various papers in Medical Journals.

I have five children, Barbara, aged six; John Bapst, Jr., aged four and a half; Hugh Hastings, aged three; Gerald Blake, 2d, born September 9, 1905, and Mary Elizabeth, born February, 1907.

Director Children's Aid Society.

Nothing else of interest.

Address: 178 Beacon, Boston.

EDWARD EVERETT BLODGETT.

I have very little to add to the statement I gave you for the last report. I have resided in the same place and practiced law at the same stand, with the same partners. As my wife is fortunately still living, I have not been married since the last report. We have had one more child, named Dorothy Blodgett, who was born at our house in Brookline two years ago last November. I have joined no more clubs or anything of that sort except to be admitted to practice in the United States Courts in various districts and circuits. In fact there is nothing that has occurred that would be of any interest to anyone so far as I know. I have simply gone along practicing law and getting as much fun out of life as I could.

My address is the same as it was before, 12 Mason Terrace, Brookline, and the office at 28 State Street, Room 40.

HERBERT CLIFTON BOURNE.

During the last five years I have continued in the Iron and Steel business in Cleveland, Ohio, serving as Treasurer of the Bourne-Fuller Company. We have recently established a branch office in the Frick Building, Pittsburg, Pa. I am interested in a new Coke Company near Uniontown, Pa., to manufacture Connellsville grade of Coke. A new town of Searight is being built near our plant. There are now 180 coke ovens in operation and as soon as our mines are further developed it is expected that 500 ovens will be in operation.

My daughter, Madeleine, is now sixteen years old and is being prepared at Miss Mittleberger's Private School to enter Wellesley College next year.

I am a member of the Cleveland Automobile Club, Euclid Golf Club, University Club, Union Club and the Cleveland Chamber of Commerce. During the summer of 1904 I made a pleasure trip to England, Germany and France. Most of my vacations are spent on Cape Cod near my native town of Hyannis.

Address: Care Bourne-Fuller Co., Cleveland, O.

WILLIAM JACKSON BOWEN.

For a number of years my life has been too uneventful to make it worth while for me to send you a record. Even now I have little to relate.

During the past ten years, in the interest of mining, I have made a number of trips, more or less all over the country; the last one to the Seward Peninsula, some distance north of Nome, and exactly to the Arctic Circle. There I located valuable placer ground, which is now the basis of a large mining company.

Since the year following that trip, that is to say, since 1904, I have been a fixture in Seattle. I am in the Real Estate business, with good prospects, and some property. Seattle will be the great city of the Pacific Coast.

On the 8th of August, 1906, I was married at the First Presbyterian Church, Seattle, to Miss Helen Emily Matthews, daughter of Oliver Hoyt, and Deborah Maria Matthews, formerly of Watkins, Schuyler Co., N. Y. We have made our home in Seattle, and expect to remain here permanently.

I have taken no part in politics, belong to no clubs, except the local Harvard Club, and live the simple life in comfort and happiness.

My health and bodily vigor seem to remain unimpaired, and it is hardly possible to believe that 20 years have rolled away, since our Class Day.

Address: 429 New York Blk., Seattle, Wash.

DWIGHT WHITNEY BOWLES.

Has not replied.

WALTER LINCOLN BOYDEN.

I am still in the employ of the Eastern Audit Company of Boston as was the case at the time of our last report. In 1904 I obtained the degree of Certified Public Accountant from the State of New York. I have two children, Walter Lincoln Boyden, Jr., born September 28, 1903, and Helen Elizabeth Boyden, born May 31, 1906.

Address: Beverly.

HOMER WORTHINGTON BRAINARD.

I have continued residing at Hartford, which has been my home for twenty-seven years, nearly, and am now in my sixteenth year of teaching mathematics in the Public High School of this city, where I prepared for college, leaving the school as a graduate in 1883 and returning to it as a teacher in 1891. In this time I must have had sixteen hundred different pupils, or more, in my classes, a small army in itself. How much good or harm I have done all these boys and girls, or in what degree my teaching has been a success or a failure, others must say, but I will confess to an increasing love of this work, and a growing sympathy for young people of the high school age.

I am a member of the Connecticut Historical Society, of the Connecticut Valley Harvard Club, and of several teachers' associations. I have taken no part in politics other than to vote. I have published in the New York Biographical Record, a quarterly devoted to biography, genealogy, and history, several articles on New England families. These are: Edward Fuller, and some of his Descendants, 1902-1905; John Young of Eastham, Mass., and some of his Descendants, 1905; Henry Rowley of Succonesset (Falmouth) and some of his Descendants, 1906. These articles, though not claiming to be complete, required a large amount of careful research. The first article was a foundation for a complete genealogy of the descendants of Edward and Dr. Samuel Fuller, who came in the Mayflower in 1620, and of their nephew, Dr. Matthew Fuller of Barnstable, who came later. I intended to compile this larger volume and made extensive collections for it, but finding it too great an undertaking to be carried on with my work as teacher, I have resigned it for completion to other, and probably more competent hands. My journeys during the past five years have been short, and within the limits of New England. Last September I reached the top of Mt. Washington, and was favored with one of the clearest days of the season.

I have recently had a visit from Tewksbury, '87, who has been for seventeen years in North China, who has twice built the buildings of the North China College, which were destroyed by the Boxers in 1900, and are now rebuilt in larger and better form. Tewksbury has been an instructor in the college as well, besides engaging in general religious work as a moral and spiritual leader. His enthusiasm for the future of China, and his confidence in the regeneration of the empire is deep and strong. He is in this country since last summer, and expects to return next summer.

Address: 88 Kenyon, Hartford, Conn.

HENRY GAW BRENGLE.

I regret that I have no interesting details to send you of my life during the past five years. I am still with the Trust Company of North America as Vice-President and Treasurer. I am unmarried and my membership in clubs has nothing but a personal interest. I was in Jamaica this winter in December, just escaping the earthquake. My only other journeys have been to Europe for recreation and rest.

Address: 505 Chestnut, Philadelphia, Pa.

RICHARD BRIGGS.

Is in the crockery business in Boston with the Richard Briggs Co., of which he is treasurer.

Address: Richard Briggs Co., Boston.

ELLIOTT BRIGHT.

No change in business. (Secretary and treasurer of the Bodden & Bright Co., coffees, teas and spices, Milwaukee, since May 1st, 1902).

I am sorry to tell you we lost a daughter, Anna Williams, aged 4 months, last April.

Address: 309 East Water, Milwaukee, Wis.

CLARENCE ARTHUR BRODEUR.

1. Principal State Normal School at Westfield, Mass., since September 1, 1901.

2. All previously reported. Married Mary Cornelia Latta, daughter of John Gilchrist and Mary Silsby Latta, of Newton, Mass., on June 24, 1887.

3. Arthur Gilchrist, Franklin, Mass., September 18, 1888; *Mary Silsby and *Marion Marsh, Tacoma, Wash., March 19, 1892, (died in that city August 5, 1892); Harold Hills, June 25, 1894, Warren, Mass.; Paul Evans, May 3, 1901, Chicopee Falls, Mass.; Clarence Gordon, October 18, 1905, Westfield, Mass.

4. The only deaths have been those of the little twin girls in 1892.

5. Member of various educational and church clubs; of the Second Congregational Church of this town; of the Westfield Board of Trade; Mt. Moriah Lodge, A. F. and A. M. of Westfield and of Belcher Lodge of Chicopee Falls; Evening Star, R. A. C. of Westfield; Springfield (Mass.) Council, R. and S. Ms.; Springfield Commandery, K. T., and Melha Council, A. A. O. M. S.

6. Only the part of a good citizen.

7. I have been since December, 1905, District Deputy Grand Master for the 16th Masonic District; I am Deacon in the Second Church and Superintendent of the Sunday School, (since January 1, 1902).

10. Many on various educational, religious, Masonic and literary subjects.

Address: 8 Mill, Westfield.

WILLIAM ALLEN BROOKS.

Is practicing medicine in Boston. In January, 1907, he was made a full surgeon at the Massachusetts General Hospital, being appointed a regular member of the Senior Visiting Surgical Staff.

Address: 167 Beacon, Boston.

GEORGE MORGAN BROWNE.

During the last five years, I have been a member of the firm of Davis & Browne, practicing law at 44 Pine Street, New York City, (the only other partner being Gherardi Davis) and have lived for the past four years at 64 East 54th Street, New York City.

During the past three years I have had two children, born viz: a boy, G. Morgan Browne, Jr., born May 23, 1905, and a girl, Marion La Ban Browne, born December 11, 1906. There have been no deaths in my family.

I am a member of the Union, University, Harvard, Down Town, and Republican Clubs, and the Association of the Bar, all of New York.

I have taken no part in politics, and have filled no office of profit, honor or trust. Have attained no degrees, and have published no books, articles, or pamphlets, or delivered any addresses before public meetings.

My journeys have been confined to short trips to Europe and the West.

Address: 44 Pine, New York City.

GEORGE FAUNCE BUCK.

I have received your request for copy for your Sixth Report covering the past five years; and am sorry that I have so little to furnish of general interest. Since serving my term as County Judge I have resumed the practice of law and am still at it. No new babies, offices, journeys, pamphlets or addresses. With kindest regards and best wishes to you and the others of '87.

Address: 6 Odd Fellows' Bldg., Stockton, Cal.

HENRY AUGUSTUS BUCK.

Since the last '87 Class Report there is little to add in regard to myself or my affairs. I am still a bachelor, continue my membership in the University and Harvard Clubs, occasionally enjoy a trip West or abroad, and continue to have charge of the Racing Calendar, a weekly publication. That and one or two other outside interests keep me extremely busy, but I hope to be able to be on hand for a portion, if not all, of the Class Reunion in June.

EDGAR BUCKINGHAM.

I believe that when I wrote for your last report I was teaching physics in the University of Wisconsin. In May, 1902, I left Madison to take a position in the Department of Agriculture in Washington. I remained in that department, carrying on physical researches of various kinds, until last August. I am now in the National Bureau of Standards, doing, at present, work in thermodynamics. It is the most agreeable position and the most congenial work I have ever had. I have, of course, published various papers, but as they are all of a purely technical character, their titles would not interest more than two or three men at most. I am a member of the American Physical Society, the Philosophical Society of Washington, and the Washington Academy of Sciences.

I have two children—Katharine, born at Goldsboro, N. C., August 24, 1902; and Stephen Alvord, born at Washington, D. C., March 18th, 1905.

I have taken no journeys, nor done anything in anyway uncommon or interesting. There isn't much skating in Washington and swimming isn't convenient to get at, so about the only thing I do that is really worth while is to play tennis every good day in summer. With the facilities available at the Bureau of Standards, however, I shall be able to do scientific work that will be very much worth while.

Address: 2101 3d Street N. E., Washington, D. C.

JULIAN GERARD BUCKLEY.

Has not replied.

Married Josephine Louise Gilbert at New York, January 20.

WALTER CHANNING BURBANK.

As I sit down to send you some account of myself since the time of the last class report I realize how little of interest has transpired during those years. I have, since that time, made one trip to Europe, spending some five months in the south of France, and have made a few journeys in this country, but have practically confined myself to New York City, where I have become associated with the firm of Brown, Ryan & Williams in the Trinity Building, 111 Broadway, in the stock brokerage business. It is a life which I have much enjoyed since entering upon it, although it furnishes many strenuous days and never lacks for interest or excitement, but I feel that I am thoroughly well suited with the business and hope to continue for many years to come.

I have not attempted any contributions to any periodicals, or in fact done anything but attend strictly to business during the past few years.

I am looking forward to the receipt of your report in which I feel sure I shall find much that will interest me in regard to the others, although I must again confess my regret at being able to furnish personally so little of interest. I shall be glad to see all my old classmates whenever they are in New York at the address above given, and I think that as the years go on those of us who are left should sit up closer together until such day as the last of us may, as the oldest living graduates, look back with pride upon our association with as fine and delightful a class as, in our belief, has ever graduated.

Address: 111 Broadway, New York, N. Y.

THEODORE PHILLIPS BURGESS.

Has not replied.

JAMES McCORMICK CAMERON.

Has not replied.

*CHARLES CHURCHILL CARMALT.

Born June 15, 1866. Died January 8, 1905.

Charles Churchill Carmalt, son of James Edward and Charlotte Jane (Churchill) Carmalt, was born at Montrose, Penn., June 15, 1866. He entered Harvard from Haverford College. After taking his degree at Cambridge, he "attempted to run a ranch and study law, rather unsuccessfully," to quote his own words. The year following he began the study of medicine at Utica, N. Y., completing his course at the College of Physicians and Surgeons (Columbia University), where he was one of the ten honor men of his class. He immediately entered into practice in New York city, where he became one of the house staff of the New York Hospital, demonstrator of anatomy at the College of Physicians and Surgeons, attending surgeon at the Lying-in Hospital, and assistant surgeon at the Women's Hospital. He was an organizer of the Hudson Street Hospital and its first house surgeon.

At the end of the year 1904, he had an attack of epidemic influenza, which lasted for some time. This he neglected. He neither treated himself nor consulted any of his fellow-physicians in the city, but continued his work in spite of the fact that he was severely ill. On the night of January 5-6, 1905, he was taken ill with acute uraemia and congestion of the kidneys, and was found in an unconscious condition in the morning. During that day and the next he improved somewhat and regained partial consciousness, but on Saturday afternoon his lungs became involved with a rapid suffocating pneumonia, involving almost the entire structure of both lungs. In spite of every effort to relieve him he grew rapidly worse and died on Sunday afternoon, January 8.

Carmalt was a man of unusual promise in his profession, who in those last weeks followed his duty as he saw it with a disregard of self truly heroic. '87 may well be proud of him, and the record he made.

*CHARLES CHOLLET.

Born ——————— Died Aug. 14, 1903.

The following is an extract from a letter from the Registrar of West Virginia University:

"Charles Chollet was elected Assistant Professor of Romance Languages in West Virginia University on the 27th day of July, 1900. He was promoted to be Professor of Romance Languages and Literature in West Virginia University on the 17th day of June, 1901. This latter position he held until his death, which occurred August 14th, 1903.

"Professor Chollett met his death by an accidental discharge of his gun while out training some young dogs for hunting. No one was with him at the time of the accident, nor did any one arrive until after life was extinct. It would seem from his position near by a fence that a rail had broken from his weight in crossing it, that he was thrown violently to the ground, and his shotgun was discharged with the muzzle a little to the left of the median line and about five inches above the groin. He died from internal hemorrhage.

"He was well beloved by all connected with the University, and stood very high as an instructor."

BERTRAM FISKE CLARK.

In answer to your circular letter of the 17th inst. asking for recent information about my career, I have very little to say. I am still conducting the teachers' agency business under my own name, and the only change worthy of note from the last report is the change of address to Steinway Hall.

Address: 604 Steinway Hall, Chicago, Ill.

HERBERT LINCOLN CLARKE.

There has been so little of interest to anybody else that has happened to me during the past five years, that upon looking back I find very little to report. I have been in the same business and living in the same house and leading the same mode of life as during the first fifteen years since our graduation. It might be well to explain this by saying that I am still a banker and still live in Germantown, Pennsylvania.

The only item of particular interest since my last report is that I expect to be married in June to Miss Elizabeth C. Bent.

Address: 160 Bullitt Bldg., Philadelphia, Pa.

ARCHIBALD CARY COOLIDGE.

During my summer vacation of 1902 I went round the world, going over the Trans-Siberian railway and stopping for a short time in Pekin, Korea and Japan. During the next three winters I taught as before at Harvard. There is nothing particular to mention about them except perhaps the fact that in 1904-1905, I was Chairman of the Athletic Committee. In 1905-1906 I took my "sabbatical year" of vacation and spent it in another trip around the world, going first with the Taft party to Japan, the Philippines and China and then visiting Korea, Indo China, Siam, Burma, India, British East Africa and Uganda before coming home through Europe. In October, 1906, I again went abroad, this time as Harvard lecturer at the Sorbonne in Paris, my subject being "The United States as a World Power." After a very interesting winter in Paris I am now making a journey about France to lecture in the chief provincial universities.

Address: Harvard University, Cambridge.

FREDERICK SHURTLEFF COOLIDGE.

The past five years have been a period of invalidism for me, since the day I went to Saranac Lake to recover from tuberculosis. I spent two years and a half there and the remaining time at Pittsfield, Mass., where I built a permanent home last year.

The abandonment of my Chicago medical career and the withdrawal from that city was a great blow to me, but I have entered into Pittsfield life and spirit with as much enthusiasm as possible, and have enjoyed it thoroughly.

With the exception of the University Clubs of Chicago and Boston and the Massachusetts Medical Society, I am a member of only local clubs and societies, social, professional and philanthropic.

There has been no change in my family in the recent years.

Address: West St., Pittsfield, Mass.

*HERMAN TIMOTHY COOLIDGE.

Died Sept. 30, 1889. See 2d Report, p. 19.

DANIEL THOMAS COSTELLO.

Continued in employ of Union Pacific R. R. at Omaha, Neb., in capacity of Statistician and Assistant to President until April, 1904, when I resigned and went to San Francisco as Statistician and Assistant to General Manager of Southern Pacific Co. I continued in this position until about January 1, 1906, when I was obliged on account of ill health and climate to seek transfer to Arizona. I took position of Assistant Superintendent Southern Pacific Co. at Tucson, Ariz., April 1st, 1906, which I still hold. Was married November 3, 1902, at Omaha, to Rebecca Miller Primeau. Two children since last report, viz.: Josephine, born at Omaha, April 18, 1904, and Mary Elizabeth, born at Alameda, Cal., September 19, 1905.

Address: Care Southern Pacific Co., Tucson, Ariz.

JOHN JEROME COTTER.

During the past five years I have led a very busy life. In a financial way I have been quite successful. I have enjoyed fine health. I have travelled about sixty-five thousand miles. I have crossed the North American continent many times—four times in the past eighteen months. In the summer of 1904 I made two trips to the St. Louis Exposition—the greatest show that has ever been on this earth. I visited the Lewis and Clark Exposition at Portland, Oregon, in the summer of 1905. In the spring of 1906, I spent three weeks at Los Angeles and Catalina Island, California. In July, 1906, I made the "Around the Circle" trip in the Rocky Mountains. I visited San Francisco after the earthquake. I have also made trips to Mexico and Canada.

Address: 1615 North Illinois, Indianapolis, Indiana.

*BENJAMIN FRANCIS COX.

Born October 29, 1863. Died June 7, 1892. See 4th Report, p. 42.

TIMOTHY CURRIER CRAIG.

For two years after our last reunion my work and home were in Franconia amongst the mountains of New Hampshire. From there I moved to Penacook, N. H., whence, after a stay almost too brief for mention, I came to Wethersfield, Connecticut. Before Christmas, 1904, I was well into the work of Chaplain of the State Prison. In it I still continue.

In this State institution which has been called A Mansion of Aching Hearts, A Health Resort, A House of Good Resolves, etc., I find a life little known or cared for by the public at large so long as it is kept safely here; yet a life that is a fruitful source of study, bearing as it does marks of the educational, social and industrial forces of the world and the imprint of our judicial system.

Good health, if not honors, has like a blessing filled my home where my family is as before, my wife, daughter and self.

Address: Wethersfield, Conn.

ARTHUR MARK CUMMINGS.

1. Bonds, investments, etc.
2. Married July 2, 1892, to Gertrude Randall.
3. Doris T., Randall F., and Rosamund G.
5. Auto Club of America, Malden Deliberative Assembly.
9. Miscellaneous.
10. Toastmaster, miscellaneous addresses, etc.

Address: 21 Pierce, Malden, Mass.

GUY CUNNINGHAM.

I have nothing new to report except that I have changed my office to 84 State St., Boston.

May 1, 1907, entered the partnership then formed for the general practice of the law, under the firm name of Fish, Richardson, Herrick & Neave, with offices at 84 State Street, Boston and 5 Nassau Street, New York, in which the partners are Frederick P. Fish, W. K. Richardson, Robert F. Herrick, Charles Neave, Guy Cunningham, A. D. Salinger, Jeremiah Smith, Jr., J. L. Stackpole, Malcolm Donald.

Address: 84 State, Boston, or 12 Hovey, Gloucester.

CHARLES FRANCIS ADAMS CURRIER.

Most of your questions can be answered by simply stating that there has been no change during the past five years. I am still teaching at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, and this is the only "office of profit" that I occupy. As to "offices of honor or trust," for six years I have been a member of the school committee of Winchester, Mass.,—chairman nearly the entire time,—and shall probably be reelected for another term of three years before your report is printed. The only other "circumstance or experience," somewhat out of the ordinary, that I have had, consists in the fact that in July, 1904, I made the acquaintance of Dr. Maurice H. Richardson, and when he got through with me he left me with one less leg than I had before.

Address: Either Winchester, Mass., or Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Boston.

WILTON LINCOLN CURRIER.

In reply to your letter of the 17th inst., I would say that I have little to add to the last report. I am interested in local matters.

Address: 294 Chestnut Ave., Jamaica Plain.

*JOHN NEWMARCH CUSHING.

Died December 22, 1890. See 3d Report, p. 33.

CHARLES ALLERTON CUSHMAN.

Is practicing law in Boston.

Address: 997 Massachusetts Ave., Cambridge.

EUGENE VINCENT DALY.

I have continued the practice of the law in New York City since last report. Have taken no part in politics except to advocate, in my own circle, independence in voting.

Address: Flushing, L. I.

FREDERIC ALVA DEAN.

Class history for past five years uneventful and without particular significance. I am still engaged in the work of the gospel ministry, spending two years each at Tripoli (Ia.) and Strawberry Point (Ia.) and was called to the Eaton Rapids (Mich.) Congregational Church in December, 1905. Was elected moderator of the Olivet Association of Congregational Churches last November. Delivered the baccalaureate sermon before the Eaton Rapids High School graduates last June, subject "Moral Glory of Character." The address was published in full in the Jackson (Mich.) Morning Patriot. Also delivered the Memorial Day address last May in Eaton Rapids, entitled "The Grandeur of the American Soldier" which was published in full in the Jackson (Mich.) Morning Patriot and Eaton Rapids Journal.

Address: Eaton Rapids, Mich.

CHARLES JOSEPH DELONÉ.

Has not replied. Is still practicing law in Hanover.

Address: Hanover, York Co., Pa.

*DANIEL DENNY.

Born April 23, 1866. Died May 9, 1896. See 4th Report, p. 48.

FREDERIC CLINTON DE VEAU.

I don't think there have been any changes in my family, life or business since our last class catalogue came out. I am still in the same business and belong to the same firm, Edmund & Charles Randolph. My business address is 111 Broadway and my residence 59 East 53rd Street.

Address: 111 Broadway, New York.

GORDON DEXTER.

Reports no change in business. Clubs social only. Married February 1, 1906, to Annie Linzee, daughter of Mrs. Charles Amory of Boston. Journeys in Egypt, Italy, France, England and United States.

Address: 50 Congress, Boston.

ELLIS LORING DRESEL.

I regret that I cannot report any experiences which would interest the class, or any way in which I have aided to confer distinction on it. I am unmarried, and have been practicing law at 84 State St., Boston, since November, 1903, with F. S.

Goodwin, Harvard, '89, and P. S. Parker, '91, under the firm name of Goodwin, Dresel & Parker.

Address: No. 328 Beacon, Boston.

GARRETT DROPPERS.

Since the last report I have few changes to record. I remained at the head of the University of South Dakota until the summer of 1906, and then, politics interfering too much with the affairs of the University, I retired from the scene of action. During the fall I was elected by the Trustees of the University of Chicago to a professorship in the Department of Political Economy. My residence therefore just at present is Chicago. The number of our family remains the same as in the last report. We have three children, all flourishing, the eldest over eight and the youngest just three years of age.

Outside of the disagreeable experiences I have had with a certain kind of politics in South Dakota my life has run along normal and somewhat routine lines. I have just been made a member of the Chicago Literary Club.

Address: Care University of Chicago, Chicago, Ill.

ALBERTUS TRUE DUDLEY.

My report is a general denial. My residence and chief occupation remain those registered by you five years ago. I have not changed wives or children. I belong to no important clubs or societies. I confess—with deep regret— that no office of profit has been thrust upon me. A certain number of books, it is true, bearing my name, are being pushed by mercenary publishers, but as these are adapted not to classmates but to sons of classmates, I will not catalogue them. In politics I am as yet but a name on the check list. Wealth and fame, though undoubtedly overdue, have not yet appeared on the horizon. I have said.

Address: Exeter, N. H.

*JAMES WILLARD DUDLEY.

Born March 22d, 1864, in Central New York. Died in Barlow Sanitarium, Los Angeles, California, July 12th, 1906.

James W. Dudley came of New England stock, being a direct descendant of Governor Dudley, one of the early governors of Massachusetts. He prepared for college in Warsaw, New York, entering Harvard with his brother, A. T. Dudley, in the fall of 1883. After the completion of his college course he entered the Harvard Medical School in the fall of '87, and after a year's faithful work he decided to broaden the field of his preparation by a year in the University of Pennsylvania Medical School, where he came under the instruction of such men as Agnew, Pepper and Wood. The following year, however, he again returned to Harvard Medical School, where he graduated with honor, receiving the degrees of M. D. and A. M in 1891. For a year and a half succeeding June, 1890, he was house physician in the Boston City Hospital, where he contracted diphtheria from service in the contagious ward, which nearly caused his death at that time, and from the effects of which he never fully recovered. After convalescence from diphtheria he was house physician at the Boston Lying-In Hospital for four months, but being still troubled with a sensitive throat from his previous illness, he decided to go to a dryer climate and selected Minneapolis, Minnesota, where he opened an office and practiced his profession for the following six years. Here he quickly won a deserved reputation among the leaders of his profession as a finely trained and capable man. An attack of pneumonia, followed by an incipient pulmonary trouble, brought an abrupt ending to his growing practice there, where he was rapidly coming to the front rank in his profession, and had made many warm friends among both his patients and brother practitioners. He left Minneapolis and his circle of new found friends in December, 1898, for what was truly a life of exile in the deserts of Arizona,—for only here in a desolate region could he find the climatic conditions suited to his ailment. For the first year and a half in Arizona he served on the medical staff of the Copper Queen Mining Company, in Bisbee. The fumes from the smelters, however, proved deleterious to his health and he was again compelled to leave his growing work and acquaintance. He then settled in Gleason, Arizona, where he followed his profession in a small mining camp until the last year of his life, when he went to Los Angeles.

Those of us who were privileged to see much of him after college days and to form closer ties of friendship in his maturer years recognized in him unusual development of character and attainments,—he had become a man in the best and truest sense,—of broad mind and large heart, displaying an intellectual keenness and versatility which, coupled with a charm of manner, won for him the deepest regard and warmest friendship of those who were so fortunate as to come within the scope of his companionship. He was not only well versed in his professional studies and work, but took time to study and appreciate other lines of human endeavor in literature, art and science. He took an especially keen delight in natural science, and a stroll in his company through the woods and fields ever gave to those with him a new insight into nature's marvelous ways and opened up some new avenue of thought or research. One never spent an hour in his company without feeling that it was an hour well spent and one which had added something to one's appreciation of the beauty and meaning of life. One always felt better for having met him and it was with a keen sense of personal loss that his many friends bade him God speed in his departure in search for health to a section far removed from old friends and congenial associations. But no word of complaint came from him—he accepted the hard conditions of this change with a philosophy and Christian fortitude which was truly surprising, accepting the inevitable with even a show of cheerfulness; and with a courage which did credit to his profession, he never gave himself up to invalidism, but labored with all the earnestness and zeal of which he was capable to make his life a helpful one to others in his new environment. He continued in the practice of his profession as long as he had the strength. His greatest desire throughout his brave battle against approaching death seemed to be that others should not become involved or burdened in his struggle. His death was the direct result of throat trouble following his attack of diphtheria so that he may truly be said to have been a martyr to his profession. To those of us who knew and loved him best his loss cannot be filled.

JAMES WILLARD DUDLEY.

J. H. K.

HERMAN LEROY EDGAR.

The information regarding my family is the same as given you five years ago. My business is Real Estate and especially the management of estates. I have been abroad and in the west since last I wrote you. My home is at Dobbs Ferry, N. Y.

Address: University Club, 1 West 54th St., New York.

CHARLES STANFORD ELGUTTER.

Since Furber's fifth edition of "Who is Who" (1902), my residence at Omaha and my occupation, or as President Eliot would say, vocation, as a lawyer remain unchanged. In the line of my professional duties I am chairman of the Board of Commissioners of Insanity for this county. Some four years ago I was attorney for and a director of the Omaha Auditorium Company, a citizens' movement which accomplished the erection of a $300,000 building accommodating 8,000 persons and built by popular subscription.

Of addresses before public meetings, I have spoken to the students of the Nebraska University on "A Citizen of the United States," and have repeated the address before high schools and local societies.

I had the temerity to publish a dramatic poem "Iphigenia" for private circulation (Press of Clement Chase, Omaha, 1902) founded on the episode at Aulis. If George Pierce Baker will supply the classic atmosphere, my heroine will consent to make her appearance at the Stadium, Commencement, only, at the risk of a June bath.

My little journeys during the past twenty years, I hope to round at Cambridge at our class reunion. May we all meet again.

Address: Bee Building, Omaha, Neb.

EDWARD STANLEY EMERY.

There are only a few changes that I can suggest in my record from the last class report. There has been one child added to my family, Arthur Harris Emery, born in Brookline, March 23, 1905. I joined the Harvard Union as a life member, and would suggest that more of the members of the class of '87 should do so. The dinner given by the New York members of the class of '87 to the outside members of the class, at the Harvard Club of New York, on January 23 of this year, I attended, and shall remember as one of the very enjoyable incidents of the past five years. I wish to express my thanks for the kind and cordial hospitality received from them upon that occasion.

The rest of my doings during the past five years I feel would be of little interest for the class report, so will close with best wishes for all the members of the class of '87.

Address: 23 Court, Boston.

WILLIAM ENDICOTT, Jr.

I am a member of the firm of Kidder, Peabody & Co., whose office I entered July 5, 1887.

I was married on June 11, 1889, to Helen Southworth Shaw.

I am the treasurer of the Perkins Institution and Massachusetts School for the Blind, a trustee of the Children's Hospital, vice-president of the Industrial School for Crippled Children, vice-president of the National Bank of Commerce, and director in the Worcester Trust Company, Union Trust Company of Springfield, Mass., Fitchburg Trust Company, Western Telephone & Telegraph Company, Fore River Shipbuilding Company, Hartford Carpet Corporation and numerous other companies.

Address; 165 Beacon, Boston.

WILLIAM EDWARD FAULKNER.

Has not replied. Is practicing medicine in Boston. Married July 9, 1906, to Rosalie Elizabeth Edwards at Geneva, Switzerland.

Address: 5 Otis Pl., Boston.

EDWARD FISKE.

There is not much material for a report in my case since the last class report was compiled. I have been living, as always, in Weston, and my law office is now at No. 10 Post-Office Square. For the last five years I have been senior partner in the firm of Edward Fiske & Co., leather dealers, with a factory at Whitman, Mass., and a salesroom at 130 Lincoln St., Boston. Have held no offices of "profit, honor or trust," unless I might include the office of School Committee in Weston, which I have held for the last three years.

Address: Weston.

*ROBERT FRANCIS FISKE.

Born December 19, 1864. Died January 24, 1901.

See 5th Report, p. 35.

ELISHA FLAGG.

On August 1st, 1902, I finished my term of service as Surgical House Officer at the Massachusetts General Hospital. From February to August, 1903, I traveled in Germany, Russia, Austria, Italy, Switzerland, France and England, and visited the various hospitals and clinics of interest in the larger cities. In October, 1903, I began the practice of medicine. I was appointed Assistant in Anatomy at the Harvard Medical School the same year. In 1904 I served as Accident Room Surgeon at the Mass. General Hospital and also as District Physician to the Boston Dispensary. During the same year I was appointed Assistant to the Orthopedic Surgeon at the Massachusetts General Hospital, and became assistant to Dr. James G. Mumford in the practice of general surgery, which positions, together with that in Anatomy at the Medical School, I now hold. My permanent address is 190 Commonwealth Avenue, Boston, where I live and have my office. I am a member of the Massachusetts Medical Society, and the American Medical Association. Social clubs: Somerset, Tennis & Racquet in Boston; University, Harvard in New York.

Address: 190 Commonwealth Ave., Boston.

JEFFERSON BUTLER FLETCHER.

1. Became Professor of Comparative Literature at Columbia University in 1903; since which date have naturally lived in New York city.

2. Still kept married, though living in said city.

3. Two children, Jefferson (b. 1902), and Margaret (b. 1898).

4. Century Assoc., Harvard Club.

12. Columbia University; and 112 East 22nd, New York City.

WALTER FORCHHEIMER.

Is practicing medicine in Cincinnati. Is a member of the Cincinnati Golf Club, and Cincinnati University Club.

Address: The Ortiz, 4th and Sycamore, Cincinnati, Ohio.

CHAUNCEY CHARLES FOSTER.

Since the last report residence has continued to be Nashville, Tenn.

In July, 1905, entered the employ of Foster & Creighton, engineers and contractors. January 1st, 1907, this firm was succeeded by the corporation of Foster & Creighton Company, of which he is secretary and treasurer. Office 3 Berry Block, Nashville.

A daughter, Elizabeth Bradford, was born December 12th, 1902.

Travels have been trips between Nashville and New York.

Address: 1702 West End Ave., Nashville, Tenn.

GEORGE WALDO FOSTER.

I still live at 7 Evergreen Ave., Somerville, and carry on the Real Estate business at 42 Court St., Boston, and can only say that the passing of five years has made no particular change.

Address: 7 Evergreen Ave., Somerville.

DITLEW GOTHARDT MONRAD FREDERICKSEN.

During the past five years I have been living in Chicago, but, while practicing law, most of my time personally since 1903 has been taken up with the affairs of a company called Scandinavian-Canadian Land Co., of which I am the president and principal stockholder. We bought a tract of land on the Canadian Northern Railway in Saskatchewan, most of which has now been sold to settlers, who seem to be prospering. We have offices at Chicago, Winnipeg, Manitoba, and Canora, Saskatchewan.

I have made frequent trips from the new stations across the prairies and through the woods, sleeping on the floors of ranchers' houses, hunting land and game, and have found the open air life among Western pioneers very enjoyable. The better I know the West the more delight I take in the total absence of cant, gloss and hypocrisy which meets you wherever you go. We have at present an exploring party in central British Columbia, where several new railroads are going through.

On January 27th, 1903, I was married at Brookline, Mass., to Miss Helen W. Brown, daughter of the late Chas. A. Brown, wood pulp manufacturer of Portland, Me., and wife, Harriet F. Brown. We have one daughter, Christine, born October 4th, 1903. We made a wedding trip to Jamaica, where the negroes have been free a generation longer than ours, and have,—under efficient British rule,—developed into model citizens—in most respects.

I published an article called "The Old Common Law and the New Trusts," appearing in Michigan Law Review December, 1904, arriving at the conclusion that the courts and legislatures have the right to fix maximum prices both for public utility companies and for other concerns enjoying "a virtual monopoly."

Besides my trips to the Northwest I have made numerous trips into Alabama, and last summer a trip to the Gulf Coast country of Texas, going as far South as Brownsville (and Matamoras, Mexico,) a district which is rapidly developing and presents many opportunities.

Address: 810 Teutonic Bldg., 172 Washington, Chicago, Ill.

ROBERT WARNER FROST.

In answer to your piteous appeal of February 15th, requesting more material for the inflation of the class report, I have to say that if I had had anything novel to report I should have done so long ago. I regret to say however that the character of my doings has not changed since my last communication. I am still practicing law in Boston, at 430 Tremont Bldg., my residence is still 47 No. Beacon Street, Allston, Mass. I am still unmarried (which disposes at one blow of several of your questions), I have taken no part in politics, have attained no further degrees, have published no books, pamphlets or anything else, have made no addresses before meetings, public or private, and have made no journeys of any extent anywhere.

My membership in clubs or societies is restricted to the Allston Golf Club and Young Men's Christian Union, of which I am a director. I am special justice in the Municipal Court of the Brighton District of the City of Boston. I suppose this is an office of profit, honor, or trust, within the meaning of question 7. I do not seem to recall any other circumstances or experiences which would interest the class. I regret exceedingly that this is so, but the life of an ordinary lawyer does not seem to be a very romantic one, or an existence teeming with exciting adventures.

Address: 430 Tremont Bldg., Boston.

ALBERT FULLER.

I have very little of interest to add to previous reports given you for your use in preparing the class report.

You already have a record of my marriage, in 1898, to Martha Williams Crane of Taunton. We have no children.

Since the graduation of our class I have lived in Taunton all of the time, and since 1890 have practiced law here. From 1893 to 1903 I was clerk of the First District Court of Bristol, but in 1903 I resigned that office and since that time have devoted my time entirely to my profession. [Associated with William J. Davidson in the firm of Fuller & Davidson.]

Address: 5 City Sq., Taunton.

GEORGE POPE FURBER.

Since the last report I have continued my connection with the Law Department of the Boston & Albany Railroad though the death of the general counsel, Samuel Hoar, three years ago, has led to a considerable change in my duties and responsibilities. In 1903 I moved from Brookline to Concord. My family now includes three children, Edward Parker, born January 2, 1898; Harold Parker, born January 13, 1903, and Frances Hoar, born August 8, 1905. I am a member of the Union Club of Boston.

Address: 2 Elm, Concord.

WILLIAM FRANCIS GANONG.

In reply to your letter of January 17, I have very little to say, as my status in every respect is almost identical with that of my report of five years ago. I am in the same business, college professor, which I follow in great content. I have stayed (or is it staid?) married,—from force of habit, one of my friends says. I have no more children, which makes a sum total of 0, and I am ashamed to look President Roosevelt or President Eliot in the eye. I am a member of some clubs and societies, but none to make me an object of envy to my classmates. I have kept out of politics, for the country's good. Nobody has offered me any office of profit, honor or trust, else I would doubtless be holding some. I haven't any more degrees, but still have hopes. I have published a number of "pamphlets and articles," but as all are decently buried and properly forgotten I think it more reverent not to resurrect them. I don't give any more addresses before public meetings than I can help, having come to the conclusion that the public prefers another sort of entertainment. I do not make any journeys in this and other countries that I can avoid, partly because your railroads smash one up so. My permanent address is as before. The only other circumstances or experiences which would interest my classmates are of a kind that I don't tell in public.

Address: 11 Massasoit, Northampton.

ALFRED AUGUSTUS GARDNER.

Since the last report I have continued to practice law in New York City. My daughter, Martha Willetts Gardner, died March 8, 1904. A daughter, Emily Atwater Gardner, was born November 13, 1905.

Address: Roslyn, Long Island, N. Y.

EDGAR MALCOLM GARNETT.

The lack of moral courage or of moral perception, or of both, on the part of many of my "friends" forces me to omit from this break in my long silence facts without a thorough explanation of which I regard anything I can say as valueless either to the class or to myself. That may sound as queer as a sentence of Henry James, but it is nevertheless an easily provable truth. I state it chiefly for the sake of those of my classmates who may have heard only enough of my story since my last serio-comic effusion in 1893 to believe the contemptible falsehoods my "friends" have allowed to remain unanswered all these years.

This enforced silence is more than regrettable. The truthful narration, which I am ready at any time to give any one sufficiently interested and unbiased to appreciate it, would, if understood, throw some instructive side lights on lovely human nature in general and on those phases of it in particular that are the special pride of a large class of mamilia allowed to pose as "ladies and gentlemen"—in fact, to constitute our "best set." This is neither a very cheerful nor an edifying strain. But as no just person—if there be such a curiosity alive—familiar with the real facts of the case, with the colossal and outrageous bluffs of which I was made the victim could write of them in any other vein it is better, for the present at least, to say nothing of the class, to omit them. Suffice it to say, therefore, that if any member has heard of a deal that in criminal injustice passes human belief he will kindly cube it and then raise it to the nth. power to get an approximation to what I am expected to endure without a murmur. This, again, may sound extravagant—; but it happens to be well within the facts of the case.

To answer your questions as briefly as possible—omitting the most important details to which I have so calmly referred—my experiences since 1893 have been varied enough to suit most tastes. In that year I recovered enough of my digestive apparatus to permit me to think of something else. Thenceforth my efforts to remain alive led me successively into an unsuccessful run for the assistant appraisership of the port of San Francisco, then into journalism and next into mining in Plumas and Sierra county. But the false and insufferable position in which some of my "friends" had placed me as early as 1895 made it extremely difficult for me to care very much what happened. From 1902 to 1904, inclusive, I tried St. Louis for a change of scene and, if possible, of luck. After four months, however, of fairly successful attempts to persuade the St. Louisans to buy March's Thesaurus; eight months with the Simmons Hdw. Co'y., and the remainder of my stay, at the World's Fair, where my good friend and classmate, Jimmy Allison, persuaded me to act as one of his assistants in running his admittance machines. I found that the insufferable climate of St. Louis and I could not agree. This discovery and my desire to try once more to get a modicum of justice from my "friends" in California, in a matter that meant everything I valued most in life, prompted me to return to this God's country—in ample time to be almost shaken out of what little skin St. Louis had left on my bones by that little seismic joke of April 18th.

The attempt to get the justice has failed, as I surmised it would, though by a very narrow margin. But my health has been sufficiently restored by this glorious climate and by the interesting work in which I am engaged to give me something like a new zest for life. I now hope to continue the good work for some years and to break again into the fields of "literature."

so-called, or into any other that may seem promising or conducive to the sort of oblivion I seek. This work is, briefly, the promotion of intercollegiate boating on the Pacific Coast. I have succeeded so far as to bring about this year on Richardson's Bay, off Sausalito, the first eight-oared shell race ever rowed in this end of the world. The whole subject will be treated in my article for the Pacific Monthly in July.

I have been coaching the four-oared crews of the University of California, our largest and best institution on this coast, for the last three years—with very gratifying results. Our coxswained fours have easily won the coast championship, and over accurately measured courses beaten the best eastern records under slower conditions than obtained when the latter were made. But this year our eights arrived from Cornell too late to enable us to prepare for our triangular regatta with Stanford and Washington.

I have long maintained that the ideal system of rowing has not yet appeared, and that for years faulty methods have been taught the world over. It is one of my aims to develop this perfect stroke. It is also a pleasure to upset the many idiotic traditions hampering the best development of this aristocrat of sports—among them the one that a man must have rowed on a 'varsity crew to successfully teach sweep rowing.

Another aim of mine is to bring our western universities into closer touch with the eastern by means of this most beautiful form of athletics and thereby greatly benefit the individual, the university and the whole State. I hope to take a winning California eight to Harvard within the next few years, in pursuance of that object. In the interim I shall continue to stimulate our boating spirit until it takes its proper rank among the university activities. The good old "Harvard spirit," the pleasure in doing good for its own sake and the development of the students' aesthetic faculties through the beauty of scientific oarsmanship are not likely to injure this institution.

I have contributed various articles to periodicals and dailies but none I deem of sufficient importance to mention. Needless to say, I am still a bachelor—with the same brilliant prospects of remaining one as were mine when I inflicted that last much debated serio-comic attack upon the "doctors" in 1893. With best regards to the class.

Address: Care Recorder's Office, University of California, Berkeley, Cal.

CARL AUGUST DE GERSDORFF.

I find little to add to my report of five years ago about myself. The life of a busy lawyer in New York is very interesting to himself but not at all so to others. I am still a member of the same firm to which I have belonged for the last twelve years, the firm name now being Cravath, Henderson & De Gersdorff. There have been no births in my family, I regret to say, since the last report, and I am equally glad to say, no deaths.

I am a member of a number of clubs and societies here, but as usual must answer in the negative all questions relating to public and political honors and distinctions. I have been several times to Europe, and have even, a few times, penetrated as far as Boston. Judging from your appearance at our recent dinner those who have remained pickled in the good old undiluted New England atmosphere for the last twenty years have found it a great preservative. We who are exiled, are growing old, but are all coming back to renew our youth in June.

Address: 52 William, New York.

*CHARLES INGALLS GIDDINGS.

Born, October 3, 1865. Died, August 17, 1893. See 4th Report, p. 63.

BANCROFT LANE GOODWIN.

Last January I moved to Norwood, Mass., and am boarding at 18 Linden St. I am still working for H. M. Plimpton & Co., of Norwood. Am not married nor have I done anything politically. I belong to two or three small social organizations in Newton.

My life since the last report has been very quiet and my movements circumscribed.

Address: 18 Linden, Norwood.

JOHN HENRY GRAY.

Same professorship, same title, in same university, same house, same address, same college degrees, same wife, same children (and no more), same activity in local politics and civic duties and if I had enemies they might maliciously and erroneously, say that I was delivering the same old lectures from the same time-worn manuscript.

I completed the official functions committed to me by the United States in 1902 and referred to in our latest class report with great pleasure to myself if not with profit to the United States. The same year (1902) I represented the United States Commissioner of Labor at the International Co-operative Congress at Manchester, England.

I am a charter member of the City Club of Chicago and also of the University Club of Evanston, having signed the original call for the organization meeting in each case. Am now vice-president of the University Club.

I might fill some pages (as I did in our last report) with the list of my more or less ephemeral articles and reviews. The number of such now amounts altogether to 281, but I doubt if the list would edify my classmates.

Perhaps I may mention the following among my writings:

(1) The Regulation and Restriction of Output in Great Britain; a portion (about 200 pages) of the 11th Special Report of the United States Bureau of Labor, 1905.

(2) Home Rule for Chicago; address before the City Club of Chicago. Printed in the Voter, Chicago, February, 1905.

(3) The Control of Quasi-Public Municipal Enterprises; address before the Massachusetts Reform Club, February 2, 1906. Published by the Club, pam. 20 pp.

Reviews (1) The Social Unrest (Brooks) in Atlantic Monthly, April, 1903; (2) Municipal Trade (Darwin), Political Science Quarterly, September, 1904; (3) Municipal Works (Whinery) in Jour. Pol. Econ. September, 1905.

I have occupied a double relation to the investigation undertaken by the National Civic Federation on the subject of Municipal Ownership. In the first place I am a member of the commission of twenty-one in charge of the work. In the next place, I was employed by this commission as an expert to gather the information for all the American plants (except one electric plant), so far as the matter desired was not covered by the technical schedules placed in the hands of trained engineers or chartered accountants, or in the special labor schedule. I was on leave of absence from the university for this purpose the last half of 1905-6. I went to Europe with the commission in May, 1906, taking Mrs. Gray with me —since the field work on this investigation was done, I have compiled all the American material except the labor schedules for the commission.

Address: 1827 Orrington Ave., Evanston, Ill.

WILLIAM TRAVERS GRAY.

Has not replied.

Address: Niagara-on-the-Lake, Ontario, Canada.

HARRIS GRAFTON HALE.

I still continue my residence in Brookline, Mass., where I celebrated in November, 1906, my tenth anniversary as pastor of the Leyden Congregational Church. I am holding at present the position of Director of the Congregational Education Society, and of one or two other denominational boards. At present, President of the Andover Theological Seminary Alumni Association.

In 1905 I published from the Pilgrim Press a book called "Who Then is This?" or "A Study of the Personality of Jesus"; also in 1906 in collaboration with a friend twelve pamphlets called "Biblical Dramas."

The summer of 1903 Mrs. Hale and I spent in England and Scotland, and the summer of 1906 in California and the Canadian Rockies.

Address: Brookline, Mass.

FRANKLIN ELMER ELLSWORTH HAMILTON.

Since the last issue of the class report, I have continued in the routine work of a city pastor of a down-town church. Needless to say the years have been full of duties and cares. During this time, however, with my family, I had the privilege of taking a trip around the world. We visited the Azores, Spain, Italy, Switzerland, Austria, Greece, Turkey, Syria, Egypt, Ceylon, India, Burmah, Malay States, China, Japan, Hawaii, and so home by the way of the Yellowstone Park. This trip took about a year and a half. On my return, I was elected a member of the "Ends of the Earth" Club. In politics I was involved in a famous fight to carry Boston for Local Option.

I have been elected a member of the Board of Visitors of Boston University. I have written many articles on travel which I now am putting together for a book. In my work as a minister I constantly am addressing public meetings in the interests of social, educational and religious affairs. I send cordial greetings to all members of the class, and wish for each and all the very best things. [May, 1907, was elected to succeed Bishop McCabe as Chancellor of the American University, the new post-graduate University which the Methodist Episcopal Church is building at Washington and has accepted.]

Address: 66 Mt. Vernon, Boston.

ALPHEUS SUMNER HARDY.

There is nothing to report except that I have been living in New York for the last four years, being engaged in the rubber manufacturing business. The only occurrence of interest being a trip to Central America to go over a rubber plantation in Nicaragua. From Nicaragua I went to Port Limon, Costa Rica and made the very interesting trip up to San Jose, the capital. I came back by a fruit steamer to Boston and enjoyed the voyage immensely.

Address: 18 Vesey, New York, or 445 Beacon, Boston.

AUGUSTUS STORY HASKELL.

Points one and twelve are the only ones showing any change for me in the past five years.

At the time of the last report I was superintendent of the Mountain Copper Company's smelter at Keswick, California. With them in the same position I remained until November, 1904, when I went for the same company to superintend the building of a new plant at Martinez, California. Remained with the same company until May 22nd, 1906, when I came to Kennett as smelter superintendent of the Mammoth Copper Mining Company. In September, 1906, I was appointed to my present position of assistant manager.

I belong to the Masonic Order, being a member of Martinez Lodge, No. 41, Martinez Chapter, No. 31, and Naval Commandery of Knights Templar, No. 19, under the California jurisdiction.

I have cherished a hope to be present at our twentieth reunion this year, but fear I shall not be able to get away for the trip. I therefore greet you all and invite you one and all to stop off at Kennett in any of your western trips and see how we produce copper in California.

Address: Kennett, California.

*MAURICE HECKSCHER.

Born November 22d, 1865. Died September 29th, 1905.

There was someone at Commencement last year who was lamenting the fact that '87 had few distinguished men. "What are we to do," he said, "when we have been out of college 25 years? We have produced no President of the United States, we wont be able to raise even $100,000, we have no millionaires!"

This may be cause for regret, but why not recognize what we have? It is given to very few to be distinguished but each one of us must face his own life, not envy that of another. If cheerfulness, if sweetness of mind, if courage in the teeth of suffering carry any lesson, any help for us we have had at least two men in '87 who have possessed these qualities. One was Kuhn, the other was Maurice Heckscher.

Heckscher was born in 1865. He was educated in private schools in Philadelphia; was active, attractive and intelligent as a boy and was graduated at college with a cum laude. Most of the class knew him well; his bright face was always welcome and his gift of music made him a valuable addition to any gathering of his friends.

After graduation he went at once into the iron business, the occupation of his father, and was Treasurer of the firm at his death. He married in 1893, Miss Constance Spencer, who with two daughters, survives him. His life was simple, industrious, affectionate and given to His family. He bought a place near Bryn Mawr, in the cultivation and improvement of which he took much interest and pleasure.

About six months before his death he had an attack of what the doctors called sciatica, from which he partially recovered. It then grew worse and he was sent to the Virginia Hot Springs. There the pain increased and he returned and was taken to Bryn Mawr Hospital, where it was discovered that he was suffering from a trouble called myelitis, the formation of small tumors between the vertebrae of the spine. He was taken home and after lingering through the rest of the summer, died. In nearly constant pain, so great that opiates had little effect, he kept his brightness and bravery to the last. No reason for the physical horror that visited him was given. The doctors said it was hopeless; they did not know what caused it. In the face of this the sufferer showed no bitterness, no terror. He met his battle with fortitude and resignation. Let us remember that too with his laughter, his vivacity, his interest in life.

MAURICE HECKSCHER.

H. G. B.

WILLIAM COLLINS HERRON.

Has not reported.

*WILLIAM ANDREW HERVEY.

Born September 8, 1864. Died October 28, 1906.

William Andrew Hervey, son of Dr. Alpheus Baker, and Sarah Eliza (Andrew) Hervey, was born in Southbridge, Mass. He prepared for college at Bristol Academy, Taunton. In October, 1887, he became connected with the Brooklyn Daily Eagle and continued on the staff of that paper for twelve years. He was actively interested in politics and the Democratic party and during the last of his service on the Eagle was assigned to political work. January 3, 1900, he gave up newspaper work and became Assistant Inspector of Combustibles in the New York Fire Department. Later he was made Deputy Superintendent of the Bureau of Combustibles, and held that position until his death. When the Spanish War broke out, Hervey, who had for some time been active in the New York National Guard, was commissioned Captain and Commissary of the 114th Regiment, N. G. S., N. Y. expecting to see active service, but other commands were selected and Hervey's regiment was mustered out in December, 1898.

He died at a private sanitarium in Brooklyn after a protracted illness.

The Brooklyn Eagle says of him: "Probably no man who has done newspaper work in Brooklyn in recent years had a wider circle of acquaintances than he. His illness was long, and at periods a painful one, yet he bore it with a cheerful courage that was characteristic of him."

LOUIS HICKS.

During the past five years I have devoted myself to the practice of the law in the city of New York. I have continued to be especially interested in patent litigation, although, as formerly, I have been continuously occupied with general practice. In May, 1906, I removed my office to 71 Nassau Street in the city of New York from No. 25 Pine Street, where I had been since the time when I began practice of the law, on my own account, in October, 1893. I have not entered into any copartnership. My experience of the past five years is that the active practice of the law in the city of New York, though arduous, is interesting and stimulating in a high degree.

My family has remained unchanged during the past five years and consists of myself, my wife and boy, Hamilton, who is now a little over eleven years of age and filled with the idea of entering Harvard College and, after college, the Harvard Law School. Although we have continued our residence at Highwood Station in the city of Englewood, New Jersey, we have made it a point to reside in the city of New York during the winter months, finding that the combination of the country and the city affords a diversity of interest and association which has been most pleasing to us.

I have joined no additional clubs or societies and have taken no part in politics, although my interest therein has continued as strong as ever. So far, the demands of my profession have not permitted me to take an active part in political matters.

Filed away in the law libraries and in the records of the courts are many printed briefs and records which I have industriously prepared; but I have neither written nor published any book, pamphlet or article of a general character.

In the summer of 1906, during the month of July, together with my wife and boy, I made the greater part of the trip through the Adirondack lakes which, in the summer of 1891, I made with Bailey, '88. The combination of forest and stream had lost none of its beauty or attraction. I was present at the dinner given at the Harvard Club in the city of New York on the evening of January 25, 1907, by the New York members of our class to our classmates from neighboring cities and places. The renewal of old associations, after the lapse of nearly twenty years, was one of the most enjoyable events in which I have had the pleasure of participating. About sixty of the class were present, a fine body of good fellows, and it was most interesting to observe the cordial greetings exchanged when the changes made by twenty years had been penetrated and mutual recognition ensued.

My permanent residence is in the city of New York.

Address: 71 Nassau, New York City, or Highwood, N. J.

GEORGE HIGGINSON.

After my last report I continued with the Metropolitan West Side Elevated Ry. Co. in Chicago as vice-president, secretary and treasurer until June 1st, 1905, when I resigned, and since then have not engaged in active business.

On January 21st, 1903, a daughter, Emily, was born here in Winnetka.

On December 30th, 1903, my sister and my oldest child and only living son, Roger Griswold, were victims of the Iroquois Theatre disaster. He would have been ten years of age on February 2nd, 1904.

I am a member of the University, Chicago, City, Saddle & Cycle, Church, Skokie Country and Winnetka Clubs, also the Harvard Clubs of Chicago and New York and the Harvard Union; Warden of Christ Church (Episcopal) at Winnetka, member of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew, president of the Allendale Association, which maintains a country home for orphaned and friendless boys, director in Illinois Children's Home and Aid Society and in the Children's Memorial Hospital in Chicago; was president of the Harvard Club of Chicago in 1904.

Spent ten months in Europe with my wife and children from November, 1905, till September, 1906, seven of the ten months being spent in Italy.

I am now living on a sixty-acre farm and spending a good deal of my time getting close to nature, a most fascinating pursuit. I cannot think that the above details are of much interest but your questions are answered.

Address: Winnetka, Ill.

JOSEPH BAKER HILEMAN.

Has not reported.

*WILLIAM CHARLES HILLEBRAND.

Born April 5, 1867. Died July, 1899.

The only information about him which the secretary has been able to get is the following from a letter of Forchheimer of July 22, 1902:

"Hillebrand married Mrs. Ada Dietrich of Cincinnati. I have not been able to ascertain the exact date of this marriage. A son, Karl, was born to them, and has been living abroad with his mother since the death of Hillebrand, which occurred in July, 1899. The poor boy died of a malignant tumor of the liver. An exploratory incision was made by the surgeon in charge, and as soon as he recognized the state of things, he came to the conclusion that the case was a hopeless one. Certainly a very untimely ending for one of Hillebrand's physique."

CHARLES FRANK HOOVER.

Has not reported.

Address: 282 Prospect, Cleveland, Ohio.

SILAS ARNOLD HOUGHTON.

There have been no events in my life worthy of recording during the past five years. I have continued in the general practice of medicine in Brookline. The pleasantest and most satisfactory part of my work has been the association with the families of the many '87 men whom it has been my privilege to attend.

Address: 14 Pleasant, Brookline.

MARK ANTONY DE WOLF HOWE.

1. Residence: 26 Brimmer Street, Boston. Occupation: Associate editor, The Youth's Companion, Boston.

2. Marriage (previously reported): to Fanny Huntington Quincy, daughter of Josiah Phillips and Helen F. (Huntington) Quincy, September 21, 1899.

3. Children: Quincy Howe, born August 17, 1900; Helen Frances, born January 11, 1905; Mark DeWolf, born May 22, 1906.

5. Member Tavern Club of Boston, Massachusetts Historical Society.

9. Published (since last report): "Boston, the Place and the People." New York: The Macmillan Co., 1903.

12. Address: The Youth's Companion Office, 201 Columbus Ave., Boston.

WILLARD BEAN HOWE.

Work on the Burlington Free Press continues to be my occupation and, as I own control of the company publishing this paper, it seems likely that my address will continue to be Burlington, Vt., as long as I am in active business.

Two children have been born to us since the last report; Edward Gilman Howe, January 19, 1903, and Laurence Prescott Howe, November 25, 1905. Of our seven children four are boys and all seven seem to be vigorous in mind and in body.

This city is the gateway for tourists passing from the Adirondacks to the White Mountains or to the Maine coast, so that occasional calls from classmates are pleasant events that cannot occur too often.

Address: Free Press, Burlington, Vt.

GORHAM HUBBARD.

My residence and permanent address have not changed. During the last five years I have travelled more or less, both here and in Europe; and my life has been an uneventful one up to within four months ago.

On September 8th, 1906, at my summer residence at Campobello, I had a daughter born, Elizabeth Lyman Hubbard, and on September 20th, twelve days later, I suffered the sad blow of my wife's death.

Member of the following clubs: Somerset, Tennis & Racquet, Country, St. Botolph.

Address: 210 Beacon, Boston.

CHARLES HUDSON.

Has not reported.

Address: Borden Blk., Chicago, Ill.

FREDERICK EVERETT HUGHES.

Has not reported. The secretary is informed that he is not in business of any kind except so far as he may have mining and other interests. He has lived at Santa Cruz and Santa Barbara, Cal., Victoria, B. C., and for a time in England. He is now living with his wife and family in Ireland, where he has been for about a year. About two years ago he was in Boston for a short time.

Address: "Charlesfort," Ferns, County Wexford, Ireland.

ATHERTON NASH HUNT.

Since the publication of the last report of the class of '87, I have continued the practice of law. I am still associated with Joseph W. Lund, the secretary of the class of '90, but in October, 1903, we moved from 40 Water St. to 84 State St. My permanent home address is Braintree, Mass., and the only change that has taken place in my family is the addition of a son, Richard Atherton, born April 6th, 1902.

There is no other fact of interest which I can contribute to your fund of information, but I cannot refrain from a word of appreciation of the spirit, hospitality and good fellowship displayed by the New York members in the evening's entertainment which they tendered the class on January 25th at the Harvard Club in New York City. The older we get the more we ought to recognize the significence of such events.

Address: 84 State, Boston.

THOMAS HUNT.

I have for the past five years continued the practice of the law in Boston, my own personal work consisting chiefly of the preparation, trial and argument of cases and the writing of opinions. Member of the firm of Gaston, Snow & Saltonstall, the partners being William A. Gaston, Frederic E. Snow, Richard M. Saltonstall and Thomas Hunt.

A son, Carleton, was born July 23, 1903.

Address: Shawmut Bank Bldg., 82 Devonshire, Boston.

FRANCIS CLEAVELAND HUNTINGTON.

Residence, New York, N. Y. Member of firm of Huntington, Rhinelander & Seymour, lawyers, formerly Huntington &

Rhinelander (T. N. Rhinelander '87). Origen S. Seymour (Yale) joined the firm in 1905.

June 15, 1904, married Susan Louisa Butler, daughter of the late Prescott Hall Butler of New York. Has two sons on their way to Harvard, Prescott Butler Huntington, born at St. James, Long Island, on July 26, 1905, and William Reed Huntington, 2nd, born at New York city on January 28, 1907.

House address 143 East 38th St., N. Y. City.

Address: 54 William, N. Y. City.

BYRON SATTERLEE HURLBUT.

The story of the last five years is very simple and very happy. I cannot realize that so much time has passed. The "College job," ill as I have done in it, is the most interesting and inspiring in the world—a privilege. Personally, too, great happiness is mine. I have been allowed to join the majority and am the proud possessor of a wife and two sons.

Married at Beverly, Mass., July 12, 1904, to Eda Adams Woolson, daughter of James Adams and Annie Williston (Dickinson) Woolson. A son, James Woolson, was born June 15, 1905, and a second son, David Huntington, was born May 18, 1907.

Address: 32 Quincy, Cambridge.

LOUIS FISKE HYDE.

Has continued to practice law in Boston. At present is traveling in Europe with his family.

Address: 528 Tremont Bldg., Boston.

JAMES MARSH JACKSON.

I have nothing new to report. I am living at 230 Beacon Street, Boston, and I am still in the practice of medicine. I have had two children: Elinor, born March 15, 1901; Dorothy, born March 25, 1904; Dorothy died November 28, 1906.

Address: 230 Beacon, Boston.

LESLY AUGUSTIN JOHNSON.

January 1st, 1903, I became a member of the firm of Messrs. Luce & Manning, wool merchants, with whom I have been associated since June, 1887. My present partners are Francis H. Manning and Matthew Luce, class 1891. My business takes me annually to San Francisco, and other parts of the far West, and I was fortunate last April in having missed the earthquake there; this however, by but about forty-eight hours. Our interests also generally necessitate a yearly trip to London from which I have just returned at this writing. February, 1904, we moved our business to our present quarters, 283 Summer Street.

My life here in Boston is very quiet. I am unmarried, and keep house with some five others in the same state of blessed singleness, at 140 Beacon Street; among my associates are Palmer, '88, Fessenden, '90, Frothingham, '94, and Lawrence, 1902. I continue a member of the Union Club of Boston.

Address: 283 Summer, Boston.

LEWIS JEROME JOHNSON.

Since the last report, I have continued to live in Cambridge actively engaged in civil engineering practice of various kinds. My chief duties have been those of Assistant Professor and Professor of Civil Engineering at Harvard. In addition to these, I have given considerable attention to outside professional practice, including an active participation in the design and construction of the Stadium, and general consulting work specially in the line of reinforced concrete. Since March 1, 1905, I have been regularly retained as Consulting Engineer of the Underwriters Engine and Construction Company, 1170 Broadway, New York, of which Mr. Frank B. Gilbreth is president. I have been and am still devoting all my available time to researches in reinforced concrete construction, and other professional topics.

I was married, June 27, 1893, in Evanston, Illinois, to Grace Allen Fitch, daughter of Appleton Howe and Elizabeth Harriet (Bennett) Fitch. Have two sons, Jerome Allen, born July 21, 1896, and Chandler Willard, born November 24, 1902.

I am member of the following clubs and societies: American Society of Civil Engineers, Boston Society of Civil Engineers, American Society for Testing Materials, Society for the Promotion of Engineering Education (Councillor, 1903-1905), Harvard Engineering Society, American Academy of Arts and Sciences (Councillor 1904-1906), Boston Authors' Club, Harvard Union, Arlington Golf Club, Good Government League of Cambridge, Anti-Imperialist League, Massachusetts Referendum League, National Geographic Society, American Forestry Association, Gesellschaft der chem. Stud. des eidg. Polytechnikums Zurich and perhaps some others.

In politics, I have voted at every opportunity as nearly in the line of my sympathies as the circumstances would permit, but I have not found the docile selection between the nominees of the rings and interests very exhilarating. At the same time I am glad to record the pleasure I have taken in voting for Congressman McCall. I believe that the time has come for the people to supplement their practice of voting for men with the practice of voting on measures. Hence, I favor the adoption of direct legislation through the initiative and referendum, much as it is practiced in the most prosperous cantons of Switzerland. I confidently hope that, by thus completing their control over their own affairs, our citizenship will make steady progress towards emancipation from the reign of legalized privilege, and the establishment of equality of economic opportunity which seem to me the great moral and political desiderata of our time.

In answer to your seventh suggestion, I held an appointment as Assistant Professor of Civil Engineering till September 1, 1906—the close of ten years' service in that capacity. Then my appointment as Professor of Civil Engineering (which had been voted the preceding spring) went into effect. I find I am the first to hold a professorship with this designation in this university.

I served two terms (1900-1902) as President of the Harvard Co-operative Society.

Have written and published: Statics by Algebraic and Graphic Methods, John Wiley & Sons, N. Y., 1903; Wind Stresses in Railway Bridges, Harvard Engin. Jour., November, 1902. Determination of Unit Stresses in the General Case of Flexure. Jour. Assoc. Engin. Societies, May 1902. Design of the Steel-Concrete Work of the Harvard Stadium, Ibid. June, 1904. Materials and Design of the Harvard Stadium, Harvard Engin. Jour. June, 1904. New Data on the Weight of a Crowd of People, Jour. Assoc. of Engin. Societies, January, 1905. An Analysis of General Flexure in a Straight Bar of Uniform Cross-Section, Trans. Am. Soc. Civil Engineers, Vol. LVI, pp. 169-196.

My public addresses have been confined to professional and university topics before Harvard and other social clubs, and papers and discussions before engineering societies.

Have made no journeys worth noting.

Address: 90 Raymond, Cambridge.

FRANCIS RICHARD JONES.

Is practicing law in Boston. Married June 7, 1905, at Philadelphia, to Helen Steel, daughter of the late Edward Thomas and Anna Justin Steel.

Address: 84 State, Boston.

LOMBARD CARTER JONES.

My residence since the last report continues the same, and I have contracted no marriages, had no children and none have died. In April, 1902, became a fellow of the Royal Geographical Society. Have taken no part in politics and all honors and degrees have been conspicuously absent, neither have I published anything or made addresses. Have been on several shooting trips each year, including one to Virginia and the others to different parts of Massachusetts.

Address: Malden.

FRANK EDGE KAVANAGH.

Nothing to add to the last report except that he has received from New York University the degrees of Master of Pedagogy and Doctor of Pedagogy.

Address: New York University, New York, N. Y.

HIRAM GILLETT KEAYS.

The last request of the Class Secretary for information about myself I neglected to answer. Since 1892 I have been farming at Cornland and Elkhart, Illinois. In 1896 I was married to Lucy Herod of Indianapolis, Indiana, daughter of William Wirt Herod and Susan Rogers Herod. We have two children, John Dean Gillett Keays, born February 2, 1898, and Elizabeth Rogers Keays, born March 25, 1902. I have been a delegate to several county conventions and to two state conventions of the republican party; also I was appointed by the Governor a delegate to the Farmers' National Congress in Macon, Georgia, in 1902, and to the National Live Stock Association meeting in Kansas City in 1903. The adjoining states have been the limit of my travels from home. I am a member of the Harvard Club of Chicago.

Address: Elkhart, Illinois.

*ROGER WOLCOTT KEEP.

Born October 27, 1865. Died June 6, 1897. See 4th Report, p. 84.

*CHRISTIAN KESTNER.

Born March 4, 1866. Died November 11, 1906.

Christian Kestner, son of George L. and Catherine Kestner, and of German descent, was born at Lewisville, Ohio, March 4, 1866. His parents settled later in Reading, Pa., where the greater part of his childhood was spent and where he attended a school known as the Stewart Academy. During the summer of 1883 he spent some months in Cambridge, under the tuition of Josiah Bridge, '84, and passed the examinations for admission that autumn. His preparation for college was, however, far from adequate, and left him at serious disadvantage in the work of the freshman year. As the result of early associations almost exclusively German, he labored under the additional disadvantage of lack of entire familiarity with the English language. Indeed, it was distinctly to his credit that, under the existing circumstances, he succeeded in passing the admission examinations when he did, in maintaining his place in the class and in taking his degree in due course.

Kestner, though full of a sturdy independence, was of retiring disposition, modest, unassuming and disposed to underrate his own abilities, and he came to Cambridge entirely without acquaintances or associations of any kind there. In college he made but few real friends, and those slowly, and not a great many acquaintances. His closest friend in the class, and, during the Senior year his chum, was Sternberg, who was also from Reading, Pa. He had some good friends in the class of '88, Sempers and Ullrich in particular.

The elective courses to which his tastes led him were in History, Political Economy and Philosophy, and in these, particularly in History, he attained a desirable rank.

In June, 1887, immediately after the final examinations, Kestner and Sternberg went together to Europe, with the purpose of attending German universities. Kestner spent one semester at Berlin and three at Heidelberg, and, during the summers, in company with Sternberg, he traveled extensively in Europe, and to some extent in Africa. They returned together to Cambridge in the fall of 1889 and entered the Harvard Law School, where Kestner remained for two years.

In 1891 he went to Denver, Colorado, where Sternberg was already settled, to begin there the practice of the law, returning to the East in August of 1892, to marry Miss Helen Louise McCarthy of Torrington, Conn., whose acquaintance he had made a number of years before. Returning then to Denver with his wife, he continued in practice there until September of 1893, when, on the very day of the birth of his daughter Helen, he was run over by a cable car and so seriously injured as to endanger his life and make him permanently lame.

As soon as he was able to bear the journey he was taken by his family to Reading and, after some years of practice as a lawyer there, removed to the home of his wife in Connecticut, and there settled.

The injuries sustained in his sad accident incapacitated him entirely for active employment for a considerable period, and he was never afterward in really robust health. He died at Reading, November 11, 1906, of Bright's disease, leaving a widow and daughter.

That Kestner was not more widely and more intimately known among the members of the class was their loss no less than his own. The singular simplicity and independence of his character, his kind heart, absolute frankness and sincerity, his open-handed generosity, and an unfailing loyalty and affection for those he held really his friends, necessarily endeared him to all whose relations with him were sufficiently close to enable them to know and to appreciate these qualities.

T. H.

HENRY WILDER KEYES.

Has not reported.

Married June 8, 1904, at Newbury, Vt., to Frances Parkinson Wheeler.

Address: North Haverhill, N. H.

GEORGE WASHINGTON KIMBALL.

Has not reported.

GEORGE PERKINS KNAPP.

Writes from Harpoot, Turkey-in-Asia.

During the past five years though I have travelled considerably about my "parish" of fifty thousand square miles, I have not gone outside its limits. Last year I was out touring for ten successive weeks. On these occasions I study the needs of the communities, preach, and inspect their schools. Last winter I was interpreter for a Swedish evangelist who visited here, in some forty addresses. I am chairman of the Co-operative Committee, made up of Americans, Germans, and Armenians, which looks after the evangelistic and educational interests of this field and has regular monthly sessions. I am also on the Board of Managers of Euphrates College. In the Theological School now in its third year, I teach Church History. I continue to be the treasurer of the Mission Station, and to be in charge of the orphanage work which was started some ten years ago. Of the fourteen hundred orphans that have been under our care during this time four hundred are left. Quite a sizeable orphanage and industrial plant has been built up. Chief among the industries is the making of oriental rugs by the girls. Those of you who have visited Washington lately have perhaps seen in the diplomatic anteroom of the Department of State the double faced silk flag rug which they made in token of gratitude to the American people. We have some funds towards buying a farm, where, in a land of patriarchal methods we expect to introduce scientific methods in connection with American implements. Our boys have already made a successful beginning in silk raising. In time we hope the farm will develop into an Agricultural School which will be affiliated with Euphrates College. You may be interested to know that I am "foreign pastor" of the Windsor Avenue Church, Hartford, Conn., of which H. E. Peabody is pastor.

A third daughter, Katherine Barnum, was born to us here on May 11th, 1902. Our eldest daughter we sent to America two years ago, where she is attending the Cambridge Latin School. Our only son we expect to send to the homeland this summer.

Letters may always be sent care of the American Board, 14 Beacon St., Boston.

JOHN HOLLY KNAPP.

In answer to your recent circular letter will say that I moved from Menominee, Wisconsin, to West Newton, Mass., about four years ago, at which time I deserted the practice of law for business and I am at present director in the Power Speed Controller Company and also in The New England Associates, being actively interested in the last named corporation, which is engaged in a general mining and mining engineering business.

I have added no further laurels to my career as a husband and father since my last report, still having but two children. My boy, John H. Jr., is now in the Hill School at Pottstown, Pa., and will take his preliminary examinations for Harvard in June of this year to enter with the class of 1912.

I am a member of the Neighborhood Club, and also of the Brae Burn Club, of West Newton, and am a member of the University Club, of Boston. Since leaving Wisconsin I have taken no active part in politics nor have I filled any offices of great profit, honor or trust. I pursued a post-graduate course at Harvard in Philosophy and Economics in 1904-5, for the purpose of familiarizing myself with the advances made in these subjects since my college course.

Last June I went out to the Pacific coast by way of the Canadian Pacific R. R., stopping at Banff, Laggan Field and Glacier, the main points of interest in the Canadian National Park. The mountain scenery here is the finest I have ever seen, not excepting Switzerland. After a day in Vancouver I went down the Sound to Seattle, from there to Portland and into Northern California, returning east by the Northern Pacific R. R., taking the trip through Yellowstone Park on my way.

Address Menominee, Wisconsin, or 50 Congress, Boston.

AUGUSTUS SMITH KNIGHT.

My residence and occupation are the same as at last report. I have been Medical Director of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company here in New York City since the fall of 1899. My office is at 1 Madison Avenue and my home address 401 West End Avenue.

The only other positions to which I have been elected are those of Director in Metropolitan Bank of New York and in the Federal Trust Company at Newark, New Jersey. My club membership includes the Harvard Club, the Players, the Harvard Union and the University Club of Boston.

Address: 1 Madison Ave., New York, N. Y.

JOHN WEBSTER KNOWLES.

The only change in the last report is the addition of two births, John Edison Knowles, October 17, 1902, and Laurence Grinnell Knowles, January 2, 1904, and the fact that since early in 1906 have been treasurer of Page Manufacturing Co., a new cotton mill here in New Bedford.

Address: 10 Orchard, New Bedford.

*HAMILTON KUHN.

Born January 3, 1866. Died January 27, 1902. See 5th Report, p. 63.

GEORGE EDGAR LADD.

Since my last report my residence has continued to be Rolla, Missouri, and my occupation the directorship of the Missouri School of Mines and Metallurgy. The only diversion I have had from the strenuous life here has been through the troubles of the superintendency of the Missouri Mining Exhibit at the St. Louis Exposition, and the ups and downs of some personal mining propositions in the lead and zinc fields of this state.

I am glad to report myself and family in good health.

I have published no books, barring a pamphlet on the Minerals and Mining Industry of Missouri, and have taken no active part in politics, but I intend, in the near future, to write a book on my experiences in state educational work in Missouri. The subject will perhaps be "The Relation of Politics and Demagoguery to State Education, or Ten Years of Education Work in the Ozarks."

I have recently resigned my position as Director of the Missouri School of Mines, and shall in the near future devote all of my time to my mining interests in Joplin where I have made, what is said to be, one of the best strikes seen in the district for many years. The name of the mine is the "Midnight," and I am now building there a 200 ton concentrating plant. No stock is for sale but if any of my classmates desire to be "taken in" I know of at least two or three mining schemes in which they could be accommodated.

Address: Rolla, Mo.

*WILLIAM WALTON LINN.

Born July 21, 1861. Died October 24, 1904.

EVERETT STARR LITCHFIELD.

Writes: "There is no material change since the last report." Is a member of the firm of W. G. Rose & Co., insurance brokers, Boston.

Address: 108 Water, Boston.

HENRY JARVIS LIVERMORE.

I have nothing to add to my last report. My family has neither increased nor diminished during the past five years.

I still live in Medford, Massachusetts.

I am still associated with my brother in business, practicing as a solicitor of patents. In December, 1903, we moved our offices from 40 Water Street, Boston, to 110 State Street, Boston, where we are now located.

Address: 110 State, Boston.

MYRON AUGUSTUS LOCHMAN.

I am the same old sixpence but perhaps a little worn about the edges. I am fatter and somewhat balder, and I find it not so easy to touch my toes in my "Matutinal" exercises. My pupils,—at least those fleet enough to escape from approaching wrath,—call me "Pie."

I feel quite old tonight for one of my former pupils has been planning to send me his boy next year.

I am married, but have no children. I have brought up a big lad who in spite of diligent and sometimes painful urging has been unable to pass the Harvard examinations.

Please remember me to all the fellows. I'm going to try to come on in June but may not be able to do so.

Address: Harvard Club, 27 W. 44th, New York.

HOWARD AUGUSTUS LOTHROP.

I am still in the practice of medicine with office at 101 Beacon St. I continue as one of the visiting surgeons of the Boston City Hospital and as an instructor in surgery at the Harvard Medical School. I have written various pamphlets on medical subjects. I still retain membership in the University and St. Botolph Clubs. I am unmarried.

Address: 101 Beacon, Boston.

CHARLES ELIOT LOUD.

Since the date of the last report my residence has been as before at 73 Beacon Street, Boston. I still continue, under the same firm name, Blake & Loud, in the real estate brokerage business with offices at 2 Kilby Street, corner State Street.

I have one child, a daughter, Mary Frances Loud, born May 27th, 1905.

I have taken no prominent part in politics, nor can I record any offices, degrees, publications or addresses.

My only journeys of possible interest have been a short trip with my wife in July and August, 1903, to England, including a few days' stay in Paris, and a three weeks' trip in February, 1906 with my classmates, Lesly A. Johnson and Charles E. Shattuck to Jamaica and thence from Santiago through the Island of Cuba to Havana.

I am a member of the Union Club of Boston, the Oakley and Tedesco Country Clubs, the Union Boat Club, and the Eastern and Corinthian Yacht Clubs.

After over fourteen years of service, I resigned my commission as an officer in the First Corps Cadets, M. V. M., May 1st, 1905, and retain now only my Honorary and Veteran Association memberships.

Address: 2 Kilby, Boston.

*LINN LUCE.

Born January 21, 1866. Died December 24, 1903.

Luce was born in Auburn, Maine, and was prepared for college in the public schools of Auburn and Lewiston, Maine, and at Phillips

Exeter Academy. After leaving college he resided in Boston until 1893, when he went to New York. There he remained until 1897. From New York he went to Denver. Returning from Denver to Boston in 1899, he spent the next two years in that city and then, in 1901, moved to New York, where he remained until his death. He married Alice Baker. They had one son, Ralph, born in October, 1895.

The following is taken from "Press and Printer" of January 9, 1904:

"Linn Luce, the founder of the Press Clipping Bureau and probably the most expert reader of newspapers in the world, died Thursday, Dec. 24, at his home in New York from tuberculosis after a lingering and painful illness.

"Mr. Luce was a son of Judge Enos T. Luce of Waltham, and a brother of Robert Luce of Boston. In conjunction with the latter, Linn Luce started the Press Clipping Bureau fifteen years ago. The enterprise was so successful that in 1893 an office was opened in New York under Mr. Luce's supervision and in 1897 he extended the scope of the business to Denver.

"When Mr. Luce began the business of furnishing press clippings, the industry was in its earliest stages, and its scope was limited to the ornamental side—like that of furnishing social and literary people with press comments upon themselves. The Luce idea was commercial, the ornamental never being catered for. That the idea was substantial and meritorious is shown by the fact that the Luce Bureau now employs a hundred people, who read more than four thousand different publications. To build up such a business indicates that Mr. Luce possessed untiring energy. And to this fact, and that all of it was bent toward the perfection of the business he had inaugurated, is undoubtedly due the brevity of his life.

"He was a man who cared for achievement for its own sake more than for its rewards. Endowed with a remarkably keen and alert intelligence, he became a master of his occupation, with complete knowledge of its manifold details. In a few years he accomplished more results than many men achieve in a life twice as long. By lessening the labors of others through the development of his industry, he did the world a service worthy of record."

EDWARD IRVING MANLEY.

Reports his occupation as teaching. Has written "some text books and articles in educational magazines."

Address: 5801 Lexington Ave., Chicago, Ill.

FREDERIC HUBBELL MARVIN.

Has not replied.

FRED SUMNER MEAD.

I am very sorry that I cannot furnish you with more copy for the class report. My life for the past five years has been very uneventful. My occupation is as last reported. I have attained no degrees, published no books, taken no part in politics, made no addresses before public meetings, nor journeyed in this or other countries. The only office of honor I have filled is as a member of the class committee; but I have this consolation that there is no office of greater honor.

Address: Fisher Ave., Brookline, Mass.

*EDWIN JOSEPH MEEKS.

Born December 16, 1864. Died June 9, 1895. See 4th Report, p. 99.

FRANCIS MICHAEL.

Is practicing law in San Francisco, where he is reported to have "won a general recognition for ability in his profession."

Address: Kohl Bldg., San Francisco, Cal.

MORTON DAVIS MITCHELL.

Has not reported.

GEORGE AUSTIN MORRISON.

There has been no change in my residence or occupation since the last report. I still continue the practice of law at No. 43 Cedar Street, and as yet am unmarried. I am a member of the Metropolitan, Lawyers' and Harvard Clubs; of the Societies of St. Andrew (of which I have been secretary for twelve years), St. George's, St. Nicholas, Sons of the Revolution, and Colonial Wars; a trustee of the New York Genealogical and Biographical Society, and of the Plaza-Central Park

Republican Club. I have written a number of plays, and have had several books and articles published, among them being "Clement King of Marshfield, Mass., 1668, and His Descendants"; "The Clark Families of Rhode Island"; "Laurent DeCamp of New Utrecht, N. Y."; "The Freer Family of New Palz, N. Y."; "The King Families in England Prior to 1675"; and "A Memorial History of Saint Andrew's Society of the State of New York." My chief amusement has been motoring—a sport to which I have been devoted for the past three years.

Address: 43 Cedar Street, New York City.

JOHN LOVETT MORSE.

I have continued to devote myself to the study and practice of the diseases of childhood. I am assistant visiting physician at the Infants' Hospital and at the Children's Hospital. I have been visiting physician at the Floating Hospital but declined a reappointment for 1907. I am assistant professor of Pediatrics at the Harvard Medical School. I am a member of the Boston Society of Medical Sciences, the Boston Society for Medical Improvement, The Massachusetts Medical Society, the American Medical Association, the Association of American Physicians, the American Pediatric Society and the National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis. I have been vice-president and am now a councillor of the American Pediatric Society. I was chairman of the Section on the Diseases of Children of the American Medical Association at the meeting in Portland, Ore., in 1905, and am now a member of the executive committee.

I have published many articles in medical journals on subjects connected with the diseases of children (I think the titles will fill about four pages of the class report; I shall be glad to send them if you wish them), and have delivered a number of addresses on medical subjects in various states, both East and West.

I am a member of the University Club of Boston, the St. Botolph Club and the Longwood Cricket Club.

I have voted regularly but have taken no other part in politics.

I was married September 3, 1906, to Miss Adelaide May Fairbrother, of Portland, Maine. Her father is Myron M. Fairbrother, and her mother Elizabeth J. (Sleeth) Fairbrother.

Address: 70 Bay State Road, Boston.

GEORGE SALTONSTALL MUMFORD.

My residence is Chestnut Hill, Massachusetts, and my business secretary of the City Trust Company, Boston, Massachusetts.

I have two children, a little girl of ten years and a boy of five; am a member of the Country Club, Somerset and Tennis & Racquet Clubs of Boston, and the University Club of New York.

Address: Chestnut Hill.

FRANK NELSON NAY.

After being five years in partnership with Leon M. Abbott [H. L. S. 1890] on September 1, 1906, we formed a new firm with John L. Bates under the style of Bates, Nay & Abbott, with offices in the Tremont Bldg., Boston.

My wife and I now have three children, Evelyn, aged ten; Ralph H., aged six, and Richard F., aged two, all born at Boston.

Have done nothing in politics except to vote and have held no offices of trust or profit unless an occasional administrationship or trusteeship may be so considered. Taken as a whole the last five years though busy have been quite uneventful.

Have taken a number of long trips in this country and another trip to Europe, but no experiences of special interest.

Address: 9 Maple, Roxbury.

FRANK WALTER NICHOLSON.

I regret that I cannot supply you with any material for your sixth report of the class of 1887. My address and occupation have not changed since 1891, and my family is the same as reported in 1902.

Address: 174 High, Middletown, Conn.

WALTER OAKES.

I moved to Seattle from Tacoma, Washington, in 1902.

One more child has been born to us, making three. Name of the youngest is Maud Van Cortland Oakes.

I belong to the Union League Club in New York and local clubs in the State of Washington.

Have taken no part in politics except to vote regularly.

Since my last letter have sold out my steamboat interests and am interested now in lands and coal properties.

Seattle, Washington, is my permanent address.

OTIS BRIGGS OAKMAN.

Life is going on for me so quietly that there is but little for me to report to '87. My work since the last report has been the same, teaching Latin and French in Thayer Academy, my old preparatory school.

I was married October 23, 1901, to Mary Louise, daughter of Azel R. and Sarah L. (Porter) French of Braintree and have my residence here in S. Braintree. We have one son, Hiram French, born October 6, 1906.

I think I mentioned in my last report that I was treasurer of the Harvard Teachers' Association, a position which I still hold and which brings me into touch with some of the members of '87.

My part in politics consists principally in attending town caucuses and meetings and in filling a place as member of the appropriation committee of the town, nothing startling, you see, but I fully believe that in these days every citizen ought to attend carefully to every political duty, there are so many who are perfectly ready to sit back, do nothing and criticize.

In Masonic affairs I have kept up my interest, serving my lodge as master in 1900 and 1901, and occupying the chair in the council in 1906.

Address: South Braintree.

ARTHUR HENRY OSGOOD.

"As nothing of interest to the class has happened to me lately, the last report will cover everything."

Practicing dentistry, office 372 Boylston, Boston.

Address: 240 Humboldt Ave., Roxbury.

ROBERT TREADWELL OSGOOD.

Although I cannot conceive of any of you caring to hear of me and how I am getting on, it may be fair to add a few lines to our quinquennial; for I certainly am eager to read all the details from many of you therein reported.

I was indeed painfully shocked to hear of our honored vice-president's demise last month. I had but a bowing acquaintance with him at college; but was always deeply impressed by his quiet, courteous, dignified bearing toward all, as that of a perfect gentleman through bone and sinew. Want of acquaintance with his closest of kin cannot therefore hinder me from tendering them my profound sympathy through their time of bereavement.

The last occasion on which I saw our fellows together in any considerable number was at that Commencement Dinner where Harvard's dauntless Theodore set forth his reason for appointing Cram collector of the port of Charleston, S. C., in his usual intrepid style, and on the following day at New London, where he waved on our brave though beaten crew to fill up the breach between themselves and Yale's young giants.

Since those days I have been quietly pursuing my quiet way on my little farm at Hadlyme, Ct., on the Connecticut River, near its mouth (where on quiet evenings I can faintly hear the sound of the trains crossing the bridge at Saybrook Jct.). Here I manage to keep up an active out-door life from April into November, the rest of the year coming South. Last winter, '05-'06, was a pleasant one at Palacios, Cuba, on a large orange plantation of a friend of mine, where I learned a few of the secrets of raising the delicious fruit—also tobacco, pine-apples, etc.—with a smattering of poor Spanish lingo thrown in.

This winter I am taking up a little teaching in French and German for a few months to occupy my time here in Morganton. (North Carolina). Am trying also to get the people here to start a choral club for their own benefit and pleasure. This little town and county has the distinction of possessing the minimum percentage of death-rate of any county of the whole land, and I cordially disinterestedly recommend any of my class mates if he, or any of his kin, is in need of a rest from overwork, physically or nervously, to look this way for quick delightful recuperation.

Am as yet unmarried.

Have published no work of literature. My life work was in the ministry until January, 1898, which some day in the near future I hope to resume if my generation does not leave me too far in the rear; (as I am feeling better than ever since giving it up).

Address: Hadlyme, Conn.

EDWARD CHRISTOPHER PALMER.

Mine has been one of those uneventful lives which are the despair of the historian—even the class historian.

I have been right here (New Orleans) pegging away at the paper business, and I have left undone all those things which your questions would lead one to suppose an '87 man ought to have done. On the other hand I haven't even done anything especially notorious which I ought not to have done, and there is no story in me.

I told you of my marriage for the last report, but think you have no account of the birth of my daughter, Helen, at New Orleans, September 9th, 1905. Possibly some of the class would be interested to know that I am its only representative in this State—at least no other has registered in the Harvard Club of twenty-eight men which meets here occasionally. We do what little we can for Harvard, and have now a Tulane boy doing graduate work at the university, encouraged somewhat I hope to this good end by a scholarship which our club offers about every other year to those who are leaving the local college. Last year we joined the associated Harvard Clubs, but as yet we have had no representation at the meetings, and we are probably too far away ever to hope to have them meet with us here.

Address: 435 Camp, New Orleans.

FRANCIS STERNE PALMER.

1. Residence: No. 571 Park Avenue, New York City. Assistant Treasurer, United States Express Co., New York City.

2. Married to Beatrix Bennet, Rochelle Park; 1899. Daughter of David La Tourrette Bennet and Charlotte Berry Bennet.

3. Francis Lynde Stetson Palmer; born 1903.

5. Players' Club; New York Athletic Club; Sons of the Revolution, etc.

7. Secretary to the Collector of the Port of New York; 1893 to 1897.

8. Harvard; A. B.

9. Various magazine articles.

Address: Players' Club, 16 Gramercy Park, New York City.

GEORGE HOWARD PARKER.

Since your last report I have been steadily at my post injecting zoological serum into the Harvard undergraduate. The college has advanced me from assistant professor to professor or to what nowadays is called full professor, though the sensations do not warrant the term. I still write scientific papers and in fact, having passed the forty-year line, I am doing the things I formerly did over and over again. My summers are usually spent at some seaside laboratory, two years ago at Bermuda, but usually on the New England shore. I have built a new house in Cambridge at which any '87 man will find a hearty welcome.

Address: 16 Berkeley St.

FRANK CLAFLIN PARMENTER.

I am still located in Gloucester, Mass., in the same business, i. e. wholesale Salt Fish Dealers, under the firm name of Parmenter & Co. My wife, who was S. Alice Pew before our marriage, is still the partner of my joys and sorrows. We have one son, Derric Choate Parmenter, six feet tall, weighing 170 pounds, and if the good old game of football is not wiped out of existence we hope to see him at least a candidate for the football team when he enters Harvard. I think this covers all I can say for the class report that could possibly be of any interest to any of the class of '87.

Address: 46 Summer, Gloucester.

CHARLES SHARPLESS PASTORIUS.

There is very little to add to my last report, neither my domestic nor business relations having changed. Am still residing in Colorado Springs and any communications addressed to me in such manner will reach me. I am hoping to be able to make Boston next June, but at this time it is hard to make it sure.

[Is treasurer Colorado Investment and Realty Co.]

Address: Colorado Springs, Colo.

HARRY ERNEST PEABODY.

My last five years have been singularly uneventful, containing only one event that will be of interest to the men of eighty-seven. That was the birth of my third candidate for the football team, Phillips Clough Peabody, who arrived on this scene March 31st, 1905. He came within one, you see, of being an April fool, but as they say that geniuses are next door to fools, I look for him to outwit Yale and all other enemies of the crimson.

I have been pegging away in my parish here in Hartford, addressing as a rule two public meetings each Sunday and taking part in politics chiefly as chairman of the Public Morals Committee of our city Federation of Churches.

Address: Princeton, Maine, or 294 Windsor Ave., Hartford, Conn.

LINCOLN REA PEABODY.

My last communication was in the early part of 1897.

On June 16, 1897, I was married to Miss Constance C. Roddy of Merrich, Long Island. On March 12, 1898, a daughter, Constance E. was born. Since then there have been no other children. During all these years my residence has been in New York and little has happened which would be of interest.

Address: 17 State, New York, N. Y.

*JOSEPH HALL PEARL.

Born May 20, 1864. Died February 6, 1906.

Joseph Hall Pearl was born in Bradford, Mass., May 20, 1864, and died at Old Orchard, Maine, on February 6, 1906, of heart disease. He was the son of Horatio and Theresa Jane Hall Pearl. He graduated from the Bradford High School and subsequently attended Dummer Academy in Byfield, Mass. He studied law at the Harvard Law School and in the office of Abbott & Pearl, Haverhill, and on December 11, 1891, was admitted to the bar. In 1893 he became associated with Hon. William H. Moody, at the present time Attorney-General of the United States, and at the time of his death was one of Mr. Moody's partners. Mr. Moody writes of Pearl as follows:

"Before I entered Congress, he came into our office on a salary. He proved his usefulness almost from the first day. I was then trying a good many cases, and found him as an associate to be very helpful. He was a good lawyer; a quick and accurate investigator of law or facts. His judgment was good, not only in situations before trial, where deliberation is permitted, but in the rapid changes which occur during trial, when decisions must be made at once. He was an excellent judge of men, and could predict the verdict of a jury with about as much certainty as any man with whom I was ever associated.

"After I came to Congress, and down to the time I entered the Cabinet, I continued to practice in the courts between sessions more or less extensively, although I ceased to be a member of my old firm. He became a member of that firm and was always associated with me in cases that I subsequently tried. From the first he was much interested in politics of the clean kind and was very effective and influential in that field. As long as Bradford remained a town, he was one of the potent forces in its government, and I think often served as moderator of the town meetings. He was for some years city solicitor of Haverhill, in which office, I believe, he had a conspicuously useful service.

"I expressly refrain from saying anything about our personal relations, which were very close and confidential and endeared him to me very greatly."

E. J. R.

ALBERT THOMPSON PERKINS.

On April 1st, 1906, I resigned from the service of the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy Railway Company, in which I had been since graduation, to become Railroad Adviser and Consulting Engineer to the Municipal Bridge and Terminals Commission of the City of St. Louis. Since that time I have been engaged in planning and negotiating for improvements in the bridge and railroad terminal facilities of St. Louis, and in advising the municipality about other transportation matters.

Have published a few reports and have made some addresses before societies and institutions, on transportation subjects.

Have made a number of trips to large cities to examine their transportation facilities; and have made some horseback trips through the Absaroka and Big Horn Mountains in Wyoming.

Address: 200 City Hall, St. Louis.

HENRY GROVER PERKINS.

Residence, 61 Monmouth St., Brookline, Mass.

Business address, Old South Building, Boston, Mass.

Have been engaged in the real estate business on my own account for about three years, making a specialty of property in the down-town district of Boston.

You have the name of my daughter, Maria Therese Perkins in the last report.

You may add the name of my only son, Francis William Perkins, born in Brookline, Mass., Jan. 8, 1904.

Am a member of the Boston Athletic Association, and the Longwood Club of Brookline.

Have recently become a member of the summer colony of Cape Cod by buying a little cottage at Osterville, Mass., where automobilists of '87, after their 90 mile ride, may find something to their advantage during July and August of any year.

I have not succeeded in getting farther from Boston than Currituck Sound, North Carolina, where the wild ducks have called me occasionally.

You naturally do not expect anything exciting from a "middle aged" person engaged in the laudable task of supporting his family; so we will say "No news is good news" and let it go at that.

Address: Old South Bldg., Boston.

*SAMUEL WELSH PERKINS.

Born September 6, 1865. Died January 28, 1898.

WALTER SAMUEL PINKHAM.

Has been practicing law in Boston and living in Quincy, where he is now for a second time a member of the city council.

Married Isabella Southworth Foote July 16, 1900. Has three children, a daughter, Marjorie, born October 6, 1902; a son, Alden Stone, born September 1, 1903, and a daughter, Doris, born August 13, 1904.

Address: 954 Old South Bldg., Boston.

ALFRED ARTHUR POEY.

Is practicing law in Havana.

Address: Mercaderes 4, Havana, Cuba.

WILLIAM SEARS POPPLETON.

Since the date of the last class report I have resided in Omaha and have been engaged most of the time in buying, improving and selling real estate and looking after various interests committed to my care as trustee.

On the 7th of October, 1903, I was married to Helen Clark Smith of Omaha, who was born in Connecticut and is the daughter of Frederick Lyman Smith and Helen Clark Smith. We have one child, a son, William Sears Poppleton, Jr., born June 18th, 1905.

I am a member of the Omaha Club, the Omaha Country Club, the Omaha Racquet Club, the Omaha Commercial Club and several other associations; also a non-resident member of the Harvard Union and the Harvard Club of New York

I have been living a quiet life and have not distinguished myself in any of the fields mentioned under heads 6, 7, 8, 9 and 10 of your letter of inquiry.

I have had a number of trips in the course of which I have from time to time been fortunate enough to meet again old classmates and pass with them some delightful hours.

My only trip outside of this country has been a visit to Havana in 1903.

Address: Room 314 First National Bank Bldg., Omaha.

ALBERT BAILEY POTTER.

Since last report the firm of A. B. Turner & Bro., of which I was a member, has gone out of business. I still retain my membership on the Boston Stock Exchange and am doing a floor business, making my headquarters with Wrenn Bros. & Co., 84 State St., Boston. I have resigned from the University Club of Boston and joined the Union Club.

Address: P. O. Box 2852, Boston.

MILFORD SEWARD POWER.

I shall be right glad to get the report to hear what the '87 men are doing. As for myself, when I say that I am still teaching school, I have told about the whole story. I am still at Dorchester (Boston) High School to which I came seven years ago after three years at the Chauncy Hall School and ten years at Roxbury Latin School,—going with each change to a larger school and to me offering greater opportunities for usefulness. I have still the two children, Madeline, 13, and Helen, 7, having had no change by birth or death since the last report. Membership in societies has been confined to professional organizations or to clubs of purely local interest; and literary productions have not reached beyond the circle of a few indulgent friends.

Address: 66 Welles Ave., Dorchester Center, Mass.

WHITMORE PRESTON.

No change—same business [manufacturing woolens] at the same old stand. My only club is the University. Permanent address, P. O. Box 5113, Boston.

CHARLES SEWARD PROCTOR.

I have very little of interest to say to the class. After a somewhat longer apprenticeship than usual, in 1903, I started in the paper business on my own account, with office headquarters in the Old South Building, Boston, and a warehouse in Lowell, where I continue to reside. My life has continued as uneventful as the average college man and perhaps more so, the necessity of earning my living compelling me to keep my nose pretty close to the grindstone. Some few minor political offices have been within my reach, but thinking that my moderate abilities could be better devoted to "steering" rather than office holding, I may have had some little influence towards cleaner local politics by leaving the office holding to others. I did, however, serve three years on the staff of Gov. W. Murray Crane. I am now secretary of the commission to build a public hall for Lowell. I am chairman of the Executive Committee of our Lowell Harvard Club, but we are too near Cambridge to make our club much of a factor.

So far as children go—and at our present age they go a long way—let me say that I have only the boy and girl recorded in the last report, but as they constitute all the kinds known to the human race, and as my college chum long ago distanced me in this race, I am obliged to be content without reporting further progress.

Address: 187 Hovey, Lowell.

FRANK INGERSOLL PROCTOR.

Since the last report I have been at the above address (397 Marlborough St.) as usual ten months in the year. One summer was spent in Germany, the others on the coast of Maine.

I have written a few articles on Ophthalmological subjects. I am at present Ophthalmic surgeon to the "Perkins Institution for the Blind" at South Boston, the "Kindergarten for the Blind" at Jamaica Plain and the Industrial School for Crippled Children.

Am a member of several local medical societies, the New England Ophthalmological Society, the St. Botolph and Country Clubs.

My address is 397 Marlborough St., Boston, and I am there every forenoon except Sunday.

GEORGE JACOB PUTNAM.

I have very little to report for the past five years. My family is unchanged and my business and partners are as last reported. We have however removed our office from 53 Devonshire to 70 State St. I have taken no active part in politics, and my clubs are only social ones.

Address: 70 State, Boston.

GEORGE TOTTEN QUINBY.

Born October 31, 1865. Died 1903.

During his early life he resided on a large place in Virginia, but whether or not he was born there, I am unable to say. He fitted for college at St. Paul's School, Concord, N. H. After graduating from college, he took an A. M. in geology at Harvard. Thereafter, for a year or more, he joined the United States Geological Survey and worked with one of its corps in the far Western States. Then he returned to Cambridge and entered the Law School, taking his LL. B. in 1891.

He then came to New York and about the year 1893 was married. For a number of years thereafter he lived in Seattle, where he practiced his profession. About 1893 he returned to New York and became a member of the firm of Van Schaick, Norton & Quinby of this city. About 1902, his health having given way, he went to the Eastern Shore of Virginia and occupied a plantation there until shortly before his death, which occurred in Seattle. A widow and two children, both boys, survive him.

E. B.

AUGUSTUS NEAL RANTOUL.

My residence remains the same, Salem, during the winter, and Beverly Farms during the rest of the year. My occupation also is the same, a member of the firm of architects of Andrews, Jaques & Rantoul.

Am not married.

Am a member of the American Institute of Architects, and of the Boston Society of Architects. Belong to the Somerset and Tennis & Racquet Clubs in Boston, the Salem Club, Eastern Yacht Club, one or two country clubs, and a Shooting Club in Canada.

In the winter of of 1903 went to Ceylon and India, stopping in Egypt on my return. In the winter of 1906, a few months after the close of the war, I went to the Orient, stopping at the Hawaiian Islands and the Philippines, journeying well up into the interior of China, crossing Korea, and arriving in Japan in the early spring.

Address: 50 Congress, Boston.

CHARLES WILLIAM RANTOUL.

1. From June, 1902, to June, 1904, I lived at Sturgeon Falls, Ontario, Canada, where I was engaged in building and operating a paper and pulp mill. Since the summer of 1904, I have been located at 41 Park Row, New York City, engaged in the sale of paper and pulp under the name of C. W.

Rantoul Co., which company was incorporated in the fall of 1904.

2, 3 and 4. My last report covers this.

5. I am a member of the Harvard and University Clubs in New York City, also Metropolitan Museum of Fine Arts, New York City, Toronto Club of Toronto, Ontario.

6. I have taken no part in politics.

7. Have held no offices of profit, honor or trust.

8. Have obtained no other degrees.

9. Have published no books or pamphlets.

10. Have made no public addresses.

11. Have made no journeys except few business trips in this country and Canada, east of the Missouri River.

13. Do not recall any other circumstances of especial interest, but should always be glad to see any members of the class who happen to be in New York at my office, 41 Park Row.

Address: University Club, New York City.

FRANKLIN REMINGTON.

1. My residence is Greenwich, Conn., and my business at present is construction work. I am president of the Foundation Company of New York, which makes a specialty of heavy construction work, such as the foundations of bridges, piers, tall buildings, docks, sea walls, dams and water power developments, etc. I organized this company with my two associates, Messrs. D. E. Moran and E. S. Jarrett, in the spring of 1902. Our work is widely scattered. At the present moment we are building a tunnel in Canada 100 miles north of the St. Lawrence River, sinking mine shafts in Northern Michigan and building docks and sea walls in New Orleans, besides various work between these extremes of locality.

2. Was married on the 8th of May, 1902, to Maude H. Willits (nee Howard) of Chicago, the daughter of William B. and Sarah Howard.

3. No children.

5. Member of the Racquet & Tennis Club, Harvard Club, University Club and Indian Harbor Yacht Club.

6. Taken no part in politics except to vote the Republican ticket.

I have filled no public office nor done anything worth recording.

Address: Care The Foundation Company, 35 Nassau, New York.

PAUL REVERE REYNOLDS.

I live at Scarsdale, N. Y.

My business address is 70 Fifth Avenue.

I act as the representative of English publishing houses,—Messrs. Archibald Constable & Company, William Heinemann, Hodder & Stoughton. I also act as the literary agent for a number of authors, arranging the publication of their books, drawing up contracts, etc.

I was married in 1899 to Amelia F. D. Stead, the daughter of Charles M. Stead at Plainfield, Ct.

I have three children, a girl and two boys.

I am a member of the University Club and the Players' Club.

I have taken no part in politics and have held no offices of honor or trust.

I have obtained no degrees and the only article I have published, as far as I can remember, is one on the Literary Agent in a book entitled The Building of a Book.

My only address at a public meeting was to speak at a town meeting, complaining of the wretched train service of the New York Central Railroad.

I have made one trip to England, mainly on business a number of years ago.

Address: 70 Fifth Avenue, New York.

THOMAS NEWBOLD RHINELANDER.

Referring to your requests for a letter for the class report, I am sorry to say that I have nothing new to send you. All my answers to the questions for the former report apply without change today, and I cannot think of anything else which it seems worth while to add.

Address: 54 William, New York.

FRED BALL RICE.

There is scarcely anything to add to my story in the last class report. My residence and occupation are the same. Am still unmarried. No travels of any account and no public office, except minor local ones.

I hope the balance of the class have something more of interest to report.

Address: Quincy, or 12 High, Boston.

EDGAR JUDSON RICH.

I have but little of interest to write concerning myself during the last five years. Although still in general practice, I am giving the larger part of my time to the Law Department of the Boston & Maine Railroad, of which I am the head with the title of General Solicitor. I try to think that I am something of an expert in Interstate Commerce law, although the more deeply I delve into the subject the more modest I become. To the economic and practical features of railroad rate-making I have given considerable attention and have made numerous addresses before economic societies and business organizations and have written one or two pamphlets on general subjects. I have been retained by numerous other railroads besides the one with which I am officially connected. During the past year I have been in almost continual conference with traffic and legal officers of the principal railroads east of the Mississippi River. In 1901 my wife and I made a short trip abroad, spending our time principally in Scotland.

Address 1002-6 Pemberton Building, Boston, or 11 Pine Street, Winchester.

JOHN WALLACE RIDDLE.

From 1901 to 1903 Secretary of the American Embassy to Russia; September, 1903 to March, 1905, Diplomatic Agent and Consul-General to Egypt; March, 1905 to December, 1906, Envoy Extraordinary and Minister Plenipotentiary to Roumania and Servia; December, 1906, Ambassador to Russia. Unmarried.

Address: Union Club, New York City, or care State Dept., Washington, D. C.

ROYAL ROBBINS.

I will answer your questions as follows, omitting the numbers as to which nothing has occurred in the past five years:

1. Became Treasurer of the American Waltham Watch Company in July, 1902, and have held the office since. Residence, Longwood or Beverly Farms.

5. Country, Essex County, Eastern Yacht, University and a few political clubs.

7. Appointed in July, 1903, by Governor Bates to represent the employers of Massachusetts on the special commission on the Relation of Employer and Employee. This commission reported to the legislature in January, 1904, and several of their recommendations have since become law.

10. Two or three of small importance, chiefly as to taxation, etc.

11. In the summer of 1906 to Italy, Switzerland, France, Holland and England.

Address: 373 Washington, Boston.

ALFRED BROOKES ROBINSON.

Two years ago I moved my office to 206 Broadway, where I have been practicing law since.

My residence remains 157 West 74th Street, New York City, though a large part of the year is now spent at my suburban place at Upper Montclair, New Jersey.

My summer home is at Chilmark, Martha's Vineyard. On April 29, 1901, I was married to Ethel Blackwell, daughter of Samuel C. and Reverend Antoinette B. Blackwell. Of our four children, one died in infancy and the others are Alfred Brookes Robinson, Jr., born April 17, 1903; Antoinette Blackwell Robinson, born January 23, 1905 and Henry Blackwell Robinson, born May 31, 1906.

Last September was devoted to a canoeing trip with a college friend through the Adirondack lakes and down the Racquette River. We had a light canoe for carrying on portages and tent and necessary equipment and found the nesting aluminum cooking utensils and aluminum folding lantern most convenient and satisfactory, especially on the trail where light and compact dunnage is advisable.

Address: 206 Broadway, New York.

BENJAMIN LINCOLN ROBINSON.

Since September, 1900, I have held in Harvard University the double position of Asa Gray Professor of Systematic Botany and Curator of the Gray Herbarium. In connection with my work I have published a considerable number of scientific papers, chiefly on the plants of the United States and Mexico, but including a flora of the Galapagos Islands. In 1900 I was elected president of the Botanical Society of America. In 1904 I was invited to speak at the Congress of Arts and Sciences at the St. Louis Exposition and delivered there an address on the Problems of Ecology. In June, 1905, I went as delegate of several American scientific societies to the International Congress of Botanists held at Vienna. In December of the same year I delivered at New Orleans one of the vice-presidential addresses of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, speaking on the Generic Concept in the Classification of the Flowering Plants. For the last eight years I have been editor in chief of Rhodora, the journal of the New England Botanical Club, a society of which I have the honor now to be president. In recent years I have been twice to Europe, where I have spent some months in the examination of specimens in the chief herbaria of England, France, Germany, Austria, Hungary and Denmark.

Address: 3 Clement Circle, Cambridge.

JAMES HARVEY ROBINSON.

Michelet found nothing better worth celebrating at the end of a long life than the many years of happy labor that had fallen to his lot; but loafing when intelligently pursued is very pleasant and profitable too. It gives the head an opportunity to save the heels. I have by recognizing the rights of leisure as well as those of labor escaped neurasthenia and yet succeeded during the past five years in reducing to schwarz auf weiss the following: "An Introduction to the History of Western Europe" (Ginn & Co., 1903), designed for high schools and colleges. This is chiefly noteworthy for the ancient matters that it studiously omits altogether. Toward ten thousand copies of this are annually necessary to meet the demands of an enlightened educational world. In order to promote a more fruitful method of historical instruction than that hitherto in vogue,

I spent a good deal of time collecting, translating and editing two volumes of "Readings in European History," (Ginn & Co., 1904–5), which follows my manual, chapter by chapter, furnishing extracts from the sources which serve to enliven the mere outline and add a sense of reality. By this means the teacher can easily escape from the thraldom of the text book. I am now preparing for press, in collaboration with one of my colleagues, "The Development of Modern Europe during the last two hundred years; an introduction to Current History." This will also be accompanied by a volume of "Readings" and should serve to encourage a wider study in our schools and colleges of our own times. I believe that this is one of the very first attempts ever made to bring the eighteenth century into its proper organic relation with the nineteenth. The preparation of these text books has proved a school of discipline in exacting condensation, proportion and scrupulous clearness. I have also been forced to review the whole sweep of European development down to the very present and to familiarize myself to some extent with the sources for the whole long period from Cyprian on the unity of the Church to Bismarck on the unity of Germany.

I have found time for some reviews in "The Nation," "The Political Science Quarterly," "The American Historical Review" and a number of papers and addresses on historical and educational matters. The following are the more important: "The Elective System Historically Considered," (International Quarterly, Sep. 1902). "The Study of the Lutheran Revolt," (Am. Hist. Review, Jan. 1903); a paper on the relations of History and Literature read before the Congress of Arts and Science at St. Louis, Sept. 1904 (Proceedings, vol. II, pp. 40 to 99); "Recent Tendencies in the Study of the French Revolution" (Am. Hist. Review, April, 1906); "The Fall of Rome,

Some current misapprehensions in regard to the process of dissolution of the Roman Empire" (Proceedings of the New England History Teachers' Association, 1906). I have agreed to write the article upon the "Reformation" for the new edition of the Encyclopaedia Britannica.

Early in 1903 I delivered a short course of lectures at the University of Wisconsin on the intellectual development of Europe during the twelfth and thirteenth centuries. Mrs. Robinson and I then made our way to the orient and spent some months in Japan, visiting incidentally Manila, Hong Kong, Canton and Shanghai. This was an impressive experience, quite equivalent at forty to a college education at twenty. Last summer we spent in Spain and France. Otherwise we have vibrated between New York and our cottage in Jaffrey, N. H.

I still earn my daily bread teaching in the School of Political Science in Columbia University. I have to do mainly with graduate students, both men and women, and am specially interested in the intellectual history of Europe to which I am planning to devote a considerable treatise. We live at 567 W. 113th St.

Address: Columbia University.

THOMAS JOHNS ROBINSON.

I have nothing of special interest to contribute. Since the last record have been pursuing the general practice of medicine in Taunton.

Address: Taunton.

*WILLIAM SANFORD ROBINSON.

Born June 29, 1865. Died March 29, 1902. See 5th Report, p. 84.

*EMERY HERMAN ROGERS.

Born July 28, 1865. Died February 2, 1904.

Emery Herman Rogers prepared for college at the Boston Latin School, where he graduated in June, 1883. At school he was always very popular and a favorite among his fellows. He excelled especially in the military drill, winning the second and first prizes in the individual drill in successive years.

At college he early showed great skill in track athletics, and was on the Mott Haven team for three years, winning both first and second places in the 100 yards and the 220 yards. He was also successful in the gymnasium meetings in the standing high jump. He was very fond of music and was a member of the Glee Club for three years. In the senior year he was vice-president of the Athletic Association and president of the Pi Eta Society. As a student he held good rank without great effort on his part.

In college, as at school, he had many friends. He was loyal and true, with an unfailing fund of good spirits and happiness. Always contented, ready to make the best of things as he found them, and never under any circumstances ill tempered or unhappy. He was a delightful companion and the best of friends.

A few months after leaving college his business took him to Chicago and he remained there several years. In 1896 he returned to Boston and made his home at Chestnut Hill. His home life there with his wife, Florence Halliday Rogers, and their two children, Emery and Constance, was especially delightful. Life was full of happiness for them all and they gave much pleasure to a large circle of friends.

A member of the Class Committee, Rogers was most loyal and devoted to '87. Much of the great success of the fifteenth anniversary was due to his efforts and labor. A few weeks after that celebration he showed the first signs of pulmonary tuberculosis. He went to the Adirondacks for a few months in the fall of 1902, and then removed with his family to Colorado Springs. He devoted all his energies to battling with this trying and treacherous disease, and though he made the fight with all the strength that was in him, his powers of resistance were not great enough and he finally succumbed in February, 1904.

So full of life and the joy of living; so bright, happy and cheerful; such a loyal and enthusiastic Harvard and '87 man, we cannot think that he has gone out of our lives entirely, we must feel that he is present with us at least in spirit this year of our twentieth anniversary.

S. A. H.

EMERY HERMAN ROGERS.

JAMES SAVAGE RUSSELL.

Since 1902 a number of the older generation have gone, including my father, Henry S. Russell, '60, who died in February, 1905.

I have continued to live in Milton, Mass., with my real estate office at 31 State St., Boston.

The 1902 report noted my marriage to Emily Tyson Perry of Philadelphia.

We have had three children—a daughter, February, 1903, living a few hours only; Elizabeth Tyson, January, 1904; George Robert, December, 1905.

I still belong to the Country Club, B. A. A., Exchange Club, Milton Club, Wollaston Golf Club and some others, but do not use them much. Politics are very interesting and I do what I can in town and county. I wish it were more. One sometimes is tempted to speak at town meetings, not always to advantage.

In 1902 we spent three months honeymooning in Europe, and this past winter went to Jamaica for six weeks, reaching the island four hours after the earthquake. The results of it and the social conditions existing there between the white and black races made this a very interesting experience.

Address: 31 State, Boston.

PHILIP SIDNEY RUST.

Replying to your inquiry for facts for class report, would say, that my residence is 23 Whittemore Street, West Roxbury, Mass. I was married on June 2d, 1894, to Harriet W. Fireng of Glen Ridge, N. J. Her father was John Philip Fireng and her mother Frances Richardson Fireng.

I have two children, Frances Richardson and Philip Goodenow. Frances was born in Boston on April 13th, 1895, and Philip in West Roxbury on February 15th, 1900.

My only club is the local club, The Highland Club, of West Roxbury.

I regret that my life has been so uneventful as to be entirely lacking in matter of interest to help you in your forthcoming publication, but, of course, presume that you wished to have me confine myself to facts.

[Is attorney for the Casualty Company of America.]

Address: 108 Water, Boston.

*ROBERT DE WOLFE SAMPSON.

Born April 14, 1865. Died July 9, 1895. See 4th Report, p. 129.

WILLIAM SAULSBURY.

Has not replied.

HENRY SCOFIELD.

Has not reported. Is practicing law in Chicago.

Address: Tribune Bldg., Chicago, Ill.

GEORGE MARTIN SEELEY.

I have but little of interest to report since writing you last as for the greater part of the time I have been living in the west engaged in engineering. I have recently accepted the presidency of a company in New York so that now my headquarters are in that city.

I am not married; have taken no active part in politics and have not been showered with degrees, honorary or otherwise.

Address: University Club, New York.

FRANK HAROLD SELLERS.

The account in the last class report, that of 1902, will do for to-day, except that I am not now in active business, and that I have dropped out of the Chicago Literary Club.

Address: 10 Astor, Chicago, Ill.

CHARLES EDWARD SHATTUCK.

My life, during the last five years, has been as uneventful as possible. I have been practicing law in Boston in the same old way and, until recently, at the same old stand. Last July we moved our offices from 53 State Street (where we had been since 1892) to 19 Congress Street.

I have continued to live, for the most part, with my parents at Winchester, Mass. I have no partner either of a business or matrimonial character. I became a member of the Union Club of Boston in January, 1904, and have recently joined the Harvard Travellers' Club. I became a member of the Council of the Boston Bar Association in October, 1903, and have recently been re-elected to serve until October, 1909. I am Secretary of the Committee on Grievances of the Council, and am pleased to be able to state that up to date the legal members of our class have not been complained of by their clients to any considerable extent!

I have held no offices of "profit, honor or trust"—except in a professional capacity; have attained no further degrees; have written no books or articles and have addressed no "public meetings" except those of our class.

Last winter Loud, Lesly Johnson and I took a trip of three weeks to Jamaica and Cuba. We are glad we went last year instead of this, as we are not insured against earthquakes.

Address: 19 Congress, Boston.

EUGENE RODMAN SHIPPEN.

1. Same residence and same church as before. [First Parish, Dorchester].

2. Record stands.

3. Children: Harold Blount, b. June 11, 1902; Zoe Elizabeth, b. November 12, 1903; Sylvia, b. April 17, 1905.

5. Colonial Club and Dorchester Historical Society.

7. Member of examining committee, Boston Public Library; vice-president, National Federation of Men's Church Clubs; director Mass. Federation of Churches, Ministerial Union, Society for Ministerial Relief.

9. Sundry articles in "The Brotherhood," organ of the Federation of Men's Church Clubs, of which I am an editor.

10. Many addresses before local mass meetings, historical societies, denominational conferences, schools, etc.

Address: 60 Virginia, Dorchester.

ARTHUR CRITTENDEN SMITH.

I have very little news to give you concerning the last five years. I am still plodding along in the same old way. Since the last report there have been two additions to my family, Arthur Crittenden Smith, Jr., born at Omaha, December 11, 1903, and Esther Smith, born at Omaha, February 18, 1906. I do not think of anything else that would be of interest to our classmates.

Address: 1101 Howard, Omaha, Neb.

CHARLES GASTON SMITH.

My residence since last report has been 751 Washington St., Brookline, Mass. I am a member of the Brookline Country Club and University Club of Boston. In December, 1902, I was elected President of the Institution for Savings in Roxbury which position I now hold.

Address 2343 Washington, Boston.

HORACE EUGENE SMITH.

I send you herewith all the information which I can give you in reference to myself for the class report. My residence is at 1108 Spruce Street, Philadelphia. I am still a partner of the banking house of Charles Smith & Sons, which firm is now composed of my brother, Mr. Charles H. Smith and myself. I became a member of this firm on January 1st, 1889, and have never been connected with any other business before or since. I was married on April 29th, 1891, at Philadelphia to Miss Amelia Benham Matthews, daughter of General E. Wallace Matthews and Amelia Benham. I have two children, namely, Mary Christine Smith, born at Philadelphia April 29th, 1892, and Edith Louise Smith, born at Philadelphia November 5th, 1893. My wife and both children are living. I am a member of the Union League, University Club, Merion Cricket Club, Bachelors Barge Club and the Historical Society of Pennsylvania. I have never taken an active part in politics whatsoever. The only position of honor or trust which I have filled, besides the position such as executor, trustee and guardian, is the chairman of the medical committee of the German Hospital and a trustee of that institution. Outside of my business this is my one hobby to which I give a great deal of my time. I received the degree of A. B. from Haverford College in June, 1886, and the degree of A. B. at Harvard University in June, 1887. I have never written any books or pamphlets nor have I to any extent ever addressed any public meetings. I have traveled a great deal in this country and in Canada and also have made numerous trips to England, Ireland and the continent of Europe.

Address: 1108 Spruce, Philadelphia, Pa.

*SAMUEL HERBERT SMITH.

Born April 5, 1864. Died June 7, 1902.

WILLIAM KANAN SMITH.

Has not replied.

*JOHN LINZEE SNELLING.

Born January 3, 1864. Died January 11, 1907.

John Linzee Snelling, the son of Samuel G. Snelling of Boston, and Eleanora Paul, of Philadelphia, was born in Boston, January 3, 1864. He was a vigorous and active boy, but at the age of twelve years he met with an accident which rendered him permanently lame. He attended Mr. Hopkinson's school and entered Harvard College in 1883. He was much interested in the study of medicine, and intended to make it his profession, but was compelled to abandon this idea, as circumstances obliged him to leave college at the end of his junior year and enter business. In spite of this, however, he pursued his studies and graduated with his class, taking his degree in June, 1887.

In college Snelling was distinctly a favorite, not only among his classmates, but with the upper classmen; his cheerfulness of disposition, and the never complaining fortitude with which he bore the many deprivations his infirmity subjected him to, being large factors to this end. He was elected vice-president of the class in the freshman year, and retained this office throughout the college course, his classmates conferring upon him this honor even in the face of his absence during the senior year. At the class gatherings, both in college and since graduation, he was always prominent and at a recent meeting was elected to fill a vacancy in the class committee. Although unable to take any active part in athletics he was ever ready to offer his support to the athletic teams and to give encouragement by his presence at the various contests to those who represented his class or college. He was a member of the D. K. E. and Institute of 1770, Zeta Psi, St. Paul's Society, Porcellian Club, and Hasty Pudding Club.

When Snelling began his business career he entered the local freight office of the New York and New England railroad, but in November, 1886, he became clerk in the general freight office of the Boston and Albany railroad. As a result of strict attention to duty and solid business worth, he was rapidly promoted and called upon to assume greater responsibilities. In 1888 he was made clerk to the General Traffic Manager of the Boston and Albany railroad. Later he was appointed Foreign Freight Agent at Boston and shortly afterwards was promoted to the position of Agent at Albany, and in 1895 was transferred to a similar position at Worcester. In 1897 he was made Division Superintendent of the Boston and Albany, between Boston and Worcester, with his office at Boston. This position he resigned in 1901 to become United States Appraiser of the port of Boston, a position he filled with credit to himself and to the satisfaction and benefit of the community. In 1906 he resigned from this service, and was presented on this occasion with a loving cup by the customs employees who worked under him. He then entered the cotton brokerage business as Boston agent of the firm of Inmann & Co. of Augusta, Georgia, and he was winning his way towards the goal of prosperity when death suddenly claimed him, his illness being of only five weeks' duration. He died on January 11, 1907.

JOHN LINZEE SNELLING.

In 1894 Snelling married Christine Louise Williams, daughter of Henry Bigelow Williams, of Boston, who, with two children, Christine and Henry Bigelow Williams, survives him.

Snelling's character was one that might well be dwelt on did space permit. As in college he was loved by his close companions and admired by those with whom he had but a slight acquaintance, so in business life he became endeared to those with whom he came in personal contact, and was esteemed by those with whom he held even distant relations. Always standing for what was good and right, by his sound business principles and conscientious application in the interests of those he served, whether corporation or state, he won the confidence and esteem of his superiors in office, and his subordinates loved and respected him for his kindness, consideration and firmness. Sympathetic, generous and just, courageous and cheerful, he has set an example for others to remember and follow. The class has lost a valued member, the community an honored citizen. E. F.

FRANK CHESTER SOUTHWORTH.

Life in a Theological School contains little which is of interest to the class, though it is far from being without interest to those of us who are here. I have no political achievements to record and have filled no important office of trust except that of a director of the American Unitarian Association and of the Pennsylvania College of Music. My only venture in print is a pamphlet on the Choice of a Profession, Meadville, 1905.

The summer of 1905 was spent by Mrs. Southworth and myself in Italy and Southern Germany, and I had the honor of giving an address on August 29th of that year at the meeting of the International Council of Unitarian and other Liberal Religious Thinkers and Workers, held in Geneva, Switzerland, August 28th to September 1st. On September 12th of the same year I was the guest of honor at a joint meeting of the Unitarian Clubs of Liverpool, and on the previous Sunday preached twice in Dr. Martineau's former pulpit in the Hope Street Church of Liverpool. In May, 1903, I gave an address in Chicago at the Conference of Colleges and Professional Schools, on the Comparative Length of the College and the Theological School Course, and in September of the same year an addresss at the biennial meeting of the National Unitarian Conference in Atlantic City on Theological Education. These addresses and also the Geneva address were printed in the reports of the proceedings of these bodies.

Address: Meadville, Penn.

WALTER RAYMOND SPALDING.

Ever since I returned from abroad in 1895, I have been working here at Harvard in the Music Department. The work has been full of interest and has kept me busy all the time. The department has had a most encouraging growth in the last twelve years, increasing in that time from 40 students to 210. My life however has been singularly lacking in incidents which would be of general interest. Since Prof. Paine's resignation two years ago I have been acting head of the department and this last winter I made quite an extended western trip in an endeavor to arouse the interest of Harvard men in a proposed Music Building here at Cambridge. It is greatly needed and would do a great service in the artistic growth of the place. It was pleasant to meet '87 men in St. Louis, Chicago and Cincinnati and to find them standing behind all the vital movements for progress and reform in the various localities. All the numerous '87 men now teaching at Harvard are looking forward to the 20th reunion, and I am confident it will be a glorious occasion.

Address: Berkeley Pl., Cambridge.

STEPHEN BERRIEN STANTON.

I did not see any other '87 man in Jamaica during the earthquake, so presume I had best rest my claim to distinction on having been there then. I only hope our San Francisco classmates escaped equally unharmed.

I should be ashamed at my uneventfulness, could I not cite in justification, "happy the people without a history." I have been much away from New York during the last five years, travelling and living abroad. But I refrain from inflicting an itinerary. Those interested may apply personally on Commencement Day when I hope to see you all.

[Married Hedwig Jeanne Quintard, October 6, 1902].

Address: University Club, New York.

LIVINGSTON BOYD STEDMAN.

I am still practicing law in Seattle as a member of the firm of Hastings & Stedman. Mr. Hastings and I have been practicing law in Seattle longer than any firm of lawyers under the same firm name.

I was married on April 29th, 1891, to Ann B. Leiper, a daughter of the late Thomas I. Leiper of Chester, Pa. We have three children, Daniel Baxter Stedman, born September 15th, 1892; Lewis Leiper Stedman, born February 24th, 1895, and Livingston Boyd Stedman, Jr., born October 29th, 1898.

I have no political office; have written no magazine articles or pamphlets, and am just a plain every day lawyer.

I was one of the organizers of the Harvard Club of Seattle, and the University Club of Seattle, the Athletic Club of Seattle, and the Seattle Country Club, and am still a member of all said organizations.

Being one of the earlier Harvard graduates to be practicing law in Seattle, I have fortunately been visited by many younger Harvard graduates as a free employment bureau, and have been fortunate in obtaining situations for many graduates or former students of the Harvard Law School.

I neglected to state that, as you know, I have the Degree of Bachelor of Arts of '87, and of Master of Arts from Harvard in 1890.

There are now in Seattle of our class W. J. Bowen, Walter Oakes, Frank B. Wiestling and myself; while at Port Blakeley is Thomas Hall, who, so far as I can remember is the only member of the class of 1887 whose home was in this state when attending college.

Address: Haller Bldg., Seattle, Wash.

*PEARL LAMBERT STERNBERGH.

Born January 26, 1867. Died February 8, 1892. See Third Report, p. 94.

ALBERT EUGENE STERNE.

Since my last report to you some years ago, much of importance has transpired in my life to make it fuller, broader and happier. Two years ago on March 4th, 1905, I was married to Laura Mercy Laughlin, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James A. Laughlin of East Walnut Hills, Cincinnati, Ohio. Our wedded life has been very complete indeed. Only the birth of a child to us could possibly add to it. I still live in Indianapolis, am active in the practice of medicine, so far as it relates to nervous diseases and brain surgery, to which practically all of my work is confined. I am still medical director of "Norways" Sanatorium, neurologist in chief to the various hospitals of this city and some of the state institutions and hold the chair of nervous diseases in the Indiana Medical College, a department of Purdue University.

During these years I have taken only a passive part in politics, but have tried to do my duty toward the Republican party; but on the other hand, I have been active in a medical and literary way, both, in the college and have delivered a course of lectures at the various universities in this State.

It has always seemed to me to be one of my obligations to take an active part in the Medical Societies, both local and state and also in the American Medical Association. All of the pamphlets that I have published have been in the various medical journals and have been altogether special in character.

It has been my good fortune to take several journeys in this country and have been abroad twice since my last report to you. I am a member of the University Club, Columbia Club, Commercial Club, German Club, Canoe Club and several other organizations of more or less local and general importance.

My life it is true has been prosaic enough, but I am glad to say that a certain measure of success has been attained and that I live in comfort and happiness.

Address: 1820 E. 10th, Indianapolis, Ind.

SAMUEL STORROW.

Has not replied.

FRANK CALEB STOWELL.

As to your list of inquiries I note nothing of significance to add to what I assume was given in previous report, beyond the fact that on Sept. 1st, 1903, I resigned charge of the Elevated Structure and Tracks of the Boston Elevated Ry Co. to engage with certain steel interests in Pittsburg and New York, for whom my time is divided mainly between N. Y. City and Boston.

Address: 178 Devonshire, Boston.

JOHN OSBORNE SUMNER.

Is associate Professor of History at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Address: Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Boston.

WINTHROP TISDALE TALBOT.

Has not replied.

Address: Holderness, N. H.

ELWOOD GARDNER TEWKSBURY.

The period of reconstruction, following the Boxer uprising and the siege of Peking, was a most strenuous one. The interests of our local mission station were quite dependent upon my activity. Some 300 refugees needed our especial care. After adjustment of losses and payment of indemnity claims by the government, it remained to reestablish the Chinese in new homes and rebuild our own mission buildings. A slight change in location of our mission premises necessitated the purchase of much new land, improvement of the same, planning new buildings, etc. We have at the present time a very complete mission equipment, including chapel, schools, college, hospital and dwellings.

It may be recalled that I was one of the first 11 at Mt. Hermon in 1886 who were in at the start of the Student Volunteer Movement. Ever since I began work in China have wished to see a China "Northfield" established for our Chinese Christian Workers, which might do for them what Northfield, Silver Bay, Winona, Chautauqua, etc., are accomplishing here in the States. The profits of a market garden (we have sold many thousand baskets of strawberries these last years) and dairy, conducted by the Chinese under our supervision, with other financial help, have enabled us to realize our desires. In 1893 was held the First China "Northfield" at Peitaiho, a summer resort just across the gulf from Port Arthur on the Chihli coast. Since then we have held two more of these gatherings with great profit and enthusiasm to all concerned. It is an undenominational movement and I am now in America for the furtherance of its financial interests. It is our idea to combine features of Chautauqua, Tuskegee, and Northfield in an inspirational educational plan, comprising summer, correspondence, and industrial courses.

My definite duties as missionary of the American Board have been in the superintendence of the Physics and Chemistry courses in our North China Union College. I have also acted as chairman of committees for the preparation of a new edition and rearrangement of William's Chinese Dictionary, and of a committee for the unification of Chinese Hymnology. It has also been my duty to prepare a new edition of the Tonic Sol-fa Hymnbook and have the same printed in Japan.

At present I am in New York city, speaking, as requested, for the Mission Board, and also delivering three courses of five lectures on Far Eastern Problems, illustrated with the stereopticon, under the auspices of the Board of Education, at Cooper Union, the American Museum of Natural History, etc. In February delivered at Hartford Theological Seminary five of the Thompson lectures on Missions.

I hope to return this summer in time for an Autumn Conference along the lines of our China "Northfield" plan. This Spring we visited Palestine, Egypt, Italy, France, Switzerland and England for a few months on our journey from China to the States.

As to other questions on your request, think no change need be made from the last report.

Address: Care Spaulding & Tewksbury, Atlantic Ave., Boston, or North China College, Pekin, China.

AARON CLAFLIN THAYER.

I have been continuously in New York since the Fall of 1890, practicing law and am a member of the firm of Pinney, Thayer & Van Slyke, with offices at 32 Nassau Street. I have held no political offices nor have I been a candidate.

Address: 32 Nassau, New York.

HENRY ADAMS THAYER.

Has not been heard from. The Secretary has heard that he has been studying at Rome, but has been unable to verify the report.

CHARLES SPROULL THOMPSON.

1. I am Commercial Agent for the Illinois Central R. R. Co., at Milwaukee, having been transferred from a similar position in Dallas, Tex., April 1st, 1906. My office address is 83 Michigan St.; my house address is 689 28th St.

2. I was married in Chicago, Ill., April 20, 1901. Wife's maiden name was Ruth Reed Gage. Parents' names, Charles O. Gage and Charlotte O. Gage.

3. (a) Priscilla Abbot, born March 11, 1902; (b) Barbara, born July 31, 1904; (c) Vashti, born January 28, 1907.

4. No deaths.

5. Member Milwaukee Athletic Club, also Alpine Club, London, England.

6. Nothing politically, except to vote.

7. None.

8. A. M. University of Chicago, 1894.

9. A few articles on Mountain Climbs in Sierra Bulletin, Appalachia and Alpine Journal.

10. Occasional lectures on Mountain Climbs.

11. British Columbia, Mexico.

Address: Commercial Agent, Illinois Central R. R. Co., 83 Michigan, Milwaukee, Wis.

ERNEST ALEXANDER THOMSON.

Has not replied.

BARCLAY TILTON.

I've taken no new courses in the last five years; my course in life not having had me away from my business in Boston, or my home at Chestnut Hill, Mass. I shall be extremely sorry to miss the 20th annual of my class graduates, but a motoring vacation of three months abroad will interfere.

Address: 7 Congress, Boston.

ROBERT TRUSLOW.

1. Brooklyn, N. Y.; lawyer. Present business address, Lawyers' Title Insurance & Trust Co., 37 Liberty St., New York City.

2. April 21, 1906, Brooklyn, N. Y., Alice Gray Colton, Brooklyn, N. Y. Frederick Henry Colton, M. D., and the late Alice Gray Colton.

5. Resigned.

Address: 62 Montague, Brooklyn, N. Y.

JOSEPH BROWNE THOMAS TUTHILL.

I would hardly think that an account of my quiet life would be of interest to any one else were it not that I find such great pleasure in reading in the reports of the doings of the rest of the fellows and realize that possibly there may be some who take some interest in hearing from me.

At the time of the last report I was in charge of the business of the local Gas Company in Salem, Oregon, and continued in that position, at the same time lecturing on Chemistry in Willamette Medical College, until July, 1903, when the business, which was owned by relatives, was sold and I gave up the management.

During the winter of 1903-4, I continued as lecturer at the Medical College and also taught Physics and Chemistry in Willamette University. In 1904 I removed to the vicinity of San Jose, California, where I engaged in fruit raising. Not finding the venture as well suited to my tastes nor as lucrative as I had hoped, I turned last year to my former occupation, teaching, and took a position at Belmont School, Belmont, Cal., under the Head Mastership of Mr. Wm. T. Reid, whose son Mr. Wm. T. Reid, Jr., is well known to the present generation of Harvard men. I have been teaching Mathematics at this well known school for the past seven months though my home and postoffice address is still at San Jose.

No children have been added to my family since my last report.

In 1904 I joined DeMolay Commandery, No. 5, Knights Templar, of Salem, Oregon. Have taken no part in politics except to vote with tolerable regularity and a good deal of disregard for party lines. Outside of my own private affairs my chief interest has been in Sunday School and Y. M. C. A. work, to both of which I have given considerable time and attention. Along with a number of other people in this vicinity I was considerably "shocked" last April but got through it without material injury to personal interests.

One incident may be of interest:

When President Roosevelt visited Salem in 1903, I was standing on the sidewalk waiting for his approach at a point where there were few people near me. As he came opposite to me I saluted him with an old-fashioned Harvard cheer. He recognized it at once and greeted me with a most gracious bow and smile and the shouted question "What class?" I replied " '87" at the top of my lungs. Later in the day I met him personally for a few moments. So you see the class was not forgotten even in far away Oregon.

Address: East William, San Jose, Cal.

GEORGE HERMAN TUTTLE.

Has not replied.

ALFRED LEE TYLER.

Since your last report I have been living continuously in Anniston, Alabama, engaged in several iron and textile industries. My second child and only son, Alfred Lee Tyler, 3rd, born May 21st, 1904; died May 23rd, 1905. In March, 1906, I was elected President of the Board of Education of this city and still hold the office. On November 7th, 1906, I was elected companion of the Ohio Commandery of the Military Order of the Loyal Legion of the United States.

Address, Anniston, Alabama.

FRANK VOGEL.

Has not replied. Is Professor of Modern Languages at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Address: Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Boston.

THEODORE CRAMER VON STORCH.

Since graduation my place of residence has been Scranton, Penn., where I was born. My profession is that of attorney-at-law, but I have not engaged very much in actual practice for some years, attending rather to the various business enterprises with which from time to time I have been connected, coal mining, manufacturing, banking and others. I have already reported to you my marriage to Jessie Marshall Pennypacker, October 4th, 1894. My children, both boys, are Theodore William, born December 24th, 1895, and Joseph Constant, born February 20th, 1905.

I am a member of a few clubs, principally in New York, Philadelphia and Scranton, and of the Masonic organization and its various branches. Politics have not troubled me for some years and no offices have been thrust upon me. My journeyings have been in America and Europe only, and while generally pleasant have not been unusually eventful.

Address: Scranton, Penn.

FRANK LAWSON WALKER.

Has not replied.

JOSEPH EUGENE WALKER.

I have nothing new to report. I am still employed as teacher of Mathematics in the DeLancey School, Philadelphia, and am helping, in that way to keep up the supply of new students entering Harvard.

I have but one child, Evalyn Walker, now just past fourteen.

I have been pained at the frequency of the death notices about our classmates of late, and shall be sorry to find so many missing from the ranks in June, at the end of the twentieth year.

Address: 435 E. Jefferson, Media, Pa.

EUGENE CARROLL WEBSTER.

Since your last report, the Boston Temperance Federation, of which I was Secretary, accomplished its work and died a natural death. In February, 1902, I became pastor of the Congregational Church in Westbrook, Maine, and resigned after a short pastorate. My term of service as Secretary of the Massachusetts General Association of Congregational Churches expired in 1903, at which time I organized the Church Choir Register with office in Boston, which I managed until a few months ago when I sold the business. During all the time I frequently supplied pulpits. About a year ago I became chaplain of the Boston Hotels and Theatres, the pastor of the "Parish of All Strangers." The Chaplaincy Association is organized for the purpose of offering various kinds of pastoral service to hotel patrons and strangers, irrespective of religious belief, nationality or residence. For the present, the office is at 131 Tremont Street. I reside in Jamaica Plain, near Vogel and Currier.

Address: Congregational House, 14 Beacon, Boston, or 603 Centre, Jamaica Plain.

ALONZO ROGERS WEED.

My account of myself for the past five years may be briefly stated without attempting to answer each item of the bill of particulars in your letter of the 17th instant. I have a son, Alonzo Rogers Weed, by name, born in Newton on January 16, 1904. For the years 1904 and 1905 I was mayor of Newton. On July 13, 1906, I was appointed a member of the Board of Gas and Electric Light Commissioners of Massachusetts, by Governor Guild of '81, and I still hold that office.

My occupation otherwise and my residence remain unchanged.

Address: 113 Devonshire, Boston.

WINTHROP WETHERBEE.

1. Residence: 43 Bay State Road, Boston. Occupation: connected officially with mercantile business enterprises; still retain interests in South American ventures, as per a previous report, and have had charge of several financial trusts.

2. Married. See previous report.

3. Children: Alice, born in Boston, December 16, 1902; Winthrop, Jr., born in Boston, April 6, 1904.

5. University Club, Papyrus Club, Boston.

6. None.

7. Only offices of "profit, honor or trust" I have held have been in connection with business interests, and have invariably proved to be more of honor than of profit.

8, 9, 10, 11. None.

Address: P. O. Box 3493, Boston.

ARTHUR WILLIAM WHEELWRIGHT.

In answer to your circular of February 15th, I will say that nothing of interest has happened since the last report.

Address: 70 Franklin, Boston.

SUMNER WHEELER WHITE.

As I have furnished no report since 1890, I would say that after leaving Hoeninghaus & Curtis I went with my brother in 1890 as broker in chemicals, who was carrying on my father's business which had been started in 1864.

In 1895 the business was combined with that of W. R. Peters & Co., Importers and Commission Merchants, at 47 Cedar Street, New York.

In 1901 the firm was changed to Peters, White & Co., and I was admitted as partner, with offices at 92 William St. where we are now established.

In 1894 I married Frances G. Crosby of Boston, Mass., and, with our four children—George Crosby, born December 26th, 1895; Eleanor Frances, born September 23rd, 1897; Grosvenor, born January 21st, 1901; and Sumner Wheeler, Jr., are now living at Nutley, N. J.

I am also treasurer of the Mutual Chemical Co., and the Washington Storage Warehouse & Van Company; the former in New Jersey and the latter in New York.

Address: 92 William, New York.

GEORGE GILL WHITELAW.

My account of myself for the last five years is so much like the previous one that you might write "ditto" under the answer to every question and be reasonably sure of making no mistake. If "the happiest women like the happiest nations have no history" why may not the same principle hold good with men?

Address: Care Scudder-Gale Grocer Co., St. Louis, Mo.

BENJAMIN WHITNEY.

I am still a resident of Tower Hill, Wayland, Mass., and Treasurer of the Lewis F. Perry & Whitney Co., doing a decorating business at 8 Bosworth St., Boston.

I was married at Boston, June 11, 1888, to Annie Dexter Perry, daughter of Lewis F. and Olive A. Perry.

We have three children, Annie, born at West Medford, December 31, '90; Benjamin Perry, born at West Medford, October 6, '92, and Emily, born at Wayland, July 8, '97.

My only journey has been a short trip to the West Indies.

Address: 8 Bosworth, Boston.

FRANK BEECHER WIESTLING.

I am still practicing law in Seattle, where I have been since 1889. I have three daughters. Nothing eventful has occurred in my life since the last report. Outside of my law business I have mining interests in Alaska, British Columbia and Mexico, as well as timber in British Columbia. I have been in politics a little here with varying success. Best wishes to all the boys.

Address: 421 Boston Blk., Seattle, Wash.

WALDO WICKHAM WILLARD.

I continue in the practice of law at Corning, N. Y., and have not married. My clubs are the local one and the University and Harvard of New York. I have taken little part in politics and have filled no offices other than that of city attorney of Corning for three years. I resigned this office nearly two years ago as I was about to go abroad.

Address: Corning, N. Y.

HARRY JOHNSON WOOD.

In reply to your circular letter of January 17th would say, that I have accomplished only a few things that would be of interest to the members of the class. My residence is still the same as last reported. I am still a member of the firm of Moses Dorr & Co.

On September 24th with a friend of mine, I formed the corporation The D. W. Ranlet Co., taking over the grain business of D. W. Ranlet and I am secretary and treasurer of that corporation.

In December, 1903, I was elected treasurer of the New England Grain Dealers' Assoc., which position I still hold.

In January, 1905, I was elected one of the Board of Directors of the Boston Chamber of Commerce for three years.

December 1, 1905, I was elected treasurer of the Boston Chamber of Commerce and have the honor of still holding the position.

On September 29, 1906, a daughter, Eleanor, was born to Mrs. Wood and myself.

Since writing you last I have joined the Woodland Golf Club, Oakley Country Club, and the Boston City Club.

Address: 707 Chamber of Commerce, Boston.

JAMES HAUGHTON WOODS.

Has not replied.

RICHARD AUGUSTUS ZEREGA.

1. Residence, 591 Lafayette Ave., Brooklyn. Occupation, rope manufacturing.

2. Unmarried.

5. Harvard Club and City Club of New York; Wellington Club of London, Civil Service Reform Association.

6. A little work from time to time in support of independent movements.

7. The only offices of honor which I have held have been the positions of watcher at the polls in New York City on election day. These are not offices of profit.

I can scarcely believe that the details of my life would prove interesting to my classmates.

Address: Harvard Club, 27 W. 44th St., New York City.

OSCAR THEODORE ZINKEISEN.

Although, be it said to my discredit, I have not heretofore personally, for one reason or another, responded to your courteous inquiries, you generally, so far as I remember, got the main facts correctly.

Now as for the last five years, owing largely to ill-health, I have been more or less a looker-on, having spent some three of these abroad—principally in Germany, Italy and in England. Last I returned in August, 1906. I have my business in New York now and among other activities, I represent some international chemical interests.

Some of my local clubs and societies are: "The Drug and Chemical Club," "The Harvard Club," "The Society of Chemical Industry" and "The Wisconsin Society."

My last longer journey in this country for instruction and investigation, was to Arkansas. In Europe I went pretty much everywhere excepting Russia.

Address: 135 William, New York.

TEMPORARY MEMBERS.

A brief account is given below of those temporary members of 1887, and those whose social relations were especially with '87, who have answered any of the Secretary's circulars, or of whom he has been able to learn anything.

ELISHA HUNT ALLEN.

Residence: 116 West 82nd St., New York City.

Place of business: 24 Broad St., New York City.

Occupation: Banker, member of the firm of Estabrook & Co., of New York and Boston.

Unmarried. Member of the Union League Club, New York Athletic Club and the Atlantic Yacht Club.

Address: 24 Broad, New York.

GASTON MEARS ASHE.

Has not replied. The Secretary is informed that he practiced law for a while, but of late has not been so active in his profession, but has been devoting much time to extensive ranch interests south of San Francisco.

WINTHROP FORREST ATWOOD.

I was married in 1892 to Mary Helen Vaughan. We have had two children; Dorothy (deceased) and Gordon Ernest.

I am with Atwood Brothers, manufacturers of wooden boxes. Unfortunately we are located in a labor union ridden district. We have had a strike for the last three years and possibly its results may interest some of the fellows who are engaged in manufacturing and have the same thing to contend with.

In the later part of 1903 the labor unions made a demand for a "union or closed shop," which we promptly rejected and we resolved to continue to run an open shop. Then followed the strike; a strike for the only reason that we refused to have a union shop; a strike in which the question of wages or conditions did not enter at all. Ninty-nine men went out and seventy-five are still out. For about a year the factory was picketed and the streets patrolled. Being unsuccessful in this they then resorted to the boycott; they sent their agents broadcast and all the labor men from Samuel Gompers down were after us. So much for the strike and the causes that led up to it, but the point to which I wish to call your attention is the law suit and its results.

Early in 1906 we brought suit against the members of the Brockton Central Labor Union and on January 30 the Superior Court of Massachusetts issued a very strong decree perpetually restraining them for interfering with our business. I think this is the first case of the kind in Massachusetts and so far the results have been very satisfactory. We can get all the men we want and are doing more business than ever.

Since our strike all the box manufacturers in the state except two have cancelled their contracts with the labor unions and are now running "open shop" and one of them has just posted notices in his factory that after May 1 he shall run an open shop.

Address: Whitman.

ALEXANDER ROBERT BAUM.

Has not replied.

Is practicing law in San Francisco and living on the other side of the bay.

Address: Care Pacific Union Club, San Francisco, Cal.

JOHN DEAN BROWN.

Your note of the 17th inst. is received. I am a dry subject as to news about myself. As a lawyer, I am still getting my clients into about the usual amount of difficulties, I suppose. My offices now are Nos. 565, 566, 567 and 568 Frick Building Annex.

There have been no changes in my family and nothing to vary the passing years, except our usual summer trips, which are not worthy of mention here. I am still able to smile occasionally and be happy, and I cannot wish you (and through you the "boys of '87") anything better than that you are able to do the same.

Address: P. O. Box 354, Pittsburg, Pa.

THOMAS MARSHALL BROWN.

I have nothing to supplement the last report of the class as to myself that would be interesting to them or the world, except to say, that I am still so unfortunate as to be unmarried. This line of policy or of fate, both as to myself and all other like unfortunates of the class, is most pitiful both to ourselves and the nation. We send our enthusiastic greetings to all those in the other boat, and hope we may all soon join them.

I have nothing new to report, except to say that I am glad the nation is and has been strong in the faith of the Republican party and in the leadership of one of its greatest Presidents, Theodore Roosevelt. I have been active in politics through all these past eight years, though holding no office, and I want none.

I am still strenously pursuing the practice of the law. I have made numerous public addresses of a local character, on politics, law, and general municipal and domestic questions.

Our law firm is composed of my father, A. M. Brown, my brother, John D. Brown, and myself, doing business as A. M. Brown & Sons, 565-568 Frick Building Annex, Pittsburg, Pa.

Address: P. O. Box 354, Pittsburg, Pa.

CHARLES CARROLL.

The Secretary is informed that he lives in Paris, France. He very seldom comes to this country. He married Susanne Bancroft of Washington, D. C., a year after we graduated. He has one son who is now in his first year as midshipman at the Naval Academy at Annapolis. He spends all his time abroad, mostly in automobiling and hunting.

Address: The Knickerbocker Club, Fifth Ave., N. Y.

ALBERT DUDLEY DAVENPORT.

I am still with the Jordan Marsh Co., as a bookkeeper. Am also a farmer in a small way. I have neither married nor joined any clubs or societies. My only part in politics is to vote at different elections and town meetings. My journeys are twice a day between Boston and Bridgewater.

Address: 45 North, Bridgewater.

THOMAS CLELAND DAWSON.

Has continued in the diplomatic service since the last class report, serving as Secretary of Legation in Brazil until April, 1904, when he was appointed Minister Resident and Consul-General to the Dominican Republic. December 18, 1906, he was appointed Minister Plenipotentiary, etc., to Columbia and has been confirmed by the Senate but has not yet (February 23, 1907) taken the oath of his new post. In Santo Domingo he negotiated and signed the unratified convention for financial contract February 7, 1905. April 1st, 1905, he framed the "modus vivendi," under which Dominican finances have since been conducted and February 8, 1907, signed the new financial convention.

April 5th, 1900, he married Louise Guerra Duval of Rio de Janeiro. They have two children, Allan Duval, born February 16, 1903, and Mary Louise, born July 31, 1905.

He has written "The South American Republics"; in the "Story of the Nations" series. G. P. Putnam Sons, New York, 1903 and 1904, 2 vols.

In connection with official duties and leaves of absence, he has in the last five years travelled in France, England, Scotland, Argentina, Uruguay, Brazil, Barbadoes, Hayti, Santo Domingo, the Bahamas, Porto Rico and Cuba.

The only public address beside the usual speeches of a diplomat which he thinks worth mentioning was one before the University Settlement of New York, giving the results of researches at Santo Domingo, which convince him that the remains of Christopher Columbus lie interred in the Cathedral at that city.

His residence is, as always, at Council Bluffs, Iowa.

Address: Care State Department, Washington, D. C.

WILLIAM YALE FOX.

"Nothing since last report."

Address: Taunton.

WILLIAM WADE GRINSTEAD.

In May, 1904, I removed from Chicago to the Gulf Coast of Mississippi, and am now living about two miles from West Pascagoula Station on the L. & N. R. R., about 40 miles west of Mobile and 100 miles east of New Orleans. I suppose I should be classed as a farmer; I am engaged especially however in the growing of Pecans, being interested with Chicago people in the establishment of a grove of that species of nut tree.

I was married on February 27th, 1906, at Ocean Springs, Mississippi, to Miss Agnes Marjorie Deuel Hellmuth, daughter of Agnes Cooke and the late Gustavus Stewart Hellmuth of London, Ontario, Canada. Aside from this no especial piece of good fortune has befallen me. I am not in politics, have filled no public offices, have no literary efforts to report, and am spending all my time at home.

Address: Gautier, Mississippi.

DANIEL PAINE GRISWOLD.

In answer to your circular I cannot add much to my last letter. During the past five years my life has been uneventful, except for the death of my only brother last month.

I have been three years in Lenox, where I still live and two summers I spent at Marlotte in the forest of Fontainebleau and the intervening winter in Paris.

I belong to the same clubs and have no more children or degrees or positions of honor or trust than I came into the world with; nor have I published any books or articles, nor addressed any public meetings.

Address: Lenox.

JAMES WINSLOW HALL.

I have very little to report as to my life during the last five years.

My residence is changed from Port Blakeley to Winslow, Wash. My occupation is still ship-building, in wood.

I am still unmarried.

I am a member of the University and Harvard Clubs of Seattle, and the Sons of the American Revolution.

I have taken no part in politics; held no office of profit, and none of honor or trust worth mentioning; attained no degree; published no writing and made no public address.

The longest journey I have taken was to San Francisco, on business, four years ago. The only time I travelled beyond the boundary was when I visited Hughes at Victoria, B. C., two years ago.

Address: Winslow, Wash.

SAMUEL COWAN HENNING.

1. Louisville, Ky., to July, 1903. New York since then. Brokers' business. S. C. Henning & Co. Members New York Stock Exchange.

2. Married Louisville, Ky., June, 1897, to Julia Blackburn Duke, daughter of General and Mrs. Basil W. Duke.

3. Two children: Henrietta Hunt Henning, Julia Duke Henning.

5. Metropolitan Club, Tuxedo Club, Kentucky Society of New York.

Address: 44 Wall, New York.

BENJAMIN BYRON HOFFMAN.

In answer to your several communications for the class report, I beg to send you the following:

1. General manager of the Sarco Company. We manufacture electrical specialties.

2. Married September 8, 1894, at the American embassy in Paris, France, to Henriette Brille of that city. Her father's name, Samuel Brille; her mother's, Babette Brille.

3. No children.

4. Harvard Club, New York City, New York Electrical Society.

9. Author of the "Sloyd System of Wood-working." I also wrote the article on Manual Training for Appleton's Encyclopedia.

11. Have travelled extensively abroad, spent the year 1901 to 1902 in Paris, France.

13. My best wishes for the welfare of all the members of the class of '87.

Address: The Sterling Apartments, 203 West 113th, New York City.

JOHN HOWLAND LOTHROP.

Since last report have changed my place of residence, leaving St. Louis and coming to Spokane May 1st, 1906, to take position of General Freight Agent, Spokane and Inland Empire R. R., which I now hold.

John Howland Lothrop, Jr., was born June 11th, 1904; William Augustus Lothrop, was born December 5th, 1905.

Member of Spokane Club and Spokane Country Club.

Address: Terminal Building, Spokane, Wash.

WALLACE NUTTING.

Writes that owing to ill health his occupation is "Art Photography," though he is "still so far as professional standing goes a Congregational clergyman." Married to Mariet Griswold. No children.

The following card was enclosed in his reply:

GONE TO GRASS.

That is what I have done with myself and my picture business. A photographic farm of ample proportions has been purchased. Pure running water from a living spring flows through my work rooms. The smoke and dust of the city are far from me. A colonial house, and flocks and herds to pose by my streams furnish inspiration. My guild of helpers look out upon a land of dreams, tuned to reality.

This is a removal notice of Wallace Nutting and his two thousand original negatives, to Southbury, Connecticut, where with forest, road and river, with picture shop, wood shop and farm, all the requisites for the best art work are at hand.

Address: Southbury, Conn.

ROBERT JAMES OGLESBY.

The Secretary is informed that for some time, during the boom of the zinc mining industry in the last part of the "nineties," he was in Joplin, Missouri looking after some zinc mines. Then when the oil boom started in Chanute, Kansas, in 1900 or 1901, he went to Chanute, Kansas, acquired some oil wells, married, and probably is still living there.

EDWARD WARREN ORDWAY.

I don't think I have anything especially valuable or interesting to contribute. I have not inflicted publications of any kind upon my innocent fellowmen nor has my eloquence helped to enlighten the world. I have no political ambitions, hence I have not been elected or even nominated to any office. Social ambitions being non-existent have the same story. I have tried to be of service in humble capacities in quite a number of social and reform movements whenever any promising cause came my way—whether it was worth while or not the future only can tell. Life on the whole has been rich and happy.

I have spent the summers every year in mountain climbing in the Alps, chiefly to work up enthusiasm for winter's work. This is a plain prosaic report but perhaps on the whole it is best like fortunate nations to have no history.

Address: 1093 Dean, Brooklyn, N. Y.

WILLIAM HESSELTINE PEAR.

The following will serve to record briefly what has happened to me during the past five years: I have continued to hold the office of Assistant Secretary of the Boston Children's Aid Society; for two years was President of the Monday Evening Club and for two years Chairman of the General Committee of the First Parish Church, Cambridge. At present am Chairman of the Paine Fund Committee, which directs the expenditures of the income of a quarter of a million dollars in the interest of needy persons in Cambridge. Am a director of the Homes for Aged People, director and secretary of the corporation of the E. & R. Laundry Co., director and treasurer of the Annisquam Yacht Club; a member of the Economic, Economy, Unitarian, Boston City Club and (of course) the Harvard Union. I have done almost no travelling though I intend to spend this summer in England with my family. Delivered one of the addresses at the National Conference of Charities and Correction in Philadelphia last year.

Address: 23 Francis Ave., Cambridge.

WILLIAM BACON SCOFIELD.

For the past four years I have been manufacturing weaving machinery as one of the owners of the Crompton-Thayer Loom Co. This business was sold to the Crompton Knowles Loom Works this month (January, 1907). I have retired altogether from this business but am still connected with one or two small manufacturing enterprises as treasurer.

My only public service has been confined to occasional addresses before political meetings and social organizations.

My address remains unchanged but my age is somewhat greater than when I last wrote you.

Address: Worcester Club, Worcester.

THOMAS BLYTHE SCOTT.

Left St. Paul in 1898, moving to Chicago, where I remained until February, 1904, when I came to Virginia.

Address: Nat. Bank of Commerce Bldg., Norfolk, Va.

FRANK DEMPSTER SHERMAN.

Is Professor of Graphics, School of Architecture, Columbia University. Appointed in 1904. Reports the following additional publications: "Lyrics of Joy" (1904) Houghton, Mifflin & Co., Boston; "A Southern Flight" (1905) with Clinton Scollard. Privately printed, Clinton, N. Y. To all other question answers "same as before."

Address: Columbia University, New York.

FRANK HENRY STANYAN.

Within the past five years I have acquired an abandoned farm in Maine and an 18 foot boat with a 4 horse power gasoline engine. But I am neither a farmer nor a mariner. I still stick to journalism. As a member of the editorial staff of the Boston Globe, my business address is 244 Washington St., Boston. My residence is at 76 Boston Ave., West Medford, Mass.

Address: Care The Globe, 244 Washington, Boston.

EDWARD BIXBY STEWART.

Mentally incapable of work since 1887. Unmarried.

Address: Care Rev. Samuel B. Stewart, Ballston Spa., N. Y.

CHARLES HOWARD STRONG.

My law firm has became Peckham & Strong, Mr. Warner retiring two years ago. When this report is read I shall probably be engaged in practice alone at No. 42 Broadway. George McAneny, President of the City Club, and distinguished in Civil Service Reform circles, will have an office with me.

My son, Frederick Longfellow Strong, was born November 2, 1902.

My clubs have not changed—in this connection I may say I have recently been chosen Chairman of the Board of Trustees of the City Club.

Address: 1125 Madison Ave., New York.

THOMAS RICE VARICK.

Treasurer of John B. Varick Co., of Manchester, N. H., with which concern I have been connected since leaving college.

June 26, 1889, was married to Miss Mary Miller, daughter of Nathaniel Jones Miller and Sara Peters Miller of Bangor, Maine. We have no children.

On the death of my father, which occurred in 1902, I became a member of the New York State Society of the Cincinnati, succeeding in the right of Lt.-Col. Richard Varick, an original member. Col. Varick was Deputy Muster Master General of the Continental Army and Military Secretary to General Washington during the latter part of the Revolutionary War. He was also mayor of the City of New York from 1789 until 1801, and President of the New York State Society of the Cincinnati from 1806 until his death in 1831. I am a director of the Amoskeag National Bank, Peoples Gas Light Co., New Hampshire Fire Insurance Co., and trustee of the Peoples Savings Bank, all of Manchester.

Address: Manchester, N. H.

*JOSEPH SWIFT WHISTLER.

Born August 25, 1865. Died November 28, 1905.

Few of us, who were present on a certain glorious occasion on April 18, 1885, a Sophomore class dinner, will forget Whistler's famous speech. Both he and I had ceased to be actively connected with '87 at that period. The honor fell to him to reply to a toast to the class of '88. The speech was terse and perfect: "'88 is a splendid class, but '87 is a d—— sight better one."

JOSEPH SWIFT WHISTLER.

Joseph Swift Whistler, son of George William and Julia Winans Whistler, was born August 25, 1865, at Frankfort-on-the-Main, Germany, and passed most of his very early youth in Russia, where his father was building certain Russian railways, and Dresden, Saxony. Later he was at school at Brighton, England, for a time, and entered Harvard from Adams Academy, Quincy. Though he never graduated, he was with us nearly four years and was a member of the Dickey, Hasty Pudding, A. D. and Zeta Psi Clubs.

After leaving Cambridge, Whistler went abroad, where he remained some three years, and during that time at Florence, Italy, April 2, 1888, he married Miss Florence Fuller, who survives him; she was the daughter of the late William Henry Fuller and Elizabeth Fuller of Cambridge, Mass.

Whistler was never in active business and on his return to this country lived for several years in Baltimore, Md., where he was a member of the Maryland, Baltimore and Elkridge Clubs. He was also a member of the Lenox Club of Lenox, Mass., and for some years of the Somerset Club of Boston and the Harvard Club of New York. He travelled abroad from time to time, and in 1900 bought and settled in Lenox, Mass., where he lived, making one or two more short trips to the other side, till his death, which occurred very suddenly November 28th, 1905. He had suffered from delicate lungs for some years, and had for a few days past complained of a slight cold. I saw him two days before his death and he seemed quite well, but he had a sudden hemorrhage and died almost instantly. We saw him laid away in the cemetery on the hill at Lenox a bitter cold Thanksgiving day, November 30th. Higginson and I were his only classmates present. Of our old Club Table, George C. Baker, Samuel W. Perkins, Denny, Hecksher and Whistler are gone. It's a big mortality at our age.

Whistler was loved by all who knew him. He had a quaint humor all his own, and was one of the most delightful and amusing of companions and a staunch good friend, and is missed and mourned by all who knew him.

D. P. G.

CHARLES LIVY WHITTLE.

1. Occupation, geologist and mining engineer. My residence is 24 Langdon St., Cambridge, Mass.

2. On August 29th, 1892, I married Anna Kimball Chaplin, of Rutland, Vermont, daughter of George Washington Chaplin and Margaret Campbell Chaplin.

3. None.

5. I have been a member of the Harvard Union and have joined the Geological Society of America and the American Institute of Mining Engineers.

6. None.

7. As I am a professional man I hold no office permanently.

8. None.

9. Regarding pamphlets, articles, etc., published, I will say that I have written quite considerably for various publications, mostly on scientific subjects.

At the risk of taxing the interest of any members of the class I will enclose the following partial list of papers prepared by me:

"The Intrusive and Extrusive Triassic Trap Sheets of the Connecticut Valley," by William M. Davis and Charles L. Whittle, for the Bulletin of the Museum of Comparative Zoology, at Harvard College, December, 1889.

"Genesis of the Manganese Deposits of Quaco, New Brunswick," for the Boston Society of Natural History, May, 1901.

"The Beach Phenomena at Quaco, New Brunswick," for The American Geologist, Minneapolis, Minnesota, March, 1891.

"An Ottrelite—Bearing Phase of a Metamorphic Conglomerate in the Green Mountains," for The American Journal of Science, New Haven, Connecticut, October, 1892.

"Some Dynamic and Metasomatic Phenomena in a Metamorphic Conglomerate in the Green Mountains," for Bulletin of the Geological Society of America, Rochester, New York, February, 1893.

"The General Structure of The Main Axis of the Green Mountains," for The American Journal of Science, New Haven, Connecticut, May, 1894.

"The Occurrence of Algonkian Rocks in Vermont and The Evidence for their Subdivision," for The Journal of Geology, May-June, 1894.

"The Natural History of the Lakes of New England," for The New England Magazine, Boston, Mass., July, 1897.

"Monadnock Mountain, New Hampshire," for The Granite Monthly, Concord, New Hampshire, January, 1898.

"Highway Construction in Massachusetts," for Appleton's Popular Science Monthly, New York City, May, 1897.

"The Forces Operating to Destroy Roads," for United States Department of Agriculture, Office of Road Inquiry, Washington, D. C., March, 1897.

"The Science of Observation," for Appleton's Popular Science Monthly, New York City, February, 1899.

"Ancient and Modern Highways," for The New England Magazine, Boston, Mass., 1898.

"The Building and Road Stones of Massachusetts," for The Mineral Industry, New York City, December, 1899.

"The Clay Industry of Massachusetts," for The Mineral Industry, New York City, December, 1899.

"The Stone Industry," for The Mineral Industry, New York City, January, 1900.

10. None.

11. Professionally I have visited nearly all the Provinces of Canada, and I have also made trips to Costa Rica and Jamaica.

Address: 50 Congress, Boston.

CALVERT WILSON.

1. My residence for the last five years has been 1403 Burlington Ave., Los Angeles, California, and my office, where I have practiced law during the same period is 350 Wilcox Building, Los Angeles, California. I have no partner.

2. I was married on February 11th, 1896, to Kathryne J. Smith of San Jose, California, who is still living. Her father's name was Edwin O. Smith of San Jose, and her mother's name was Catherine Brown, before she married E. O. Smith.

3. I have one child aged ten years, named Eveline E. Wilson, who was born on December 6th, 1896.

5. I belong to the following clubs and societies: California Club, University Club, both of Los Angeles, also Ramona Parlor, Native Sons of the Golden West, of which I am a Past President, Los Angeles Lodge, No. 55, of Ancient Order of United Workmen, of which I am a Past Master.

6. Have not taken any part in politics on my own behalf, but I have been on campaign committees for others.

7. Have not held any offices except in societies.

8. I am a Master of Arts of Georgetown University, Washington.

9. I have published a book on mining laws of the Southwest States, the second edition of which is now in the press.

13. I should be glad to see any of the boys of the class of '87 who journey out this way, and would be glad to make their visit here a pleasant one.

Address: 350 Wilcox Building, Los Angeles, California.

MARRIAGES, BIRTHS AND DEATHS.

MARRIAGES.

Abbot, E. S. .....*Frances L. Smith .....July 5, 1897
Died July 16, 1898.
Abbott, S. .....Madeline White .....June, 1893
Alexander, W. .....Grace Harper Coppell .....Oct. 18, 1904
Ames, J. L. .....Elizabeth J. McGeachey.....Oct. 25, 1893
Appleton, W. C. .....Edna Marion Turner.....June 25, 1895
Ashe, G. M. .....Julia Bolado .....Dec. 2, 1891
Atwood, W. F. .....Helen Vaughn 1892
Austin, W. .....Mabel Linsley Frazer .....June 17, 1897
Ayer, C. F. .....Sara Theodora Ilsley.....June 22, 1904
Bailey, T. J. .....Lucy O'Bryan .....Feb. 8, 1898
Baker, G. P. .....Christina Hopkinson .....Aug. 16, 1893
Baker, W. .....
Balcomb, C. S. .....Annie Isabelle Wheeler.....Nov. 12, 1902
Bartol, J. M. .....Charlotte H. Cabot.....Oct. 2, 1900
Baum, A. R. .....Loulu Scott .....July 31, 1888
Bemis, H. H. .....Esther Glenny.....Oct. 11, 1898
Berensen, B. .....Mary Costelloe.....Dec. 29, 1900
Bingham, H. H. C.....Ora Bardwell Hill .....Dec. 26, 1893
Bisbee, E. .....Blanche S. Roberts.....Oct. 30, 1895
Black, W. H. .....Ada Dravo .....June 19, 1888
Blake, J. B. .....Anne Hastings .....Oct. 25, 1899
Blodgett, E. E. .....Mabel Louise Fuller.....Nov. 17, 1891
Bourne, H. C. .....*Elizabeth Fero .....June 4, 1899
Died April 30, 1893.
Bowen, W. J. .....Helen Emily Matthews.....Aug. 8, 1906
Bowles, D. W. .....Josephine Porter.....Dec. 1, 1891
Boyden, W. L. .....Elizabeth Beall.....April 22, 1902
Briggs, R. .....Jennie French .....June 27, 1893
Bright, E. .....Mary Louise Pratt.....May 10, 1899
Brodeur, C. A. .....Mary Cornelia Latta.....June 24, 1887
Brooks, W. A. .....Helen M. Winchell.....Nov. 9, 1892
Brown, J. D. .....Helen Dorothy Shepard.....June 2, 1898
Browne, G. M. .....Bertha V. LaBau .....Feb. 14, 1893

Buck, G. F.	*Alice Wilhoit	Nov. 9, 1893
	Died June, 1895.
	Blanche E. C. Staples	Feb. 2, 1898
Buckingham, E.	Elizabeth Branton Holstein	July 15, 1901
Buckley, J. G.	Josephine Louise Gilbert	Jan. 20
Burbank, W. C.	Louise V. Roche	Oct. 23, 1890
Burgess, T. P.	Elizabeth Slade
Carroll, C.	Susanne Bancroft	1888
Clarke, B. F.	*Helen Curtis Dole	Oct. 28, 1891
Clarke, H. L.	*Edith Hall	Jan. 9, 1895
	Died February, 1902.
Coolidge, F. S.	Elizabeth Penn Sprague	Nov. 12, 1891
Costello, D. T.	*Blanche C. Ritchie	June 16, 1892
	Died March 13, 1899.
	Rebecca Miller Primeau	Nov. 3, 1902
Craig, T. C.	Lucretia Crandall Colby	July 26, 1897
Cummings, A. M.	Gertrude Randall	July 2, 1892
Currier, C. F. A.	Florence May Morton	Dec. 26, 1892
Daly, E. V.	Mary E. Herrick	Oct. 6, 1894
Dean, F. A.	Mary Adaline Stewart	May 29, 1898
Dawson, T. C.	Luiza Guerra-Duval Murray	April 5, 1900
Delone, C. J.	Helen S. Winebrener	April 26, 1894
DeVeau, F. C.	Sarah Hunt Putnam	Nov. 26, 1889
Dexter, G.	Annie Linzee Amory	Feb. 1, 1906
Droppers, G.	*Cora Augusta Rand	Sept. 1889
	Died Aug. 17, 1896.
	Jean Tewksbury Rand	Sept. 4, 1897
Dudley, A. T.	Frances Perry	July 2, 1890
Edgar, H. L.	Alice Bayard King	Oct. 15, 1891
Elgutter, C. S.	*Nellie Rosewater	Sept. 20, 1892
	Died July 2, 1893.
Emery, E. S.	Charlotte M. White	June 15, 1893
Endicott, W.	Helen Southworth Shaw	June 11, 1889
Faulkner, W. E.
Fiske, E.	Ethel Warren Kidder	April 20, 1893
Fletcher, J. B.	Agnes Peabody Herrick	May 30, 1893
Foster, C. C.	Martha Bradford Foster	Oct. 19, 1892
Foster, G. W.	Mary Florence Clark	June 26, 1901
Fox, W. Y.	Annie L. Paull	Oct. 20, 1892
Frederickson, D. G. M.	Helen W. Brown	Jan. 27, 1903
Fuller, A.	Martha Williams Crane	Jan. 19, 1898

Furber, G. P.	Laura Mabel Parker	Feb. 15, 1897
Ganong, W. F.	Jean Murray Carman	April 4, 1888
Gardner, A. A.	Katherine T. Willets	Aug. 22, 1892
Gersdorff, C. A. de	Helen S. Crowninshield	Sept. 28, 1895
Gray, J. H.	Helen Rockwell Bliss	June 14, 1894
Grinstead, W. W.	Agnes Marjorie Deuel Helmuth	Feb. 27, 1906
Griswold, D. P.	Annie Robe	Jan. 25, 1888
Hale, H. G.	Lavinia Browne	Sept. 1, 1891
Hamilton, F. E. E.	Mary Mackie Pierce	April 25, 1895
Haskell, A. S.	Nina Smith Albee	June 16, 1890
Heckscher, M.	Constance Spencer	Jan. 10, 1893
Henning, S. C.	Julia Blackburn Duke	June, 1897
Herron, W. C.	Jane Espy	June 18, 1895
Hicks, L.	Paula Reno	April 15, 1895
Higginson, G.	*Edyth G. Griswold Died July 30, 1896.	May 20, 1891
	Emily Wakem	Sept. 7, 1898
*Hillebrand, W. C.	Ada Dietrich
Hoffman, B. B.	Henriette Ivonne Brille	Sept. 8, 1894
Holt, H. C.	Elizabeth E. Gray	Sept. 11, 1892
Houghton, S. A.	Margaret S. Beckwith	June 9, 1897
Howe, M. A. de W.	Fanny Huntington Quincy	Sept. 26, 1899
Howe, W. B.	Annie Howe Bean	Oct. 21, 1890
Hubbard, G.	*Sarah N. Henshaw Died Sept. 20, 1906.	March 5, 1891
Hudson, C.	Edith Shannon	Nov. 29, 1893
Hughes, F. E.
Hunt, A. N.	Saran Weeks Lane	May 4, 1899
Hunt, T.	Carrie Speiden	June 19, 1894
Huntington, F. C.	Susan Louisa Butler	June 15, 1904
Hurlbut, B. S.	Eda Adams Woolson	July 12, 1904
Hyde, L. F.	Charlotte Pruyn	June 18, 1901
Jackson, J. M.	Leonora Lewis	May 15, 1895
Johnson, L. J.	Grace Allen Fitch	June 27, 1893
Jones, F. R.	Helen Steel	June 7, 1905
Keays, H. G.	Lucy Cecelia Herod	Oct. 14, 1896
Kestner, C.	Helen Louise McCarty	Aug. 22, 1892
Keyes, H. W.	Frances Parkinson Wheeler	June 8, 1904
Kimball, G. W.	Grace Octavia Emery	Nov. 22, 1890
Knapp, G. P.	Anna J. Hunt	July 2, 1890
Knapp, J. H.	Helen L. Webster	May 22, 1888

Knight, A. S.	Abbie F. Knight	Oct. 1, 1891
Knowles, J. W.	Lydia Grinnell	June 13, 1900
Ladd, G. E.	Mary O. Hammond	May 14, 1889
Litchfield, E. S.	Ruth Rippey	August 1, 1889
Livermore, H. J.	*Susie T. McKay	July 5, 1888
	Died October, 1894.
	Elizabeth Hill	March, 1896
Lochman, M. A.	Helen Van Wyck
Lothrop, J. H.	Lucille B. LaBertew	Sept. 3, 1891
Loud, C. E.	Ellen Stanwood Cowperthwait	June 21, 1898
*Luce, L.	Alice Baker
Luria, A. S.	Mary E. Garlichs	Feb. 26, 1895
Mead, F. S.	Katherine Rand	June 11, 1890
*Meeks, E. J.	Ann C. Connable	(Fall) 1890
Meredith, I. S.	Lillie W. Tucker	(Spring) 1888
Mitchell, M. D.	Elizabeth P. Ladd	Jan. 22, 1891
Morse, J. L.	Adelaide May Fairbrother	Sept. 3, 1906
Mumford, G. S.	Isabella Mason Lee	Dec. 7, 1895
Nay, F. N.	Helen Bell Lord	April, 1894
Nicolson, F. W.	Louise E. Wright	Sept. 9, 1891
Nutting, W.	Mariet Griswold Caswell	June 5, 1888
Oakes, W.	Mary Beekman Taylor	May 24, 1893
Oakman, O. B.	Mary Louise French	Oct. 23, 1901
Oglesby, R. J.		1901
Ordway, E. W.	Mary C. Kingsley	April 17, 1895
Osgood, A. H.	Jennie L. Merrill	June 27, 1888
Palmer, E. C.	Alice Atkinson	June 7, 1900
Palmer, F. S.	Beatrix Bennet	August, 1899
Parker, G. H.	Louise Merritt Stabler	June 15, 1894
Parmenter, F. C.	Sarah Alice Pew	June 12, 1889
Peabody, H. E.	Emily S. Clough	August 16, 1894
Peabody, L. R.	Constance Roddy	June 16, 1897
Pear, W. H.	Fannie C. Bradley	Oct. 22, 1890
Perkins, A. T.	Eva Spotswood Lemoine	Feb. 16, 1898
Perkins, H. G.	Maria Theresa Tupper	Nov. 15, 1890
*Perkins, S. W.	*Louise Eddy	Nov. 11, 1889
	Died January 27, 1892.
Pinkham, W. S.	Isabella Southworth Foote	July 16, 1900
Poppleton, W. S.	*Charlotte H. Kennedy	Oct. 17, 1888
	Died August, 1899.
	Helen Clark Smith	Oct. 7, 1903

Potter, A. B.	Florence E. Brooks	Oct. 5, 1898
Power, M. S.	Velina Stevens Smith	June 30, 1891
Preston, W.	Edith Hall	Oct. 17, 1888
Proctor, C. S.	Ida Frances Holden	Oct. 16, 1890
Proctor, F. I.	Mary L. Stevens	Dec. 17, 1891
Putnam, G. J.	Helen H. White	Oct. 15, 1891
*Quinby, G. T.
Rantoul, C. W.	Caroline Endicott	Oct. 15, 1891
Remington, F.	Maude H. Willits	May 8, 1902
Reynolds, P. R.	Amelia F. D. Stead	Sept. 26, 1899
Rhinelander, T. N.	Katherine J. Blake	May, 1894
Rich, E. J.	Mary Louise Aldrich	Nov. 23, 1893
Robbins, R.	Theresa Huntington	Nov. 14, 1888
Robinson, A. B.	Ethel Blackwell	April 29, 1901
Robinson, B. L.	Margaret Louise Casson	June 29, 1887
Robinson, J. H.	Grace Woodville Read	Sept. 1, 1887
*Robinson, W. S.	Gertrude Rutgers Ringwalt	July 5, 1899
*Rogers, E. H.	Florence Halliday	August 24, 1892
Russell, J. S.	Emily Tyson Perry	May 21, 1902
Rust, P. S.	Harriet Widdifield Fireng	June 2, 1894
*Sampson, R. DeW.	Mary Waterhouse Ware	Nov. 24, 1893
Scott, T. B.	Mary Lee Clare	June 6, 1889
Sellers, F. H.	Mary A. Morley	Dec. 20, 1899
Sherman, F. D.	Juliet M. Durand	Nov. 16, 1887
Shippen, E. R.	Elizabeth Herrick Blount	April 18, 1900
Smith, A. C.	Harriet Foster White	Nov. 2, 1892
Smith, C. G.	Mary Eliza Lund	Oct. 4, 1893
Smith, H. E.	Amelia Benham Matthews	April 29, 1891
*Smith, S. H.	Mary H. Horton	Feb. 18, 1892
Snelling, J. L.	Christine L. Williams	Oct. 17, 1894
Southworth, F. C.	Alice Amelia Berry	Sept. 5, 1893
Spalding, W. R.	Alexandrine M. Stanton	April 18, 1896
Stanton, S. B.	Hedwig Jeanne Quintard	Oct. 6, 1902
Stanyan, F. H.	Mabel A. Buttrick	Oct. 13, 1891
Stedman, L. B.	Ann B. Leiper	April 29, 1891
Sterne, A. E.	Laura Mercy Laughlin	March 4, 1905
Stowell, F. C.	Eleanor C. Boothby	August 25, 1892
Sumner, J. O.	Mary Shreve Hutchinson	May, 1900
Strong, C. H.	Angelia L. Longfellow	June 28, 1893
Talbot, W. T.	Edith Hull Armstrong	Sept. 19, 1896
Tewksbury, E. G.	Grace Holbrook	May, 1889

Thompson, C. S.	Ruth Gage Frost	April 20, 1901
Tilton, B.	Alice B. Davidson	April 30, 1895
Truslow, R.	Alice Gray Colton	April 21, 1906
Tuthill, J. B. T.	Gertrude May Delamater	Oct. 24, 1893
Tyler, A. L.	Harriet W. Bond	Oct. 19, 1892
Varick, T. R.	Mary Miller	June 26, 1889
Vogel, F.	Lucia Lufkin Chaffee	August, 1893
Whittle, C. L.	Anna K. Chaplin	August 29, 1892
Von Storch, T. C.	Jessie Minshall Pennypacker	Oct. 4, 1894
Walker, F. L.	Henrietta B. Webber	Dec. 31, 1890
Walker, J. E.	Eva Lynn Hannum	June 11, 1890
Webster, E. C.	Wynn M. Ward	June 25, 1890
Weed, A. R.	Charlotte F. Atwater	April 30, 1896
Wetherbee, W.	Alice Harding Clark	Feb. 6, 1901
Whistler, J. S.	Florence Fuller	April 2, 1888
White, S. R.	Frances G. Crosby	Dec. 1, 1894
Whitelaw, G. G.	Fredrika Lee Allison	Oct. 16, 1889
Whitney, B.	Annie Dexter Perry	June 11, 1888
Whittle, C. L.	Anna Kimball Chaplin	Aug. 29, 1892
Wiestling, F. B.	Annie Edmunds	April 18, 1893
Wilson, C.	Kathryne J. Smith	Feb. 11, 1896
Wood, H. J.	Eleanor Murray Dorr	Jan. 8, 1890

BIRTHS.

Ames, J. L.	John Lincoln, Jr	July 23, 1895
Appleton, W. C.	William Channing, Jr.	March 15, 1897
Austin, W.	*William
	Died Oct. 25, 1899.
	Lindsley
	John Frazar
Atwood, W. F.	*Dorothy
	Gordon Ernest
Ayer, C. F.	Theodora	Sept. 27, 1905
Bailey, T. J.	Elizabeth Margaret	August 27, 1899
Baker, G. P.	John Hopkinson	June 30, 1894
	Edwin Osborne	Feb. 21, 1896
	Myles Pierce	August 18, 1901
	George Pierce, Jr.	Nov. 1, 1903
Baker, W.	Livingston, L.
	Wakefield
	Daughter

Balcomb, C. S.	Henry, 3d	May 7, 1904
Bartol, J. M. W.	Janet	July 13, 1902
	Dorothy	Dec. 15, 1903
	Ann	Dec. 21, 1905
Baum, A. R.	Charles Ethel Scott	May 4, 1889
	Alexander Newcomb	August 29, 1891
	Dorothy Louise	Sept. 28, 1895
Bemis, H. H.	Ruth	Dec. 2, 1899
	Grosvenor	March 17, 1902
Bisbee, E.	Loise Roberts	April 3, 1897
Blake, J. B.	Barbara	Sept. 25, 1900
	John Bapst, Jr.	April 3, 1902
	Hugh Hastings	1904
	Gerald, 2d	Sept. 9, 1905
	Mary Elizabeth	February, 1907
Blodgett, E. E.	Robert Fuller	July, 1893
	Ruth Hartwell	August, 1894
	Richard Ashley	June 27, 1897
	Dorothy	November, 1904
Bourne, H. C.	Madeleine	Nov. 2, 1890
	*Katherine Died June 1, 1893.	April 11, 1893
Boyden, W. L.	Walter Lincoln, Jr.	Sept. 28, 1903
	Helen Elizabeth	May 31, 1906
Briggs, R.	Richard, Jr.	Feb. 15, 1894
Bright, E.	Eleanor Pratt	March 4, 1901
	*Anna Williams Died April, 1906.	Jan. 1906
Brodeur, C. A.	Arthur Gilchrist	Sept. 18, 1888
	*Mary Silsby Died Aug. 5, 1892.... *Marion Marsh Died Aug. 6, 1892	March 19, 1892
	Harold Hills	June 25, 1894
	Paul Evans	May 3, 1901
	Clarence Gordon	Oct. 18, 1905
Brooks, W. A.	*Katherine Died Jan. 11, 1896.	March 10, 1895
Brown, G. M.	George Morgan, Jr.	May 23, 1905
	Marion La Bau	Dec. 11, 1906

Brown, J. D.	Dorothy Westlake	June 26, 1900
Buck, G. F.	*Infant	May, 1895
	Died May, 1895.
	George Faunce	Dec. 15, 1898
	Thomas Barnes	Feb. 20, 1900
	Samuel Dutton	Jan. 9, 1902
Buckingham, E.	Katharine	Aug. 24, 1902
	Stephen Alvord	March 18, 1905
Burgess, T. P.	Elizabeth
	Philip
	Henry
Carroll, C.	Son
Clark, H. L.	Daughter	Nov. 12, 1898
Costello, D. T.	Daniel Holmead	July 17, 1893
	John Blanchard	January 16, 1896
	*William Joseph	July 13, 1898
	Died December 3, 1898.
	Josephine	April 18, 1904
	Mary Elizabeth	Sept. 19, 1905
Craig, T. C.	Daughter
	Doris T.
	Randall F.
Cummings, A. M.	Rosamund G.
Currier, C. F. A.	Francis Morton	July 30, 1895
	*Charles Bennett	March 17, 1899
	Died Feb. 13, 1900.
Dawson, T. C.	Allen Duval	Feb. 16, 1903
	Mary Louise	July 31, 1905
Dean, F. A.	Horace Stewart	August 17, 1899
De Veau, F. C.	George Putnam	Oct. 5, 1890
	Frederic Joseph	Feb. 23, 1894
	Austis Hunt	Oct. 9, 1896
Droppers, G.	Seton Rand	August 12, 1898
	Cora Rand	August 3, 1900
	Elizabeth Rand	January 22, 1904
Dudley, A. T.	William Perry	July 11, 1891
	*Gardner Blanchard	Oct. 1893
	Died June, 1894.
	Frances Gardner	Sept. 19, 1898
Edgar, H. L.	William	March 8, 1894
Elgutter, C. S.	Nellie Rosalie	June 14, 1893

Emery, E. S.	Edward Stanley, Jr.	June 25, 1894
	Arthur Harris	March 23, 1905
Fletcher, J. B.	Margaret	1898
	Jefferson	1902
Foster, C. C.	Elizabeth Bradford	Dec. 12, 1902
Fredericksen, D. M.	Christine	Oct. 4, 1903
Fox, W. Y.	Dorothy	July 27, 1895
Furber, G. P.	Edward Parker	Jan. 2, 1898
	Harold Parker	Jan. 13, 1903
	Frances Hoar	Aug. 8, 1905
Gardner, A. A.	Alfred	Nov. 8, 1896
	*Martha Willets	Oct. 26, 1899
	Died March 8, 1904.
	Katharine Lucretia	June 21, 1901
	Emily Atwater	Nov. 13, 1905
Gersdorff, C. A. de	Josephine	June 18, 1896
	Alma	Nov. 25, 1897
	Caspar Crowninshield	March 10, 1901
Gray, J. H.	James Bliss	August 23, 1898
	Evelyn	Feb. 22, 1901
Hamilton, F. E. E.	Edward Pierce	Feb. 25, 1897
	Arthur Dean	March 5, 1900
Haskell, A. S.	Edith Anna	April 15, 1891
	Catharine Lucy	Dec. 4, 1892
Heckscher, M.	Constance Ledyard
	Gertrude Stevens
	Eleanor
Henning, J. C.	Henrietta Hunt
	Julia Duke
Herron, W. C.	James Espy	August 24, 1896
	Janet	1898
	John	1900
Hicks, L.	Hamilton	Jan. 6, 1896
	*Reno	Jan. 21, 1901
	Died Jan. 31, 1901.
Higginson, George	*Roger Griswold	Feb. 2, 1894
	Died Dec. 30, 1903.
	*George	July 16, 1899
	Died Sept. 22, 1901.
	Theresa	Oct. 30, 1901
	Emily	Jan. 21, 1903

Hillebrand, W. C.	Karl
Holt, H. C.	Stephen Willard	May 14, 1894
	Helen Thompson	Oct. 25, 1895
Houghton, S. A.	Henry Arnold	Nov. 10, 1899
	Margaret	Feb. 18, 1902
Howe, M. A. de W.	Quincy	Aug. 17, 1900
	Helen Frances	Jan. 11, 1905
	Mark DeWolfe	May 22, 1906
Howe, W. B.	David Willard	June 22, 1892
	Ruby	March 2, 1894
	Katharine	Feb. 14, 1896
	Elizabeth	July 11, 1898
	George Frederick	July 1, 1901
	Edward Gilman	Jan. 19, 1903
	Laurence Prescott	Nov. 25, 1905
Hubbard, G.	Katherine	Dec. 23, 1891
	Gorham	August 6, 1896
	Elizabeth Lyman	Sept. 8, 1906
Hudson, C.	Edith Frances	Nov. 1894
Hunt, A. N.	Edward Atherton	Dec. 14, 1900
	Richard Atherton	April 6, 1902
Huntington, F. C.	Prescott Butler	July 26, 1905
	William Reed, 2d	Jan. 28, 1907
Hurlbut, B. S.	James Woolson	June 15, 1905
	David Huntington	May 18, 1907
Hyde, L. F.	Mary Van Ness
Jackson, J. M.	Elinor	March 15, 1901
	*Dorothy	March 25, 1904
	Died Nov. 28, 1906.
Johnson, L. J.	Jerome Allen	July 21, 1896
	Chandler Willard	Nov. 24, 1902
Keays, H. G.	John Dean Gillett	Feb. 2, 1898
	Elizabeth Rogers	March 25, 1902
Kestner, C. C.	Helen S. E.	Sept. 7, 1893
Kimball, G. W.	Ruth	Oct. 23, 1891
Knapp, G. P.	Winifred Hunt	March 8, 1892
	Addison Ely	Nov. 2, 1894
	Margaret Washburn	Sept. 7, 1896
	Katharine Barnum	May 11, 1902
Knapp, J. H.	John Holly, Jr.	August 4, 1890
	Valeria Adams	June 15, 1898

Knowles, J. W.	Grinnell	Sept. 16, 1901
	John Edison	Oct. 17, 1902
	Laurence Grinnell	Jan. 2, 1904
Ladd, G. E.	George Hammond	August 12, 1890
	Shaler	Sept. 24, 1892
	Paul Revere	April 19, 1894
	Nancy Priest	Nov. 23, 1895
	George Edgar	Oct. 30, 1897
	John Gardner	Nov. 10, 1899
	Dorothy Devereaux	Sept. 8, 1901
Litchfield, E. S.	Virginia	May 10, 1894
	Miriam de Steiguer	April 8, 1897
Livermore, H. J.	Clara Allina
	Gwendolen Jarvis	August 2, 1890
	Catherine Hill	Nov. 23, 1899
Lothrop, J. H.	Frederick Ames	July 11, 1894
	John Howland, Jr.	June 11, 1904
	William Augustus	Dec. 5, 1905
Loud, C. E.	Mary Frances	May 27, 1905
*Luce, L.	Ralph	Oct. 1895
*Meeks, E. J.	Daughter
Meredith, I. S.*	Two children
Mumford, G. S.	Isabella Lee	1897
	George Saltonstall, Jr.	Dec. 23, 1901
Nay, F. N.	*Fletcher Warren	March 9, 1895
	Died April 1, 1895.
	Evelyn	Oct. 20, 1896
	Ralph Howdon	Aug. 25, 1900
	Richard F.	1905
Nicolson, F. W.	Elspeth	May 30, 1902
Oakes, W.	Mary Beekman
	Fletcher	June, 1900
	Maud Van Cortland
Oakman, O. B.	Hiram French	Oct. 6, 1906
Osgood, A. H.	Herman Ashton	March 11, 1890
	Merrill White	Jan. 31, 1892
Palmer, E. C.	Helen	Sept. 9, 1905
Palmer, F. S.	Francis Lynde Stetson	1903
Parmenter, F. C.	Derric Choate	Sept. 9, 1890
Peabody, H. E.	Stephen Clough	Jan. 18, 1896
	Leonard Clough	1898
	Phillips Clough	March 31, 1905

Peabody, L. R.	Constance E.	March 12, 1898
Pear, W. H.	William Wesley	March 25, 1900
Perkins, A. T.	Katherine Lemoine Guy	March 23, 1901
Perkins, H. G.	Maria Therese	Oct. 23, 1900
	Francis William	Jan. 8, 1904
*Perkins, S. W.	Constance Welsh	Oct. 4, 1890
Pinkham, W. S.	Marjorie	Oct. 6, 1902
	Alden Stone	Sept. 1, 1903
	Doris	Aug. 13, 1904
Poppleton, W. S.	*Andrew Jackson Died Jan. 10, 1896.	Oct. 5, 1889
	William Sears, Jr.	June 18, 1905
Potter, A. B.	Penelope	Aug. 6, 1899
	Albert Bailey	August 26, 1900
Power, M. S.	Madeline Louise	July 7, 1893
	Helen Parker	June 5, 1900
Proctor, C. S.	Horace Seward	July 20, 1891
	Edith	Oct. 3, 1895
Putnam, G. J.	Helen	Feb. 14, 1893
	George	Sept. 9, 1894
	Ruth	Oct. 9, 1901
Quinby, G. T.	Son
	Son
Rantoul, C. W.	*Constance Endicott Died Jan. 27, 1902.	Dec. 29, 1892
	Endicott	Nov. 18, 1896
Reynolds, P. R.	Mary	Sept. 11, 1902
	Paul Revere, Jr.	July 21, 1904
	Wendell P.	July 27, 1906
Rhinelander, T. N.	Philip Newbold	Sept. 1895
	Frederica	Dec. 29, 1898
Robbins, R.	Royal Elisha, 2d	March 11, 1890
	Theresa Reynolds	May 8, 1893
Robinson, A. B.	Samuel Blackwell	March 11, 1902
	Alfred Brookes, Jr.	April 17, 1903
	Antoinette Blackwell	Jan. 23, 1905
	Henry Blackwell	May 31, 1906
Robinson, B. L.	*Chriemhild Died Oct. 6, 1896.	May 29, 1888
Rogers, E. H.	Emery H.	Dec. 3, 1893
	Constance	Oct. 4, 1896

Russell, J. S.	*Daughter	Feb. 1903
	Died Feb. 1903.
	Elizabeth Tyson	Jan. 1904
	George Robert	Dec. 1905
Rust, P. S.	Frances Richardson	April 13, 1895
	Philip Goodnough	April 13, 1900
Scott, T. B.	Ann Lee	August 3, 1894
	Thomas Blythe, Jr.	May 7, 1896
Sherman, F. D.	Dempster Durand	Feb. 19, 1890
Shippen, E. R.	Harold Blount	June 11, 1901
	Zoe Elizabeth	Nov. 12, 1903
	Sylvia	April 17, 1905
Smith, A. C.	Harriet Huntington	Dec. 1, 1894
	Joseph Huntington White	August 6, 1896
	Helen Danforth	Oct. 27, 1900
	Grace White	Jan. 3, 1902
	Arthur Crittenden, Jr.	Dec. 11, 1903
	Esther	Feb. 18, 1906
Smith, C. G.	Charles Gaston, Jr.	March 24, 1898
Smith, H. E.	Mary Christine	April 15, 1892
	Edith Louise	Nov. 5, 1893
*Smith, S. H.	Agatha	Jan. 5, 1893
Snelling, J. L.	Christine	June 18, 1896
	Henry Bigelow Williams	Feb. 14, 1899
Southworth, F. C.	Constant	August 12, 1894
	William Berry	May 28, 1896
	Franklin Chester	June 28, 1898
Stanyan, F. H.	Starr Walker	July 11, 1892
Stedman, L. B.	Daniel Baxter, 4th	Sept. 15, 1892
	Lewis Leiper	Feb. 24, 1895
	Livingston Boyd, Jr.	Oct. 29, 1898
Stowell, F. C.	Lorna	May 3, 1895
Strong, C. H.	Margarent Longfellow	August 24, 1897
	Frederick Longfellow	Nov. 2, 1902
Sumner, J. O.	Roger	July 23, 1901
Talbot, W. T.	Frances Williams	August 10, 1900
	Emily	Dec. 23, 1901
Tewksbury, E. G.	Malcolm Gardner	Nov. 24, 1892
	Donald George	April 9, 1894

Thompson, C. S.	Priscilla Abbot	March 12, 1902
	Barbara	July 31, 1904
	Vashtl	Jan. 28, 1907
Tilton, B.	Barbara	March, 1897
Tuthill, J. B. T.	Gertrude	August 8, 1894
	Mary Van Wyck	April 6, 1898
	David Bogert	July 23, 1901
Tyler, A. L.	Annie Scott	Dec. 4, 1893
	Alfred Lee, 3d	May 21, 1904
Von Storch, T. C.	Theodore William	Dec. 24, 1895
	Joseph Constant	Feb. 20, 1905
Walker, F. L.	Eleanor Lucy	Dec. 5, 1892
	Katherine Annie	July 25, 1894
	Margaret	Oct. 6, 1895
Walker, J. E.	Evalynn H.	Oct. 9, 1892
Webster, E. C.	Ward	July 15, 1893
Weed, A. R.	Anne Atwater	Jan. 22, 1899
	Alonzo Rogers, Jr.	Jan. 16, 1904
Wetherbee, W.	Alice	Dec. 16, 1902
	Winthrop, Jr.	April 6, 1904
White, S. W.	George Crosby	Dec. 26, 1895
	Eleanor Frances	Sept. 23, 1897
	Grosvenor	Jan. 21, 1901
	Sumner Wheeler, Jr.	June 17, 1902
Whitney, B.	Annie	Dec. 31, 1890
	Benjamin Perry	Oct. 7, 1892
	Emily	July 8, 1897
Wiestling, F. B.	Daughter
	Daughter
Wilson, C.	Eveline Eliza	Dec. 6, 1896
Wood, H. J.	Marguerite Dorr	Nov. 29, 1890
	Eleanor Muriel	March 22, 1895
	Eleanor	Sept. 29, 1906

DEATHS.

Brown, C. R.	1883
Carmalt, C. C.	1905
Choate, R. S.	1884
Cochrane, A.	1889
Coolidge, H. T.	1889
Cox, B. F.	1892

Cushing, J. N.	1890
Davis, N. E.	1906
Denny, D.	1896
Drake, H. B.	1894
Dudley, J. W.	1906
Fessenden, E. F.	1887
Fiske, R. F.	1901
Giddings, C. I.	1893
Heckscher, M.	1905
Hervey, W. A.	1906
Hillebrand, W. C.	1899
Keep, R. W.	1897
Kestner, C.	1906
Kuhn, H.	1902
Linn, W. W.	1904
Lynch, W. D.	1889
Meeks, E. J.	1895
Meredith, I. S.	1894
Pearl, J. H.	1906
Perkins, S. W.	1898
Robinson, W. S.	1902
Sampson, R. de W.	1895
Smith, S. H.	1902
Snelling, J. L.	1907
Sternbergh, P. L.	1892
Todd, S. M.	1890
Whistler, J. S.	1905
Wilson, C. A.	1888

OCCUPATIONS.

Law.—Alexander, Ashe, Baum, Bean, Bisbee, Blodgett, Browne, G. M., Brown, J. D., Brown, T. M., Buck, G. F., Cunningham, Currier, W. L., Cushman, Daly, Delone, Dresel, Elgutter, Fiske, E., Fredericksen, Frost, Fuller, Furber, Gardner, de Gersdorff, Herron, Hicks, Hudson, Hunt, A. N., Hunt, F., Huntington, Hyde, Jones, F. R., Michael, Morrison, Nay, Pinkham, Poëy, Poppleton, Rhinelander, Rich, Robinson, A. B., Rust, Schofield, H., Shattuck, Smith, C. G., Stanton, Stedman, Thayer, A. C., Truslow, Von Storch, Weed, Wiestling, Willard. 49+4=53.

Business.—Austin, Ayer, Baker, W., Barrow, Briggs, Bright, Clark, B. F., Cotter, Cummings, Dexter, Emery, Foster, C. C., Goodwin, Hardy, Hoffman, Johnson, L. A., Knapp, J. H., Oakes, Palmer, E. C., Palmer, F. S., Parmenter, Peabody, L. R., Proctor, C. S., Rantoul, C. W., Remington, Smith, A. C., Stowell, Varick Wetherbee, White, Whitelaw, Whitney, Wood, Zinkeisen.

32+2=34.

Manufacturing.—Atwood, Black, Browne, Burgess, Knowles, Preston, Rice Robbins, Scofield, Tyler, Zerega. 9+2=11.

Teaching.—Bacon (?), Bailey, F. H., Baker, G. P., Bigelow, Bingham, Brainard, Brodeur, Buckingham, Coolidge, A. C., Currier, C. F. A., Droppers, Dudley, A. T., Fletcher, Ganong, Gray, J. H., Hurlbut, Johnson, L. J., Kavanagh, Lochman, Manly, Nicolson, Oakman, Parker, Power, Robinson, B. L., Robinson, J. H., Spalding, W. R., Sherman, Sumner, Tuthill, Vogel, Walker, J. E., Woods. 32+1=33.

Medicine.—Abbot, E. S., Ames, Bartol, Blake, Brooks, Coolidge, F. S., Faulkner, Flagg, Forchheimer, Fox, Hoover, Houghton, Jackson, Jones, L. C., Knight, Lothrop, H. A., Morse, Proctor, F. I., Robinson, T. J., Sterne, Talbot, Tuttle.

21+1=22.

Banking.—Allen, E. H., Bemis, Brengle, Burbank, Clark, H. L., De Veau, Endicott, Henning, Mumford, Potter, Putnam, Smith, H. E., Tilton. 11+2=13.

Ministry.—Craig, Dean, Hale, Hamilton, Knapp, G. P., Nutting, Osgood, R. F., Peabody, H. E., Shippen, Southworth, Tewksbury, Webster. 11+1=12.

Real Estate.—Brown, Edgar, Foster, G. W., Hubbard, Lord, Pastorius, Perkins, H. G., Russell. 8.

Engineering.—Perkins, A. F., Seeley, Storrow, Whittle. 3+1=4

Journalism.—Buck, H. A., Howe, W. B., Stanyan. 2+1=3.

Railroading.—Costello, Thompson, C. S., Lothrop, J. H. 2+1=3.

Farming.—Grimstead, Keays, Keyes. 2+1=3.

Mining.—Haskill, Ladd, Oglesby. 2+1=3.

Architecture.—Rantoul, A. N., Wheelwright. 2.

Diplomacy.—Riddle, Dawson. 2.

Literature and Art.—Howe, M. A. de W., Berensen. 2.

Philanthrophy.—Ordway, Pear. 2.

Draughting.—Balcomb. 1.

Canal Constructing.—Barrett. 1.

Accounting.—Boyden. 1.

Rowing.—Garnett. 1.

Shipbuilding.—Hall, J. W. 1.

Insurance.—Litchfield. 1.

Patent Soliciting.—Livermore. 1.

Dentistry.—Osgood, A. H. 1.

Publishing.—Reynolds. 1.

Unoccupied or Unreported.—Allison, Appleton, R. M., Appleton, W. C., Barber, Bowles, Buckley, Cameron, Carroll, Gray, W. T., Higginson, Hileman, Hughes, Kimball, Marvin, Mead, Mitchell, Saulsbury, Scott, Sellers, Smith, W. K., Storrow, Thayer, H. A., Thomson, E. A., Walker, F. L. 22+2=24.

GEOGRAPHICAL DISTRIBUTION.

New Hampshire.—Bingham, Dudley, A. F., Keyes, Varick.
Vermont.—Howe, W. B.

Massachusetts.—Abbot, E. S., Ames, Appleton, W. C., Atwood, Ayer, Bailey, F. H., Baker, G. P., Balcomb, Bartol, Bemis, Bigelow, Blake, Blodgett, Boyden, Briggs, Brodeur, Brooks, Burgess, Coolidge, A. C., Coolidge, F. S., Cummings, Cunningham, Currier, C. F. A., Currier, W. L., Cushman, Davenport, Dexter, Dresel, Emery, Endicott, Faulkner, Fiske, E., Flagg, Foster, G. W., Fox, Frost, Fuller, Furber, Ganong, Goodwin, Griswold, Hale, Hamilton, Houghton, Howe, M. A. de W., Hubbard, Hunt, A. N., Hunt, T., Hurlbut, Hyde, Jackson, Johnson, L. A., Johnson, L. J., Jones, F. R., Jones, L. C., Kimball, Knapp, J. H., Knowles, Litchfield, Livermore, Lothrop, H. A., Loud, Mead, Morse, Mumford, Nay, Oakman, Osgood, A. H., Parker, Parmenter, Pear, Perkins, H. G., Pinkham, Potter, Power, Preston, Proctor, C. S., Proctor, F. I., Putnam, Rantoul, A. N., Rice, Rich, Robbins, Robinson, B. L., Robinson, T. J., Russell, Rust, Scofield, W. B., Shattuck, Shippen, Smith, C. G., Spalding, W. R., Stanyan, Stowell, Tilton, Tuttle, Vogel, Webster, Weed, Wetherbee, Wheelwright, Whitney, Wood, Woods.

Connecticut.—Brainard, Craig, Nicolson, Nutting, Osgood, R. T., Peabody, H. E.

New York.—Alexander, Allen, E. H., Barrow, Bean, Bisbee, Browne, G. M., Buck, H. A., Buckley, Burbank, Daly, De Veau, Edgar, Fletcher, Gardner, de Gersdorff, Hardy, Henning, Hicks, Hoffman, Huntington, Kavanagh, Knight, Lochman, Morrison, Ordway, Palmer, F. S., Peabody, L. R., Rantoul C. W., Remington, Reynolds, Rhinelander, Robinson, A. B., Robinson, J. H., Seeley, Sherman, Thayer, A. C., Thomson, E. A., Truslow, White, Willard, Zerega, Zinkeisen.

Pennsylvania.—Black, Brengle, Brown, J. D., Brown, T. M., Cameron, Clark, H. L., Delone, Hileman, Smith, H. E., Southworth, Von Storch, Walker, J. E.

Delaware.—Saulsbury.

District of Columbia.—Buckingham.

Virginia.—Scott.

Ohio.—Browne, Forchheimer, Herron, Hoover.

Indiana.—Cotter, Sterne.

Illinois.—Clark, B. F., Droppers, Fredericksen, Gray, J. H., Higginson, Hudson, Keays, Manly, Scofield, H., Sellers.

Michigan.—Dean.

Wisconsin.—Bright, Thompson, C. S.

Nebraska.—Elgutter, Poppleton, Smith, A. C.

Kansas.—Oglesby.

Colorado.—Pastorius.

California.—Ashe, Baker, W., Baum, Buck, G. F., Haskell, Michael, Tuthill.

Washington.—Bowen, Hall, J. W., Lothrop, J. H., Oakes, Stedman, Wiestling.

Missouri.—Ladd, Perkins, A. T., Whitelaw.

Tennessee.—Foster, C. C.

Alabama.—Grinstead, Tyler.

Louisiana.—Palmer, E. C.

Arizona.—Costello.

Foreign Countries.—Austin (Japan), Barrett (Canal Zone), Berensen (Italy), Carroll (France), Dawson (U. S. of Columbia), Gray, W. T. (Ontario, Canada), Hughes (Ireland), Knapp, G. P. (Turkey-in-Asia), Poëy (Cuba), Riddle (Russia), Tewksbury (China).

Unknown.—Allison, Bacon, Barber, Bowles, Marvin, Mitchell, Smith, W. K., Storrow, Thayer, H. A., Walker, F. L.

CLASS MEETINGS.

At 11 A. M., Wednesday, June 25, 1902, pursuant to the notice sent out by the committee of arrangements for the Quindecennial, the chairman of the Class Committee called the meeting to order in Holden Chapel. As many of the men were unable to be present, without losing their places in line and their chance to obtain tickets to the Commencement dinner it was thought best to postpone the meeting and it was accordingly Voted that this meeting adjourn to meet again at one o'clock.

At 12:45 P. M., the whole number of men present being assembled on the east side of Sever Hall to be photographed, and no photographer present, it was unanimously agreed that the meeting be held then and there.

The men therefore grouped themselves about the chairman, on the grass and the secretary read a communication handed him by —. Coolidge, father of F. S. Coolidge, which was as follows:

SARANAC LAKE.

Am doing well. Give Furber, '87, Class Secretary, at Cambridge tomorrow, this message from me.

I am with you heart and soul, will join you on 20th Anniversary.

F. S. COOLIDGE.

This message was enthusiastically received.

G. H. Parker then spoke for the Harvard Union and urged the men to join in some form, as life members or associate or non-resident members.

The secretary then stated what had been done in the direction of building a gate and quoted the figures, showing that some two thousand dollars more were needed if the plan was to be carried out.

On motion by Parker it was Voted that the class build the gate planned for at the Broadway end of the walk in front of Sever Hall and leading towards Memorial.

The chairman called for subscriptions and asked for men who would double their subscriptions. Twenty-eight men immediately agreed to double their subscriptions, and four more agreed to increase theirs 50 per cent. Twenty-six more agreed to subscribe at once or to add to the amount already subscribed, and the meeting adjourned feeling that the success of the plan was assured.

CLASS MEETING AND DINNER.

The usual Informal Dinner will be held this year at the University Club, 270 Beacon Street, Boston, on Monday, June 22d, at 6.30 p. m.

A desire has been expressed for a better dinner; the cost this year will therefore be Two Dollars.

Are you coming? Please notify the Secretary before June 20th.

After the dinner there will be an important meeting of the Class for the purpose of passing upon two propositions: First, To determine whether the Class Committee shall be increased to five, and if so determined, to elect two additional members. At the present time two out of the three members of the Committee are living at a distance from Boston, so that it is impossible for them to be present at meetings of the Committee. The Committee is therefore obliged to do its business by correspondence or leave matters in the hands of the Chairman and Class Secretary with such advice as they can get from other members of the Class. The Committee therefore recommend that two additional members be elected.

Second, To determine what to do about the Class Gate. At the time subscriptions for the Class Gate were collected, we were informed that the gate allotted us would cost about $5,000. That sum of money was raised. Later the college authorities deemed it for the best interests of the college to change the plans and to substitute for the gate originally planned a large double gate. The change is certainly more beautiful, but the cost of one-half will be $8,000. We will have a picture of the new gate at the dinner, Monday, June 22. The question now is, shall we raise the additional $3,000, or give the gate up? This is the only chance we shall ever have to build a gate in the old yard, as it is the only location not taken.

The business will be discussed at the close of the dinner, which will not be probably before 8.30; therefore, if there are any members of the class who cannot be at the dinner, but can be at the University Club later in the evening, we hope they will join us at that time.

JUNE 22, 1903.

Pursuant to the foregoing notice, the chairman of the Class Committee called the class to order at the close of the class dinner at the University Club, Boston, at 8:45 P. M. Thirty-three members of the class being present.

On motion, it was Voted, that the Class Committee be increased by the addition of two members. Accordingly Endicott, Mead, Snelling, Mumford and Shattuck were suggested as candidates and

On motion by Shattuck it was unanimously

Voted, that Endicott and Mead be elected by acclamation, and they were elected accordingly.

The question of the '87 Gate was then laid before the class and the history and present condition of the matter set forth by the secretary. After discussion by Mead, Rich, J. H. Knapp, and Mumford,

On motion by Mumford, that the chairman of the Class Committee be instructed to appoint a committee consisting of the Class Committee and seven other members of the class to raise the balance of the money necessary to erect one of the two gates proposed by the plan of the corporation for this corner of the yard.

Shattuck opposed the erection of any gate, urging other plans and particularly a gift to the library for the purchase of books to be marked by a bookplate of the Class of 1887.

At the suggestion of the chair, Mumford's motion was modified by adding thereto the words "and the committee are given power to recommend some other gift to the college if it should prove impossible to erect the gate proposed."

After further debate by Mead and A. C. Coolidge the motion amended was unanimously adopted.

The suggestion having been made that as the plan of the corporation provided for two gates with ornamental stone and brickwork between them, there would be a peculiar fitness in having the other gate erected by the class of '88.

On motion by Blodgett,

That the Gate Committee confer with '88, with a view to having that class join with '87, in the erection of these gates.

Loud moved to amend the motion and the original motion being withdrawn, on motion by Loud it was Voted, that it is the sense of this meeting that the Class of '87 would be much gratified if the Class of '88 should be associated with '87 in the construction of these gates, provided the Class of '87 decides to build a gate.

Adjourned.

Boston, June 27, 1904.

Twenty-two members of the class met at the University Club for the annual dinner. At the close of the dinner, the secretary submitted the following vote adopted at the suggestion of the Alumni Association by a meeting of Class Secretaries, June 15, 1904:—

Voted that, in order to save frequent and irregular dunning of individuals, and to meet the necessary expenses of the Alumni Association of Harvard College, each Class through its Class Secretary be and hereby is requested to contribute yearly as follows; (1) from each Class a minimum of $10; (2) and in addition from all classes more than 25 years out of college $10 additional for each 100 or majority fraction thereof of living A. B.'s above the 100; (3) from all classes 25 or less years out of college $5 additional for each 100 or majority fraction thereof of living A. B.'s above the 100.

On motion by the secretary,

"That the secretary be authorized to pay the Alumni Association annually the sum of Ten Dollars and in addition thereto the sum of Five Dollars for each additional hundred or majority fraction thereof of living A. B.'s above the first hundred in the class," it was Voted, That the Secretary be authorized to pay to the Alumni Association annually a sum not exceeding Fifteen Dollars.

On motion by Mead it was Voted, That the Class Committee prepare appropriate resolutions on the death of Emery H. Rogers and that a copy of the same be forwarded to his family.

Adjourned.

Boston, June 26, 1905.

At the close of the annual dinner thirty-two members of the class being present, the chairman of the Class Committee called the meeting to order and announced that owing to the death of Rogers and the resignation of Stanton, there were two vacancies in the Class Committee.

On motion, it was Voted, That an informal ballot be taken for members of the committee.

The chair appointed Pearl and Emery, tellers.

On motion it was Voted, That the four names having the highest number of votes be the list of candidates from which the vacancies be filled.

The ballots being cast, the tellers reported the four highest on the list as follows:

Snelling	13
Alexander	12
De Gersdorff	11
Houghton	9

A formal ballot then being taken, the tellers reported as follows:

Alexander	20
Snelling	16
De Gersdorff	13
Houghton	13

and it was thereupon declared that Alexander and Snelling were elected.

The secretary announced that the Gate Committee had received word from the Gate Committee of the Class of '88 that '88 had subscribed the necessary money to build their half of the proposed gate and that therefore as '87 had subscribed the required amount within about one hundred and fifty dollars, the gate would be built.

Adjourned.

JUNE 26th, 1906.

Twenty-five members of the class met at the usual informal dinner at the Athletic Club. The secretary had a letter from Weed from which it appeared that J. W. Dudley was at Barlow's Sanitarium, Los Angeles, California, and in a very critical condition; it was agreed that a telegram of greeting should be sent to him. The secretary accordingly sent the following telegram:—

"Eighty-seven at annual dinner sends greetings and good wishes."

To which he received the following reply:—

"LOS ANGELES, CAL., JUNE 27, 1906.

GEO. P. FURBER,

Class of '87, Harvard College:—

Please accept my great appreciation and thanks for greetings and good wishes of class.

J. W. DUDLEY, M. D."

JANUARY 25, 1907.

Sixty-one members of the class gathered in the large hall of the Harvard Club of New York, the New York men being the hosts. While this was not a class meeting in any strict sense and no business was attempted or desired, the extra-New York men who were so fortunate as to be able to be there, came away with such pleasant recollections of the occasion, that the secretary feels that some record of it should be inserted in this report. Alexander presided. Two or three of the men interested in preparing for the celebration of our twentieth anniversary, outlined the plans under consideration, but "speeches" were not encouraged and the evening was spent in good fellowship and the renewal of old associations. The result was one of the best reunions the class has so far had.

The following were the members present:—

CLASS DINNER OF '87.

Hosts.	Guests.
Alexander, W., 32 Nassau St., N. Y.	Ayer, C. F.
Allen, E. H., 7 Wall Street, N. Y.	Bartol, Dr. J. W.
Barrow, C. E., care University Club, N. Y.	Black, W. H.
Bean, H. W., 11 William St., N. Y.	Blake, Dr. J. B.
Bisbee, E., 40 Wall St., N. Y.	Briggs, R.
Browne, G. M., 44 Pine St., N. Y.	Burgess, T. P.
Buck, H. A., Windsor Arcade, N. Y.	Clark, H. L.
Burbank, W. C., care Brown, Ryans & Williams, 111 Broadway, N. Y.	Cushman, C. A.
Daley, E. V., 76 William St.	Delone, C. J.
De Veau, F. C., 111 Broadway	Dresel, E. J.
Edgar, H. L., 31 Nassau St., N. Y.	Emery, E. S.
Fletcher, Prof. J. B., Columbia University, N. Y.	Flagg, Dr. E.
Gardner, A. A., 21 Park Row, N. Y.	Furber, G. P.
De Gersdorff, C. A., 54 William St., N. Y.	Houghton, Dr. S. A.
Hardy, A. S., 18 Vesey St., N. Y.	Hunt, A. N.
Hicks, Louis, 71 Nassau St., N. Y.	Knapp, J. H.
Huntington, F. C., 54 William St., N. Y.	Knowles, J. W.
Knight, Dr. A. S., 1 Madison Ave., N. Y.	Loud, C. E.
Lockman, Myron A., Huntington, L. I.	Mead, F. S.
Palmer, F. S., Players' Club, N. Y.	Morse, J. L.
Peabody, L. R., 17 State St., N. Y.	Mumford, G. S.
Rantoul, C. W., 41 Park Row, N. Y.	Perkins, H. G.
Remington, F., 35 Nassau St., N. Y.	Rantoul, A. N.
Reynolds, P. R., 70 Fifth Ave., N. Y.	Rich, E. J.

Rhinelander, T. N., 54 William St., N. Y. ..... Robinson, T. J.
Robinson, A. B., 206 Broadway, N. Y. ..... Scott, T. B.
Strong, C. H., 54 William St., N. Y. ..... Shattuck, C. E.
Thayer, A. C., 32 Nassau St., N. Y. ..... Tewksbury, Rev. E. G.
White. S. W., 92 William St., N. Y. ..... Tyler, A. L.
Zinkiesen, Oscar T., Royal Bldg., 135 William St., N. Y. ..... Von Storch, T. C.
..... Woods, J. H.

QUINDECENNIAL.

The Committee appointed to arrange a suitable Commencement Celebration of the fifteenth anniversary of our graduation adopted the following plan:

MONDAY, JUNE 23

Class Dinner, Young's Hotel, seven o'clock.

TUESDAY, JUNE 24

Trip down Boston Harbor, starting at ten-thirty. Lunch served on board the boat.

Afternoon and evening at the Country Club, Brookline. Dinner at seven o'clock. Band Concert.

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 25

A day at Cambridge. Holden Chapel by eleven o'clock.
Group picture at twelve-thirty.
Commencement Dinner at two o'clock.

THURSDAY, JUNE 26

New London, Yale race.
Special cars to New London and on observation train.

Accordingly at 6:30 P. M. on Monday, Room 12 at Young's Hotel began to fill with a jovial crowd of '87 men and promptly at seven o'clock Snelling, the toastmaster of the evening, marshalled one hundred and six of the class to the big dining room on the first floor, where the dinner was spread.

The following is the menu:—

MENU

LITTLE NECK CLAMS

CREAM OF ASPARAGUS CHICKEN CONSOMME, SEVIGNE

CUTLETS OF PENOBSCOT SALMON, CARDINAL
GREEN PEAS CUCUMBERS

SWEETBREADS PUREE SPINACH

BENEDICTINE ICE

NOISETTE OF SPRING LAMB, PERIGUEUX
POMME MIGNON

CHIFFONADE SALAD

DEMI GLACE AUX FRAISES
NESSELRODE BISCUIT

FRUIT CHEESE COFFEE

When the needs of the inner man had been somewhat allayed, Snelling rapped for order and called the attention of the class to the fact that F. S. Coolidge was at that moment seriously ill in the Adirondacks, and it was thereupon voted that we send a telegram to Coolidge expressing our admiration for him and our regret that he is not here, together with our best wishes for his recovery.

The following was sent at once:—

June 23, 1902.

F. S. Coolidge,
Saranac Lake, N. Y.

Eighty-seven sends hearty greetings and good cheer. You are always in it with us.

Geo. P. Furber, Secretary.

Snelling also laid before the class a letter from Brengle giving to the class a handsome loving cup.

The cup which had been figuring as legal documents in the secretary's green bag was thereupon produced and with a proper load of champagne was started on its round of the table.

It was unanimously resolved,

That we send our thanks to Brengle for his precious gift.

The following telegram was prepared and sent at once:—

June 23, 1902.

To Henry G. Brengle,

1811 Walnut St., Philadelphia, Pa.

Eighty-seven sends greetings and thanks. Every man of us drinks your health.

Geo. P. Furber, Secretary.

The following were the speakers of the evening: Furber, Hurlbut, Endicott, W. B. Scofield, Houghton, Flagg, Griswold, Shattuck, Mumford. At the close of Mumford's speech it was agreed to send our good wishes to the crew and accordingly the following was sent:—

June 23, 1902.

To Harold Bullard, Capt. Harvard Crew,

New London, Conn.

Eighty-seven drinks your health and sends best wishes for success on Thursday.

Geo. P. Furber, Secretary.

After some of the old familiar songs, led by Shippen, Rogers, and Faulkner, the class scattered to their various abiding places to meet again in the morning.

Tuesday dawned a perfect day. The Gen. Lincoln had been secured by the committee and with 55 of the class on board and 15 of the Boston Cadet Band on the forward deck, she backed out from her dock at Rowe's wharf promptly at 10:30 A. M.—too promptly for L. C. Jones who had to be left on the capsill of the wharf, a victim to the delays of rapid transit by the elevator system.

The men enjoyed a most delightful sail down the harbor and outside, getting a view of Nahant, Swampscott, Nantasket, Boston Light, Hull, Fort Warren, &c., together with much nautical information from Appleton.

At 2:25 we were again at Rowe's Wharf, where special cars were waiting for us. By these and barges which met us in Brookline we were taken to the entrance of the Country Club grounds. Forming four abreast, headed by our band, the class marched onto the grounds to the club house, where an enthusiastic delegation of '92 welcomed us. After cheers for '86 whom we expected and '92 whom we found, the men scattered to play golf, baseball, what they would. A baseball game was soon arranged with '92, with "the Boston Herald" for umpire. The game will be long remembered for the remarkable decisions of the umpire, the extraordinary fielding of both nines, especially '87's. Where so many were notable, it would be invidious to make distinctions. The nine were: Litchfield, c.; Foster, p.; L. C. Jones, 1b.; A. T. Dudley, 2b.; Loud, 3b.; Houghton, s. s.; Weed, r. f.; Faulkner, c. f.; A. C. Smith, l. f. The score:

Innings	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9
'92	5	1	0	0	2	1	0	8	0	—17
'87	2	1	0	3	2	0	1	3	1	—13

Dinner was served at the Country Club at 7:15 and at its close the men gathered on the piazza to listen to the much overworked band, who in spite of the fact that they had been almost constantly at work since 10:30 in the morning, gave us a most enjoyable concert.

No business was transacted at this dinner except to cheer most enthusiastically Endicott, Rogers, and Mead, to whose efforts the uniform success of the arrangements was due.

Early Wednesday morning the men began to fall into the long line which reached from the ticket window in Massachusetts, well over to University, in order to get tickets for the Commencement Dinner.

It had been the intention to have a class meeting at 11, but as most of the men were in that line of ticket seekers, when that hour arrived, the meeting was postponed. Later while waiting for the photographer, the meeting was held on the grass in the rear of Sever. The appearance of President Roosevelt as he was being driven to President Eliot's, while this meeting was in progress, caused a most unparliamentary desertion of duty by the chairman and in fact by the whole meeting, and made a very pleasant and enthusiastic diversion from which the Gate Fund, the subject under discussion, suffered not a whit.

After the class had been photographed by our old friend, Mr. Tupper, we returned to Holden Chapel, which the committee had secured for a headquarters, through the kind efforts of Hurlbut. Here the class and numerous friends proceeded to do justice to a most excellent spread.

During the forenoon, on the failure of the supply of dinner tickets, it appeared that a crimson badge had been provided for those who would attend the overflow meeting in the Harvard Union. The secretary secured a bunch of these which he distributed amid much good natured confusion, which was undoubtedly much enhanced by the desire of the men to sport the designation "Older Graduates," which was prominent on the badge and had not been applied to '87 at any celebration before. In spite of the fact that there were many applicants for these badges who were disappointed in their quest for dinner tickets, '87 mustered a goodly number for the dinner, showing that we had evidently our share of the tickets reserved for our decade.

On Thursday, a number of men left the South Station at 10:20 A. M. in a special car to see the races at New London.

ADDRESSES.

The Secretary should be notified at once of any change or correction in address. The addresses given are supposed to hold good until the publication of the next report, and do not therefore, in all cases, give the present residence. Where no state is named, the state is Massachusetts. The word "street" is also omitted.

Abbott, Dr. E. S., McLean Hospital, Waverly.
Abbott, S.
Adams, J. C.
Alexander, W., 32 Nassau, New York, N. Y.
Allison, J. E., Nashville, Tenn.
Allen, E. H. Jr., 24 Broad, New York, N. Y.
Allen, W. S., Greenfield.
Ames, Dr. J. L., 70 Chestnut, Boston.
Appleton, W. C., 42 Eliot, Jamaica Plain.
Ashe, G. M., 2315 Sacramento, San Francisco, Cal.
Atwood, W. F., Whitman.
Austin, W., 9 Arlington, Boston, or Yokohama, Japan.
Ayer, C. F., Room 1004, 141 Milk, Boston.
Bacon, E., 23 Cotton Exchange, New York, N. Y.
Bailey, F. H., Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Boston.
Bailey, T. J., Nashville, Tenn.
Baker, Prof. G. P., Jr., 195 Brattle, Cambridge.
Baker, W., care Baker & Hamilton, San Francisco, Cal.
Balcombe, C. S., 13 Rockland, Lynn.
Barber, H. B.
Barrett, N. M., care of Mrs. Edwin Barrett, Concord.
Barrow, C. E., 111 Broadway, New York, or Skaneateles, Onondaga County, N. Y.

Bartol, Dr. J. W., 1 Chestnut, Boston.
Baum, A. R., Pacific Union Club, San Francisco, Cal.
Bean, H. W., 11 William, New York, N. Y.
Bemis, H. H., 7 Congress, Boston.
Berensen, B., care Baring Brothers, London, Eng.
Bigelow, R. P., Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Boston.
Bingham, H. H. C., St. Paul's School, Concord, N. H.
Bisbee, E., 40 Wall, New York, N. Y.
Black, W. H., 243 Water, Pittsburg, Pa.
Blake, Dr. J. B., 178 Beacon, Boston.
Blodgett, E. E., 28 State, Boston.
Borse, C. B.
Bourne, H. C., care Bourne-Fuller Co., Cleveland, O.
Bowen, W. J., 429 New York Blk., Seattle, Wash.
Bowles, D. W.
Boyden, W. L., Beverly.
Brainard, H. W., 88 Kenyon, Hartford, Conn.
Brengle, H. G., 505 Chestnut, Philadelphia, Pa.
Briggs, R., care Richard Briggs Co., Boston.
Bright, E., 309 E. Water, Milwaukee, Wis.
Brodeur, C. A., 8 Mill, Westfield.
Brooks, Dr. W. A., 167 Beacon, Boston.
Brown, J. D., P. O. Box 354, Pittsburg, Pa.
Brown, T. M., P. O. Box 354, Pittsburg, Pa.
Browne, G. M., 44 Pine, New York, N. Y.
Bruce, H. G.
Buck, G. F., 6 Odd Fellows' Bldg., Stockton, Cal.
Buck, H. A., Fifth Ave. & 46th, New York, N. Y.
Buckingham, E., 2101 Third N. E., Washington, D. C.
Buckley, J. G., Geneseo, Livingston Co., N. Y.
Bulkley, E. A., 48 West Fifty-first, New York, N. Y.
Burbank, W. C., 111 Broadway, New York, N. Y.
Burgess, T. P., Dedham.
Cameron, J. M., Harrisburgh, Pa.
Carroll, C., Knickerbocker Club, New York

Cavanagh, L. J., Braintree.
Cheeseborough, R. M., 17 East Forty-fifth, New York, N. Y.
Clark, B. F., 604 Steinway Hall, Chicago, Ill.
Clark, H. L., 160 Bullitt Bldg., Philadelphia, Pa.
Coolidge, Prof. A. C., Harvard University, Cambridge.
Coolidge, Dr. F. S., West St., Pittfield.
Costello, D. T., care Southern Pacific Co., Tucson, Ariz.
Cotter, J. J., 1615 No. Illinois, Indianapolis, Ind.
Cowling, J. V., Jr., 934 The Monadnock, Chicago, Ill.
Craig, Rev. T. C., Wethersfield, Conn.
Cummings, A. M., 21 Pierce, Malden.
Cunningham, G., 84 State, Boston.
Currier, Prof. C. F. A., Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Boston.
Currier, W. L., 294 Chestnut Ave., Jamaica Plain.
Cushman, C. A., 997 Massachusetts Ave., Cambridge.
Daly, E. V., Flushing, Long Island, N. Y.
Davenport, A. D., 45 North, Bridgewater.
Dawson, Hon. T. C., St. Botolph Club, Boston.
Dean, Rev. F. A., Eaton Rapids, Mich.
Delone, C. J., Hanover, York County, Pa.
De Veau, F. C., 7 Nassau, New York, N. Y.
Dexter, G., 50 Congress, Boston.
Dresel, E. L., 328 Beacon, Boston.
Droppers, Prof. G., Chicago University, Chicago, Ill.
Dudley, A. T., Exeter, N. H.
Dudley, Dr. J. W., care A. T. Dudley, Exeter, N. H.
Edgar, H. L. University Club, 1 W. 54th, New York, N. Y.
Eldridge, W. S., 105 Main, Watertown, N. Y.
Elgutter, C. S., Bee Bldg., Omaha, Neb.
Emery, E. S., 103 Bedford, Boston.
Endicott, W. Jr., 165 Beacon, Boston.
Faulkner, Dr. W. E., 5 Otis Pl., Boston.
Fechheimer, S. M., care M. & L. S. Fechheimer & Co., Cincinnati, O.

Fiske, E., Weston.
Flagg, Dr. E., 190 Commonwealth Ave., Boston.
Fletcher, Prof. J. B., 112 E. 22nd, New York, N. Y.
Forchheimer, Dr. W., Fourth and Sycamore, Cincinnati, O.
Foster, C. C., 1702 West End Ave., Nashville, Tenn.
Foster, G. W., 7 Evergreen Ave., Somerville.
Fox, Dr. W. Y., 26 Second, Taunton.
Frederiksen, D. G. M., 172 Washington, Chicago, Ill.
Frost, R. W., 430 Tremont Bldg., Boston.
Fuller, A., 5 City Sq., Taunton.
Furber, G. P., 2 Elm, Concord, Boston.
Ganong, Prof. W. F., Smith College, Northampton.
Gardner, A. A., Roslyn, Long Island, N. Y.
Garnett, E. M., Recorder's Office, University of California, Berkeley, Cal.
Gersdorff, C. A. de, 52 William, New York, N. Y.
Goepp, M.
Goodwin, B. L., 18 Linden, Norwood.
Gray, Prof. J. H., 1827 Orrington Ave., Evanston, Ill.
Gray, W. T., Niagara-on-the-Lake, Ontario, Canada.
Grinstead, W. W., Gautier, Miss.
Griswold, D. P., Lenox.
Gushee, Rev. R. H., Ontario, Cal.
Hale, Rev. H. G., Brookline.
Hall, C. F.
Hall, J. W., Winslow, Wash.
Hamilton, Rev. F. E. E., 66 Mt. Vernon, Boston.
Hardy, A. S., 445 Beacon, Boston, or 18 Vesey, New York, N. Y.
Haskell, A. S., Kennett, Cal.
Henning, S. C., 44 Wall, New York, N. Y.
Herron, W. C., United Bank Bldg., Cincinnati, O.
Hicks, L., 71 Nassau, New York, N. Y.
Higginson, G. Jr., Winnetka, Ill.
Hileman, J. B., Altoona, Pa.
Hoffman, B. B., 203 W. 113th, New York, N. Y.

Holt, H. C., Winchester.
Hoover, Dr. C. F., 282 Prospect, Cleveland, O.
Houghton, Dr. S. A., 14 Pleasant, Brookline.
Howe, M. A. de W., Youth's Companion, Boston.
Howe, W. B., Free Press, Burlington, Vt.
Hubbard, G., 210 Beacon, Boston.
Hudson, C., Borden Blk., Chicago, Ill.
Hughes, F. E., "Charlesfort" Ferns, Co. Wexford, Ireland.
Hunt, A. N., 84 State, Boston.
Hunt, T., 82 Devonshire, Boston.
Huntington, F. C., 54 William, New York, N. Y.
Hurlbut, B. S., 32 Quincy, Cambridge.
Hyde, L. F., 528 Tremont Bldg., Boston.
Jackson, Dr. J. M., 230 Beacon, Boston.
Johnson, L. A., care Luce & Manning, 283 Summer, Boston.
Johnson, L. J., 90 Raymond, Cambridge.
Jones, F. R., 84 State, Boston.
Jones, L. C., 56 Summer, Malden.
Kaminski, E., 476 Broome, New York, N. Y.
Kavanagh, Prof. F. E., New York University, New York, N. Y.
Keays, H. G., Elkhart, Logan County, Ill.
Keyes, H. W., North Haverhill, N. H.
Kimball, G. W., 120 Milk, Boston.
Knapp, Rev. G. P., Harpoot, Turkey, open mail via London and Constantinople, or care A. B. C. F. M., 14 Beacon, Boston.
Knapp, J. H., 50 Congress, Boston, or Menominee, Wis.
Knight, Dr. A. S., 1 Madison Ave., New York, N. Y.
Knowles, J. W., 10 Orchard, New Bedford.
Ladd, G. E., Rolla, Mo.
Litchfield, E. S., 108 Water, Boston.
Livermore, H. J., 110 State, Boston.
Lochman, M. A., Harvard Club, 27 W. 44th, New York, N. Y.
Lothrop, Dr. H. A., 101 Beacon, Boston.
Lothrop, J. H., Terminal Bldg., Spokane, Wash.
Loud, C. E., 2 Kilby, Boston.

Luria, A. S., 191 Broadway, New York, N. Y.
Manley, E. L., 5801 Lexington Ave., Chicago, Ill.
Marvin, F. H., Amherst.
Mead, F. S., Fisher Ave., Brookline.
Michael, F., Kohl Bldg., San Francisco, Cal.
Mitchell, M. D., Metropolitan Club, Washington, D. C.
Morrison, G. A. Jr., 43 Cedar, New York, N. Y.
Morse, Dr. J. L., 70 Bay State Road, Boston.
Mumford, G. S., Chestnut Hill.
Nagle, W. H.
Nay, F. N., 9 Maple, Roxbury.
Nicolson, Prof. F. W., 174 High, Middletown, Conn.
Nutting, Rev. W., Southbury, Conn.
Oakes, W., Seattle, Wash.
Oakman, O. B., South Braintree.
Oglesby, R. J., Chanute, Kan.
Ordway, E. W., 1093 Dean, Brooklyn, N. Y.
Osgood, Dr. A. H., 240 Humbolt Ave., Roxbury.
Osgood, Rev. R. T., Hadlyme, Conn.
Palmer, E. C., 435 Camp, New Orleans, La.
Palmer, F. S., The Players' Club, New York, N. Y.
Parker, G. H., 16 Berkeley, Cambridge.
Parmenter, F. C., 46 Summer, Gloucester.
Pastorius, C. S., P. O. Box 428, Colorado Springs, Col.
Peabody, Rev. H. E., 294 Windsor Ave., Hartford, Conn.
Peabody, L. R., 17 State, New York, N. Y.
Pear, W. H., 23 Francis Ave., Cambridge.
Penrose, F. B.
Perkins, A. T., 200 City Hall, St. Louis, Mo.
Perkins, H. G., Old South Bldg., Boston.
Peterson, S. C., 165 Princeton, East Boston.
Pinkham, W. S., Wollaston, or 954 Old South Bldg., Boston.
Poey, A. A., 4 Mercederes, Havana, Cuba.
Pond, W. S.
Poppleton, W. S., First Nat. Bank Bldg., Omaha, Neb.

Potter, A. B., P. O. Box 2852, Boston.
Power, M. S., 66 Welles Ave., Centre Dorchester.
Preston, W., P. O. Box 5113, Boston.
Proctor, C. S., 187 Hovey, Lowell.
Proctor, Dr. F. I., 397 Marlborough, Boston.
Putnam, G. J., 70 State, Boston.
Rantoul, A. N., 50 Congress, Boston.
Rantoul, C. W., Jr., University Club, New York, N. Y.
Remington, F., 35 Nassau, New York, N. Y.
Reynolds, P. R., 70 Fifth Ave., New York, N. Y.
Rhinelander, T. N., 54 William, New York, N. Y.
Rice, F. B., Quincy.
Rich, E. J., 1002 Pemberton Bldg., Boston.
Richardson, L.
Riddle, J. W., care State Dept., Washington, D. C.
Robbins, R., 373 Washington, Boston.
Robinson, A. B., 206 Broadway, New York, N. Y.
Robinson, Dr. B. L., 3 Clement Circle, Cambridge.
Robinson, Prof. J. H., Columbia University, New York, N. Y.
Robinson, Dr. T. J., 66 Broadway, Taunton.
Rogers, E. H., 19 Exchange Pl., Boston.
Russell, J. S., 31 State, Boston.
Rust, P. S., 23 Whittemore, W. Roxbury.
Saulsbury, W., Dover, Del.
Scofield, H., Tribune Bldg., Chicago, Ill.
Scofield, W. B., Worcester Club, Worcester.
Scott, T. B., Nat. Bank of Commerce Bldg., Norfolk, Va.
Seeley, G. M., University Club, New York, N. Y.
Sellers, F. H., 10 Astor, Chicago, Ill.
Shattuck, C. E., 19 Congress, Boston.
Sherman, F. D., Columbia University, New York, N. Y.
Shippen, Rev. E. R., 60 Virginia, Dorchester.
Smith, A. C., 1101 Howard, Omaha, Neb.
Smith, C. G., 2343 Washington, Roxbury.
Smith, H. E., 1108 Spruce, Philadelphia, Pa.

Smith, W. K., Jr., 351 Third, Portland, Oregon.
Southworth, Rev. F. C., Meadville, Pa.
Spalding, E. S.
Spalding, W. R., Berkeley Pl., Cambridge.
Stanton, S. B., University Club, New York, N. Y.
Stanyan, F. H., Globe Office, 244 Washington, Boston.
Stedman, L. B., Seattle, Wash.
Stekne, Dr. A. E., 1820 E. Tenth, Indianapolis, Ind.
Stevens, H. W.
Stewart, E. B., care Rev. Samuel B. Stewart, Ballston Spa, N. Y.
Storrow, S., care of James J. Storrow, Lincoln.
Stowell, F. C., 178 Devonshire, Boston.
Strong, C. H., 1125 Madison Ave., New York, N. Y.
Sumner, Prof. J. O., Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Boston.
Talbot, Dr. W. T., Holderness, N. H.
Tewksbury, E. G., care Spaulding & Tewksbury, Atlantic Ave., Boston; North China College, Pekin, China.
Thaxter, E. B.
Thayer, A. C., 32 Nassau, New York, N. Y.
Thayer, H. A.
Thompson, C. S., 83 Michigan, Milwaukee, Wis.
Thomson, E. A., 298 Madison Ave., New York, N. Y.
Tilden, F. M., 1301 Wabash Ave., Chicago, Ill.
Tilton, B., 7 Congress, Boston.
Truslow, R., 62 Montague, Brooklyn, N. Y.
Tuthill, J. B. T., E. William, San José, Cal.
Tuttle, Dr. G. H., 57 Otis, East Cambridge.
Tyler, A. L., Anniston, Ala.
Varick, T. R., Manchester, N. H.
Vogel, Prof. F., Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Boston.
Von Storch, T. C., 1609 North Main Ave., Scranton, Pa.
Walker, F. L., Beverly.
Walker, J. E., 435 E. Jefferson, Media, Penn.
Webster, Rev. E. C., Congregational House, 14 Beacon, Boston.

Weed, A. R., 113 Devonshire, Boston.
Wetherbee, W., P. O. Box 3493, Boston.
Wheelwright, A. W., 70 Franklin, Boston.
White, S. W., 92 William, New York, N. Y.
Whitelaw, G. G., care of Scudder-Gale Grocer Co., St. Louis, Mo.
Whitney, B., 8 Bosworth, Boston.
Whittle, C. L., 50 Congress, Boston.
Wiestling, F. B., 421 Boston Block, Seattle, Wash.
Willard, W. W., Corning, N. Y.
Wilson, C., 350 Wilcox Bldg., Los Angeles, Cal.
Wood, H. J., 707 Chamber of Commerce, Boston.
Woods, J. H., 2 Chestnut, Boston.
Zerega, R. A., Harvard Club, 27 W. 44th, New York, N. Y.
Zinkeisen, O. T., 135 William, New York, N. Y.